BITING THE DUST

The wrecker's ball has begun demolition of the courthouse annex which survived the fire of May 25, 1971, that destroyed the century-old Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael. The three-story annex, completed in 1958, cost $512,000. A concrete and steel structure that is no pushover for the wrecker, it drew widespread complaint that it ill matched the high-stooped and collonaded main courthouse building. The annex follows courthouse and old trees to oblivion to make way for an eight-story office building and parking garage for 264 cars. The $6 million project by McKeon Development of Sacramento is scheduled for completion next April.

Pentagon Defends Bombing Cambodia

Major Tells Probers Of False Data

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department acknowledged today that B52 strikes were made in Cambodia prior to 1970 despite public assertions at the time of U.S. respect for the neutrality of Cambodia.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, in a letter to the Senate Armed Services Committee, said raids "had been conducted for some period of time and were fully authorized" before the United States publicly announced attacks in May 1970 into so-called sanctuaries areas of Cambodia near the South Vietnamese border.

"At this period of time, you will remember over one half million men were stationed in South Vietnam," Schlesinger said. "Because of the sensitive operational and diplomatic situation, special security precautions were taken to ensure that the operations would not be compromised."

The secret bombing of Cambodia was first revealed in 1969 in a New York Times story by William Beecher, who recently joined the Pentagon as deputy defense secretary for public affairs.

Other administration officials said the bombing was carried out in secrecy because Prince Norodom Sihanouk, then in charge in Cambodia, but later deposed, did not want the raids publicized.

"He was playing both sides," one official said. "He was letting the Communists bring supplies in through his port of Sihanoukville and he was letting us bomb the border areas, which he didn't control anyway."

Military officials had long complained about sanctuaries just inside Cambodia which Viet Cong forces used for attacks on South Vietnam, including raids close to Saigon.

Pentagon officials said the B52 raids were requested by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, then U. S. commander in Vietnam and now the Army's chief of staff.

Schlesinger sent the letter to the Senate panel as former Air Force Maj. Hal M. Knight testified under oath that he falsified records of B52 strikes in early 1970.

He said he acted under orders from superiors that he burn all documents, computer tapes and other materials that would expose the strikes in Cambodia.

Knight was asked if he ever questioned the procedure. "I asked who authorized this procedure," he replied. "I was told not to ask."

He said there always was a cover target with "a strike order in Vietnam" to account for the actual mission in Cambodia.

The Air Force chief of staff Gen. George S. Brown, in another letter to chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said it was not correct to characterize as falsification the security precautions pertaining to the raids.

"So long as the reports met in every detail the requirements imposed, they were not intend-

WATERGATE DEFENSE FUNDS

'No. 2 And No. 3' Gave Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, President's Nixon's personal lawyer until May 1, said today he raised money for the support of the seven original Watergate defendants on the instructions of "The No. 2 and No. 3 men on the White House staff."

Kalmbach did not identify the men but it was clear his reference was to John D. Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, Nixon's two closest aides until they resigned April 30 as the Watergate scandal deepened.

Kalmbach made the statement in written testimony prepared for delivery at the Senafe Watergate hearings. Kalmbach denied any personal wrongdoing.

"My actions in the period immediately following the break-in which involved the raising of funds to provide for the legal defense of the Watergate defendants and for the support of their families were prompted in the belief that it was proper and necessary to discharge what I assumed to be a moral obligation that has arisen in some manner unknown to me by reason of earlier events," he said.

"The fact that I had been directed to undertake these actions by the No. 2 and No. 3 men on the White House staff made it absolutely incomprehensible to me that my actions in this regard could have been regarded in any way as improper or unethical."

The committee recessed for lunch before calling Kalmbach to testify. It was disclosed that Sens. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., and Howard Baker, R-Tenn., the chairman and vice chairman of the committee, would meet with an unidentified person during the lunch break.

Sam Dash, the chief committee counsel, declined to say who they would meet with, but disclosed it was not President Nixon.

Kalmbach was fired by Nixon on May 1 after it was disclosed that he had paid between $30,000 and $40,000 to Donald Segretti, the "dirty tricks" lawyer accused of attempting to sabotage Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's 1972 campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kalmbach, 51, of Newport Beach, Calif., is believed to be a key witness in the Senate committee's attempt to determine who ordered the wiretapping of the Democratic headquarters of the Watergate and how much the President knew of the cover-up effort to conceal high White House involvement after the bugging plan went awry.

In his prepared statement, Kalmbach denied "any prior knowledge of the Watergate break-in or participation in the formulization of any planned conspiracy to cover-up that incident or acts of campaign sabotage or unethical activity."

He said he was testifying without seeking immunity from prosecution because he simply wants to tell the truth.

"It is not my purpose to testify for or against any individual," he said.

Sen. Ervin opened today's session of the Watergate hearings by quoting Richard Nixon to back his claim that Senate probe of the scandal is "crucial to the welfare of the nation."

Last week, Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., a conservative Nixon loyalist, called for suspending the hearings on grounds they were doing great damage and no good. He called them an effort to "get" President Nixon.

After Ervin's lecture, Richard A. Moore, special counsel to the President, resumed testifying for a third day. He maintained he had no knowledge prior to March 21, 1973 of a Watergate cover-up conceived and carried out by White House aides.

"If I had been (aware) I wouldn't have been so anxious to have John Dean go in and tell the President all he knew," Moore said.

Voiceprints Not Unique, Judge Told

By LARRY MOWELL

The defense's first expert witness in the trial of a former telephone installer charged with making an anonymous bomb threat to the Pacific Telephone Co. office in San Rafael testified today that the comparison of the reliability of voiceprints with fingerprints is not valid.

Michael H.L. Hecker, a doctoral candidate in speech science working at Stanford Research Institute, said a person's fingerprint is formed before birth and never changes, but "a person's vocal apparatus is not constant" because it changes with age.

Hecker, who was to testify further this afternoon, was called on behalf of 28-year-old Stephen C. Chapter of San Anselmo to contest the prosecution claim that voiceprint identification is accepted as reliable by scientists.

Since the only evidence linking Chapter to the call Feb. 1, 1972, is a voiceprint identification, the finding of Judge E.

Nixon Gains, To Keep Top Diplomatic Dates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon continued to show improvement today in his battle with viral pneumonia, his doctors said.

"He is progrsssing satisfactorily," reported Dr. Sol Katz, pulmonary specialist from Georgetown University School of Medicine, one of the team of doctors treating the President at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon's progress is such that he will be able to meet as scheduled with three state visitors in the next two weeks —the Shah of Iran on July 24, Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam on July 30 and Japanese Prime Minister Takuei Tanaka July 31-Aug. 1.

Nixon's spirits were described as "just fine" and Katz predicted he may be able to leave the hospital by Thursday or Friday.

"He's vivacious, loquacious — an excellent patient," said Katz.

Nixon's doctors said they were having a tough time convincing him he had to slow down and curtail his schedule. His work load is said to be only about a quarter of normal because of the illness.

Nixon awoke at 8 a. m. after a good night's sleep, Dr. Walter Tkach said. The President was given four chest therapy treatments yesterday.

The treatment resulted in "considerable improvement in his chest congestion and chest discomfort is now at a minimum," Tkach said in his morning medical bulletin.

The therapy did cause the President to experience some fatigue to the point where he was given mild pain killers for relief, Tkach said.

In general, Nixon had a good day yesterday. He had a hearty dinner of seafood, served about 6:15 p. m.

The President retired after his last chest therapy about 9 p.m. and slept soundly throughout most of the night, Tkach said. This sharply contrasted with his first night at the hospital Thursday when he had a fitful four hours sleep.

Tkach said yesterday there is no question that Nixon has viral pneumonia, as opposed to more serious bacterial type, and said the President is at about the halfway point of his recovery.

The President is expected to remain at Bethesda Naval Hospital until late this week. Tkach would prefer he spent even more time there or at least go to one of his retreats — San

Appeals Court Blocks Bedayan Trial Merger

A three-judge state court of appeals today overturned a ruling by a Marin Superior court judge that two phases of the murder trial of Brent W. Bedayan be combined as one.

The ruling, announced by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, means that the guilt-or-innocence phase of Bedayan's trial — due to start later this week after jury selection — must be held before the sanity phase.

Frank J. Cox, a deputy public defender, had asked Superior Judge Henry J. Broderick to combine the two portions because the attorney is not denying that Bedayan killed the three members of the Melvin J. Schallock family March 16.

Judge Broderick granted Cox's motion Friday and Bales promptly appealed.

Bales said today the three-judge panel in San Francisco stayed Broderick's ruling until a hearing can be held, but said he didn't know when that will be.

If the trial is separated into the two phases, Cox said today, "it will be for no good reason" because he's already said Bedayan killed the three.

The guilt or innocence phase, which determines whether a defendant committed the act he's accused of, and the sanity phase, which deals with his state of mind at the time, are held separately under state law. Broderick's ruling was only the second known case of combining the two. It was not known today if the court of appeals's ruling would affect another murder trial, this one in Santa Cruz County, in which the two parts were combined.

Jury selection will resume tomorrow in the Bedayan trial.

Mitchell In New Try For Dismissal

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell requested dismissal today of his perjury and conspiracy indictment on grounds the Watergate hearings would make it impossible for him to receive a fair trial.

If his motion for dismissal fails, Mitchell asked that he then be tried in another federal district and that the trial, now scheduled for Sept. 11, be delayed indefinitely.

It was the second motion for dismissal filed by Mitchell in a week. On July 9, the eve of his appearance before the Senate committee investigating Watergate, he sought dismissal on the grounds of improprieties by federal prosecutors before the grand jury.

In motions filed today with Manhattan Federal Judge Lee Gagliardi, Mitchell's lawyer, Peter Fleming, said, "Mitchell cannot be tried except by jurors who have not been exposed to the publicity which the government itself has created."

Mitchell spent most of last week appearing before Senate committee.

In his earlier motion, Mitchell moved for a dismissal of the indictment on grounds federal prosecutors questioned him about Watergate before the grand jury which was investigating financier Robert Vesco on another matter.

Town Council Will Consider Open Space Plan

The Corte Madera Town Council will continue consideration of an open space element in its updated general plan when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in City Hall.

Much of the town's undeveloped land is designated for recreational use and open space in the proposal. Councilmen continued the public hearing for two weeks at its July 2 meeting so that more copies of the plan element and its accompanying map could be available.

The council will also sit as the town's redevelopment agency and as Sanitary District No. 2 of Marin County to consider adopting 1973-74 budgets for the two units.

I-J TO CARRY RACE RESULTS

As part of its expanded coverage of sports events in Southern Sonoma, the Independent-Journal will carry for the first time the results of horse racing at the Sonoma County Fair in Santa Rosa.

The meeting was to begin today and run daily through Saturday, July 28, except for next Sunday. There were to be two quarterhorse races, one Appaloosa race and nine thoroughbred races on the 12-race daily schedule.

ATOM ANNIVERSARY

Trinity Site Is Dusty, Forlorn

TRINITY SITE, N.M. (UPI) — The 28th anniversary of the detonation of the first atomic bomb—an event which scientists said would "change the whole course of human history" — passes almost unnoticed today.

Trinity Site, located deep in the southern New Mexico desert near Alamogordo, holds little evidence of the July 16, 1945, event that sent the world into the nuclear age.

Bunkers and buildings built for the test of the atomic bomb have crumbled into the desert. Ground Zero is now only a shallow depression in the desert floor.

Tiny pieces of "Trinitite," sand melted into a greenish-colored glass by the explosion's heat, still can be found around the area.

Surrounding a stone monument at the point the bomb impacted is a fence that holds a weathered sign reading simply: "Trinity Site."

On the monument is a plaque that reads:

"Trinity Site, where the world's first nuclear device was exploded on July 16, 1945."

The bomb was exploded from a 100-foot tower at 5:30 a.m. and, at the moment of detonation, a light brighter than the midday sun covered the surrounding mountains.

Then came the shock wave that rippled the earth 30 miles away. It was followed by a deafening roar. The blast was seen hundreds of miles away.

Three weeks later, on Aug. 6, the second atom bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. Three days after that the third fell on Nagasaki.

Man's destiny had been set on a new course.

Dr. John Manley, then associate director of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, recalled the project. "We knew what we were working on," he said. "We knew the bomb was going to change the whole course of human history.

"The intensity of the flash was enormous. It is something you don't forget."

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, who headed the project and died in 1967, said that at the moment of detonation he remembered an ancient Hindu quotation: "I am become death, the destroyer of worlds."

Test Director Kenneth Bainbridge told Oppenheimer: "Now we're all sons of bitches."

Phnom Penh Surrounded By Battles

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. warplanes struck within seven miles of Phnom Penh today in the closest such raids since April, supporting government forces in efforts to repulse a Communist attack just south of the capital.

Fighting was reported on nearly all sides of Phnom Penh.

Field reports and military sources said fighting raged west, southwest and northwest of the capital. "The situation is very grave," said one highranking officer, Gen. Un kau.

The bombing to the south of Takhmau, a suburb four miles outside of Phnom Penh, was clearly audible in the capital and lasted most of last night. It marked the 130th consecutive day of intensified U.S. bombing.

Despite the heavy American air support by F4 and F111 fighter-bombers, field reports said three government battalions fled their positions and swam across the Bassac River.

The Cambodian high command said fighting also continued sporadically northeast of the capital along Highway 7 and southeast along Highway 1.

Field reports said heavy fighting raged 10 miles southwest of Phnom Penh along Highway 3.

Two convoys, one consisting of 270 trucks and 177 trailers from the seaport of Kompong Som and the other consisting of 203 trucks and 53 trailers loaded with rice from Battambang, arrived in the capital last night.

The Cambodian high command said the convoys arrived without incident.

Unveiling Of Phase IV This Week?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Within a matter of days, American consumers and businessmen will be governed by a new set of economic rules: Phase IV of President Nixon's economic game-plan.

Barring some unexpected complication, such as a worsening of the President's illness, the latest attempt to stabilize the nation's explosive economy will be announced sometime this week.

White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon approved some parts of the program from his hospital bed Saturday and will make more decisions today.

The actual announcement probably will be made by Nixon's top economic advisers: Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, Cost of Livng Council (COLC) Director John T. Dunlop and Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

The President's action will come on the heels of a price freeze that has been in effect since June 13.

The freeze barred firms from hiking prices above the level they were charging on June 13, no matter how much their costs have increased in the meantime. In Phase IV, however, prices will be allowed to rise by an amount yet undetermined.

Companies might be allowed to pass through their cost increases, or a fraction of that amount, in the form of higher prices. Or the administration could set a flat guideline, such as the 2.5 per cent that existed during 1972 under Phase II.

Wages, not covered under the current freeze, also will be restricted during Phase IV, probably to the 6.2 per cent wage and fringe benefit annual increase allowed during Phase II.

The exact shape of Phase IV is still a mystery. But Nixon indicated its principal goals and framework when he announced the price freeze.

The new program will be generally tougher than Phase III, which relied on corporate good will to keep price increases within a set of voluntary guidelines. Nixon said the food and oil industry will be singled out for special treatment since the cost of groceries and gasoline has provided most of the push in the latest round of inflation.

Big companies will be required to clear price increases in advance with the COLC. And stabilization officials have indicated they will be strict on allowing firms to boost prices to reflect higher costs.

One of the biggest problems for the Nixon economic strategists is whether to make the rules simple or complex.

Arnold R. Weber, the first COLC director, has argued that a set of easy-to-understand rules, highly publicized, is the best way to win popular support for the controls.

Singer Faces Charge In Triple Slayings

MIAMI (UPI) — Detectives said they would seek three murder warrants today against opera singer Salwa Merrige-Abrams on charges of killing her ex-husband and two children.

Mrs. Merrige-Abrams took a handfull of pills after the Saturday murders, police said, and was rushed to the hospital in serious condition. Doctors said her condition was "stable" yesterday.

The slayings were discovered Saturday afternoon just one day after Mrs. Merrige-Abrams ended 19 years of marriage by picking up the final circuit court papers.

Miss Phyllis Arick, a singer and Mrs. Merrige-Abrams' closest friend, said she visited the soprano's home Friday just after the divorce papers were signed and "everything seemed fine."

But Miss Arick said, "She seemed upset, sure, but anybody who goes through anything like that would be upset. I just don't understand it, I really don't."

A sheriff's deputy, after receiving a call from a friend who said Mrs. Merrige-Abrams "sounded strange" on the phone, found the performer unconscious on the dining room floor. A note was left, but police would not reveal its contents.

Found shot to death in his bedroom was Jack Abrams, 14. Mrs. Abrams' husband, airline pilot James Abrams, 45, was found in another room. Their 10-year-old daughter Melisa Ann Abrams was found dead on the living room floor.

The couple had been separated for about a year, with Abrams stopping by Saturday to take the children on an outing.

Mrs. Merrige-Abrams was featured with many national companies and performed in the south Florida area for almost 10 years. She sang mainly with the Miami Beach Symphony, the Miami Opera Guild, and the Civic Opera of the Palm Beaches.

SALWA MERRIGE-ABRAMS
Divorce, death

She gave up numerous opportunities for an international career.

Bernard Breeskin, conductor of the Miami Beach Symphony, called her "one of the best mezzo sopranos in the country.

"I tried to encourage her to join larger opera companies, but she wanted to stay down here and raise her family."

Italian Architect Dies On Yacht Trip

ROME (UPI) — Italian architect Luigi Moretti, who worked on such developments as the Watergate residential center in Washington and the Olympic Village in Rome, died Saturday, his family said today.

Moretti, 66, died aboard a yacht of a heart attack while sailing with some friends on vacation in the Tyrrhenian Sea Saturday morning. The news of his death was announced only after the yacht returned to shore.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Appeal To Russia

Dr. William A. Wexler, of Savannah, Ga., chairman of the two-day conference, said Soviet Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev has hailed "a new spirit in the relations between East and West."

"Mr. Brezhnev has an opportunity to demonstrate the strength of his commitment to that new spirit by ending the arbitrary and capricious denial of visas to the vast majority of Jews who apply for exit visas," Wexler said.

If there is to be a genuine peace, he said, there must be a freer flow of people and ideas between the United States and Russia.

A Calm Weekend

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland passed its quietest weekend in months with only one incident reported—a bombing that wrecked a Belfast bar and slightly wounded four persons.

Authorities said there were no shootings reported Saturday or yesterday.

There was no explanation for the slackening of violence among Roman Catholics, Protestants and security forces.

Liner Refloated

LONDON (UPI) — The British cruise liner Canberra was refloated yesterday off Grenada, where it had been stuck on a sandbank since Thursday.

A spokesman for P and O Lines said the 43,975 ton ship was not damaged and would sail later today.

The ship, carrying more than 1,500 passengers, will go to Barbados and St. Thomas, but will skip a scheduled stop at Martinique because of the delay.

The liner is due in New York on Friday—two days late, the spokesman said.

Skylab Countdown

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The countdown rolled along smoothly today toward the July 28 launch of three more Skylab space explorers who plan to man the orbiting station for a record 56 days.

The count was kicked off on schedule yesterday, 12 days before astronauts Alan L. Bean, Jack R. Lousma and Owen K. Garriott plan to ride an Apollo command module up to the lab for another scientific research journey.

The first hurdle in the countdown is a practice launch Friday.

A Trade Boost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture department officials believe China's purchase of $500,000 worth of American tobacco "may represent a breakthrough" in reviving the once-substantial U.S. tobacco trade with China.

The department's Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) said in a report yesterday, however, that sale of large quantities of U.S. tobacco to China probably would require a decision "to upgrade the quality of cigarettes consumed (in China), and a priority allocation of foreign exchange for tobacco."

The FAS said China probably could be expected to require the United States to "take equal or larger quantities of Chinese tobacco in trade."

Cole's Daughter Is 8th In Competition

ATHENS (UPI) — Natalie Cole, 23-year-old daughter of the late singer Nat King Cole, finished eighth yesterday among contestants from 47 countries in the sixth annual Olympiad of song.

"It was a good start," said Miss Cole, who also wrote the lyrics of her song, "Tell Me to My Face."

ATOM ANNIVERSARY

Trinity Site Is Dusty, Forlorn

TRINITY SITE, N.M. (UPI) — The 28th anniversary of the detonation of the first atomic bomb—an event which scientists said would "change the whole course of human history" — passes almost unnoticed today.

Trinity Site, located deep in the southern New Mexico desert near Alamogordo, holds little evidence of the July 16, 1945, event that sent the world into the nuclear age.

Bunkers and buildings built for the test of the atomic bomb have crumbled into the desert. Ground Zero is now only a shallow depression in the desert floor.

Tiny pieces of "Trinitite," sand melted into a greenish-colored glass by the explosion's heat, still can be found around the area.

Surrounding a stone monument at the point the bomb impacted is a fence that holds a weathered sign reading simply: "Trinity Site."

On the monument is a plaque that reads:

"Trinity Site, where the world's first nuclear device was exploded on July 16, 1945."

The bomb was exploded from a 100-foot tower at 5:30 a.m. and, at the moment of detonation, a light brighter than the midday sun covered the surrounding mountains.

Then came the shock wave that rippled the earth 30 miles away. It was followed by a deafening roar. The blast was seen hundreds of miles away.

Three weeks later, on Aug. 6, the second atom bomb was dropped on Hiroshima. Three days after that the third fell on Nagasaki.

Man's destiny had been set on a new course.

Dr. John Manley, then associate director of the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, recalled the project. "We knew what we were working on," he said. "We knew the bomb was going to change the whole course of human history.

"The intensity of the flash was enormous. It is something you don't forget."

BOMBING

ed to deceive those with a security 'need to know'," Brown said.

"The reasons why special security precautions were directed was not a reporting issue so long as a responsible higher authority knew in fact what was done and judged it to be in accord with instructions."

Knight said 40 to 44 raids were conducted in Cambodia in early 1970 and that he doctored reports to make it appear they took place in South Vietnam.

Knight said that after a raid he was instructed "to take all the paperwork and when daylight came to go out and burn it."

He said the raids in Cambodia were all conducted near the South Vietnamese border.

Knight said he decided to write Proxmire about the alleged falsified reports after reading about Air Force Gen. John Lavelle's dismissal as the commander of the 7th Air Force because of unauthorized raids in South Vietnam in late 1971 and early 1972.

In calling for Senate hearings, Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said he wanted to find out "who gave the orders for the bombing and why the public wasn't told about them."

Hughes said he requested and received from the Defense Department earlier this year a computer analysis of all B52 raids in Cambodia. He said it showed no raids until May, 1970, although Knight has said he understood they started in early 1968 but were not publicly reported.

Board May Drop School Tax Election

The Novato Unified School District Board will consider cancellation of its special tax election when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato High School lecture hall.

At its last meeting, the board voted to hold an election July 31 to increase the tax rate by as much as $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation or one year. However, Governor Reagan has since signed assembly bill 1267 which will give the district an additional $550,000 making the special tax unecessary.

The trustees will also consider approval of its publication budget for fiscal 1973-74.

The board will hold a closed meeting to instruct its representatives on salary negotiations.

Prize-Winning Newsman Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Relman (Pat) Morin, who twice won the Pulitzer Prize for the Associated Press, was found dead in his Manhattan apartment today. He was 65.

Morin, who retired from the AP last year, had been ill for some time. The cause of his death was not immediately determined.

Morin won the Pulitzer for his reporting on the Korean War in 1951 and on the school integration at Little Rock, Ark., in 1958.

ABAG Unit To Meet Tonight

The coordinating committee of the Regional Citizens Forum, a group formed recently to advise the Association of Bay Area Governments, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the supervisors chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The session will be the committee's first in the county. The agenda includes discussion of pending state legislation to give ABAG power to enforce its regional plan.

Meeting Tonight On Flood Plain Zoning

A joint meeting between Marin and Sonoma county supervisors will be held July 30 and not tonight as erroneously reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

The meeting, to be held at the Sonoma County administration building in Santa Rosa, was set up to discuss flood plain zoning along San Antonio Creek and the Petaluma River.

Datsun Stolen

A 1973 gold Datsun, license number 457 HLF, was taken Friday from Annex Motors, 535 Francisco Boulevard, police said today.

Health Chief Says Rabies Toll 'Worst'

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Dr. Mary Clark of the Santa Clara County Health Department said today the county was in the midst of the "worst wild rabies epidemic in the county's history."

"Before canine rabies were brought under control years ago there were worse rabies epidemics, but this is the worst wild animal epidemic the county has had," she said.

The announcement came after two boys found a rabid bat near Los Gatos Golf Course during the weekend, and after two incidents of horses dying of the disease in Marin County.

(Marin County Health Department officials report 14 cases of animal rabies this year, including the case of the two horses from the Mar-Ghi ranch in Nicasio.)

(The other 11 cases come from wild animals, mostly skunks and bats. Marin has not encountered a rabid dog since 1920, a health department spokesman said.)

Five persons fear for their lives because of contact with the horses.

There have been 26 rabid bats and five rabid skunk cases confirmed in Santa Clara County this year, Dr. Clark said.

Brian, 12, and Eddy Hannan, 10, found the latest rabid bat while collecting golf balls. It swooped down at them as they walked along a creek near the course.

Neither boy was bitten.

"The boys were lucky enough to find an old blanket nearby," their mother, Mrs. Dec Hannan said. "They threw it over the bat and Brian came home to have me call an animal control officer."

Dr. Clark stressed that the increased incidence of rabies is not a reason to cancel outings. But she warned picnickers to be careful of wild animals and stray pets and to have their own animals vaccinated.

One Critical After Crash On Highway

Two Marin residents have been injured, one critically, in an auto accident southbound on Highway 101 south of Petaluma.

Cynthia Schunk, 25, of 904 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was reported in critical condition today at Community Hospital in Santa Rosa with multiple injuries received in the crash.

Buck James Smith, 34, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 209, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma with head injuries and multiple cuts and abrasions.

The California Highway Patrold had no details of the accident, which occurred shortly before midnight Friday.

Reed Schools May Get Budget

Trustees of the Reed Union School District may adopt tomorrow night a publication budget of $3,192,804 for next year.

The budget is $20,286 higher than this year's estimated spending.

The tax rate required by the budget has not yet been decided. Last year's rate is $3.605 per $100 assessed valuation.

District Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said he might suggest adding several items to the budget tomorrow including $5,000 for a pilot reading evaluation program at Granada School.

The trustees meet at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

Larkspur Woman Reports Attack

A 22-year-old Larkspur woman was raped Friday at 6:30 p.m. on Cronkhite Beach while returning to her parked car, a spokesman for the Presidio of San Francisco reported today.

She said that her attacker, who grabbed her from behind, was a black, 27 to 28 years old, over 6 feet tall, weighing about 190 pounds, and wearing a green shirt and a green belt with green buckle.

Talk Scheduled

Dr. Lyle M. Nelson, chairman of the communications department at Stanford University, will speak on the topic "It All Began with Communications," at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Pennafort Hall at Dominican College.

Warren McGuire on that claim is critical.

Hecker said scientists have doubted the voiceprint identification method because of "intra-speaker variability," a difference in voice every time a person speaks.

Hecker said, that although there is "some uniqueness" in each voice, there is the possibility of overlap with patterns made by another person's voice. That possibility meant, at least until 1969, that the scientific community was divided over the use of voiceprints in criminal cases, he said.

The doubting scientists were not rejecting the method, but were concerned that it was a relatively untested method with a serious problem to overcome.

"Speech scientists and phoneticians have known for some time that the speech of a particular person is not unique," he said.

The scientist said studies showed that two speakers could produce voice patterns sufficiently similar on one word to confuse an examiner, but he said such similarity is far less likely for longer utterances.

Chapter was charged with the anonymous threat last September after a police expert in Michigan said his voice was definitely the same as the one on the threat tape.

Lt. Ernest W. Nash of the Michigan State Police testified last week that he was sure it was Chapter after comparing his voice and those of 17 other telephone installers to the tape of the threat.

The bomb threat was received on a phone line used by installers to call in work orders.

Guilt Admitted On Check Charge

A Los Angeles man has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to passing a forged check stolen from the office of his employer.

A second charge of the same offense against 21-year-old William Edward Kizer was dismissed by Judge David Menary Jr. Kizer will be sentenced July 30.

He originally was charged with cashing a check for $156 on Sept. 25, 1972 and attempting to cash another check, for $67, later the same day. The charge on the second check was dismissed.

Kizer at the time worked for the San Rafael firm of Cagwin and Dorward, from which the payroll checks were stolen Sept. 22.

School Trustees Will Eye Budget

The Kentfield School District board will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Bacich School to consider approval of its 1973-74 publication budget.

Election of a new board president, clerk and trustee representative are also scheduled for the meeting along with the swearing in of new board member Winifred Setrakian and reelected members Gloria Riccardi and Bruce A. Koppe.

The board has also scheduled a closed session for the purpose of instructing its negotiator in salary discussions.

Hearing Set On River Aqueduct

The North Marin County Water District Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow will hold a public hearing on the proposed Russian River aqueduct's likely effect on growth in the district.

It will also consider backfeeding Russian River water to Stafford Lake and amending regulations limiting the number of new connections.

It will consider adoption of a $715,841 operating budget for next fiscal year and setting the tax rates for the West Marin improvement districts.

Man Hurt When Car Hits Culvert

Pontiac Taken

A 1973 yellow Pontiac was taken from a parking place in front of her home at 3757 Kerner Boulevard, San Rafael, sometime over the weekend, Pamela Moncayo told police.

Waterfront Zoning Law Due Study

The Sausalito City Council will consider proposed changes in the city's waterfront zoning laws when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

A major item to be discussed is whether to ban retail stores in the waterfront zone, a measure designed to curb tourist-oriented establishments, according to Herb Case, planning director.

The council also will consider limiting the size and number of houseboats on the waterfront and preserving open space so that motorists driving on streets that lead to the bay will have an unobstructed view of the water, Case said.

The council also is to discuss changing the makeup of the community appearances advisory board and updating selection procedures for appointments to the planning commission.

Councilmen are to consider whether or not the advisory panel should include a member of the planning commission, as it presently does, and whether standard applications and specific qualifications should be required for planning commission applicants.

Marinwood Grass Fire Contained

Fanned by a strong northwest breeze, one of the summer's largest grass fires, starting at the end of Mount Tenaya Court in Marinwood, burned a 60-acre swath up the south face of Big Rock Ridge Saturday afternoon.

No home or other property was endangered by the blaze. The fire was set by a nine-year-old boy playing with matches, according to the Marin County Fire Department. He has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Seven trucks and a bulldozer from the county combined with six units from Marinwood, Novato, and the Office of Emergency Services in containing the two-and-a-half-hour blaze.

Three plans from the California Division of Forestry dropped fire retardant on the hillside, and nine area fire departments contributed to the total 90-man force.

The fire, first reported at 1:26 p.m., was under control by about 4 p.m. Six county firemen remained at work on the hillside throughout the night, mopping up remaining hot spots and smouldering debris.

NIXON

Clemente, preferably — for up to 10 days more of recuperation.

A chest X-ray taken yesterday afternoon showed a continued "improving trend" and Nixon's temperature had dropped from 100 to 99 degrees.

Nixon continued to experience the malaise and lassitude expected in pneumonia patients but was free of chest pains except when breathing deeply, Tkach said.

Yesterday, Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, spent about 35 minutes with him going over a sampling of mail from friends and foreign heads of state. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "virtually every head of government" in the world had sent Nixon a get well message.

Nixon also met for about 20 minutes with his White House chief of staff, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr.

The President also was visited by his wife, Pat, daughter, Julie, and her husband, David Eisenhower.

Ziegler said telephone calls and contact with staff members were held to a minimum. The President complained that he did not feel well enough to read, Ziegler said.

Man Hospitalized In Cycle Crash

A Petaluma man was injured Saturday in a motorcycle accident at 8:35 p.m. on Stony Point Road near Railroad Avenue, Cotati.

Peter A. Verhoeven, 47, of 144 Jeffrey Drive, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with head injuries. His wife, Elizabeth, 44, had been a passenger on the motorcycle and was treated for scrapes of the left hand and arm.

The California Highway Patrol said the motorcycle overturned on the roadway when a tire went flat.

OBITUARIES

Anna J. Smith Dies At 96

Anna J. Smith, longtime San Rafael resident and widow of the town's first elected city clerk, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 96.

Mrs. Smith was born Anna Demetz in San Francisco in 1876. She moved to San Rafael with her family in 1890. She and her late husband, Eugene W. Smith, were married in 1897 in a house on C Street in San Rafael.

Mrs. Smith later recalled that for a honeymoon trip, they took the electric train to San Francisco and when they returned, the San Rafael Band came to their home and serenaded them.

Smith was in the shoemaking business when the couple married, but he later went to work for a haberdashery and also worked part time as city clerk. Later the jobs of city clerk and city assessor were combined and Smith held the position for 50 years.

The Smith home at 901 Irwin Street now stands on one of the city's busiest intersections but was in marshland when the family moved there.

Mrs. Smith once told an interviewer that "progress in Marin has meant tearing down so there are places to park cars, and it's a pity because Marin was so pretty."

Mrs. Smith, whose husband died in 1953, is survived by three daughters, Helen S. Hobson of Sebastopol and Florence E. Mack and Eugenia S. Pitcher, both of San Rafael; a son, Harold W. Smith of San Francisco, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael or a favorite charity.

ANITA STOPPER

Anita E. Stopper, a lifetime resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness at the age of 83.

She was the daughter of Walter and Mary Anne Fleet, British visitors to San Francisco, whose four masted sailing vessel was wrecked on the rocks at the entrance to the Golden Gate in the early 1880s.

The Fleets settled in Sausalito, where Mrs. Stopper was reared and attended school.

For the last 53 years she had lived in San Anselmo with her husband, Edward Stopper, at the family home at 141 Barber Avenue.

She was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross, where she had worshipped since 1920, and was an active member of the St. John's Ladies Auxilliary.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Edith Schneider of Menlo Park and Gloria Scott of Novato; a brother, Walter Fleet of Boise, Ida., and by 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m., at St. John's Church, and burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

LULU GRINSELL

Private funeral for Lulu E. Grinsell of Sausalito was held today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Grinsell, 68, died Saturday in a local hospital after an illness.

A native of California, she had resided in Marin for the past 67 years. She resided at 34 Filbert Street.

She is survived by two sons, Raymond Grinsell of Daly City and Alfred Gales Grinsell of San Francisco, and a brother, Alfred P. Gales of Stinson Beach.

VAN ALLEN TREAT

Service was Friday for Van Allen Treat, 73, a native of Sausalito and former member of the Tamalpais High School District board.

Treat died Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He and his wife; Virginia D. Treat, made their home at 35 Harrison Avenue in Sausalito and he had lived in that city for all but one year of his life, spent in San Francisco.

Treat attended South and Central schools in Sausalito and went to Tamalpais High School. He was an engineering graduate of Stanford University in the 1920s.

He served on the high school board of trustees from 1940 to 1949.

A retired electrical engineer, he had worked at Pacific Electric Manufacturing Co. in San Francisco.

He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Survivors include his wife, a sister, Laura Treat of Greenbrae, and two stepsons, Robert Emmet Allen Jr. of Berkeley and Dwight Serny Allen of Santa Rosa.

ELIZABETH VREELAND

Funeral for Elizabeth W. Vreeland, longtime Mill Valley resident, was held today in Vallejo.

Mrs. Vreeland died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 77.

Mrs. Vreeland, a native of India where her father was a missionary, had lived in Mill Valley the past 30 years. She resided at 36 McGee Avenue.

She was the wife of the late Frederick K. Vreeland, a Mill Valley research engineer and inventor of machines ranging from the high speed frequency oscillator to the Vreeland spectroscope, a device for analyzing minerals.

Mrs. Vreeland was an accomplished portrait painter, for many years sketching subjects from a booth at the Village Fair in Sausalito.

She is survived by a daughter, Elizabeth Snell of San Rafael, and three sons, Robert of San Francisco, Peter of Stockton, and Fredric of Palo Alto.

Burial will be on Skyview Memorial Lawn, Vallejo.

JACK CLEMMER

Jack C. Clemmer, a photographer who worked in the Novato and Petaluma areas, died Saturday in a Contra Costa County hospital after a brief illness. He was 57.

Clemmer was born in Alameda but grew up in San Rafael, graduating from San Rafael High School.

He had made his home in Richmond for the past 22 years. He was the photographer for many Southern Sonoma and Marin schools.

He is survived by his wife, Lois E. Clemmer of the family home; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wehrli Sr. of San Rafael; two daughters, Mrs. Diane Bailey of Covina, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Janice Franklin of Richmond; a brother, Carl Wehrli Jr. of San Rafael, and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the chapel of Schmidt and Dixon in Richmond.

ADALIA HAWLEY

Funeral arrangements for Adalia Hawley of Corte Madera were pending today at Daphne Funerals of Marin in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Hawley, 73, died last Wednesday at her home. According to the coroner's office, she had been suffering from the flu.

Her survivors include her husband, Lyle H. Hawley of the family home at 313 Oakdale Avenue, and a daughter who is in Europe.

FRANCES SPEAR

The death of Frances L. Spear of Greenbrae occurred Wednesday, not Tuesday as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal. Her daughter's correct name is Kathleen Hosking of Rohnert Park.

The errors were due to misinformation furnished the I-J by the funeral home.

Two Sentenced For Burglaries In Marin

Two persons were sentenced last week for residential burglaries, two were bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial for burglary and three entered pleas to charges involving burglary or concealment of stolen property.

SENTENCED

Barry Royal Hier, 20, of San Rafael, was sentenced to the California Youth Authority as part of a plea bargain in return for pleading guilty to burglarizing the Joel Wolfson home on Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael, last Dec. 24.

Charles Drago, 23, of San Rafael, was sentenced to enter a six-month drug rehabilitation program in San Jose as part of a plea bargain in return for Drago's pleading guilty to burglarizing the Wallace Peters home on Grand Avenue in San Rafael on May 27.

BOUND OVER

Richard Anthony Weaver, 20, and John Robert Prater, 35, both of Oakland, were bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial for burglarizing the William Ambrose home in the Los Ranchitos area June 21. The pair will appear in the higher court July 16.

ENTERED PLEAS

Raymond Stanley Glasser, 22, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent to burglarizing the Richard Davis home on Belvedere Avenue in Belvedere July 4. A codefendant in the case, John Anthony Sargiotto, 23, also of San Francisco, also had pleaded innocent earlier.

William Geoffrey Howard, 26, of Waldo Point, pleaded innocent to a charge of concealing stolen property taken from a home on Rose Avenue in Mill Valley. A codefendant, Henry Garrison, 25, of Marin City, also had pleaded innocent earlier.

Henry Jackson, 23, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty to burglarizing the San Rafael home of Bryce W. Anderson in 1970 in return for a promise of no more than four months in jail.

Prison Riot Quelled By Police With Dogs

POWHATAN, Va. (UPI) — State police used tear gas and dogs to clear two of three cellblocks of rebellious maximum security inmates at a state prison farm today and then coaxed 114 prisoners into peacefully surrendering the third, ending a 12-hour uprising.

About 400 inmates went on a rampage at the Virginia State Prison Farm, 30 miles west of Richmond, last night, seizing three cellblocks and two dormitories and making weapons from ripped up beds and furniture. The disturbance followed a fight yesterday between two inmates and a guard that resulted in the inmates being put in isolation.

Two cellblocks were cleared of inmates early today when police used dogs to fend off scalding water and flying pieces of furniture. Tear gas was used in cellblocks 2 and 3 but 114 inmates held on in cellblock 3 until 11 a.m. when they agreed to leave peacefully.

Two officers were slightly injured and an inmate suffered a head wound.

Wayne Farrar, a spokesman for the Virginia Dept. of Welfare and Institutions, said the inmates had made no demands and he did not say if any disciplinary action would be taken.

Farrar said two cellblocks were secured by state police and prison guards by 5:46 a.m. today and another dormitory was secured later.

Farrar said the dogs were needed to restore order because the inmates had armed themselves with pipes, pieces of beds, other makeshift weapons and scalding water.

Tear gas was not needed when police swept through Cellblock 1, but it was used to rout inmates in Cellblock 2. The inmates were forced into a yard behind the building before being placed in other facilities.

Adoption Of Budget Is Expected

The Corte Madera Town Council will adopt a budget for fiscal 1973-74 when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

The proposed budget total was $1,283,970 when councilmen began working on the spending program, which would require a tax rate of $1.37 per $100 assessed valuation, unchanged from the current year's rate.

Salary raises to employees, and deletions and additions to department totals are expected to leave the tax rate at the same level, according to town officials, although the budget total may be higher.

Also on tonight's agenda is a public hearing on an open space element for inclusion in the town's revised general plan.

Tennis Lessons To Be Offered

Tennis lessons for beginners and advanced students begin July 23 in Pueblo Park, Santa Venetia, according to a spokesman for the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

The classes will continue on Mondays and Fridays for four weeks, according to Carolyn Jauch, recreation director.

She said the district will hold a day camp for children aged seven through 12 at Samuel Taylor Park the week of Aug. 13. More information is available from the district recreation office.

Nothing Taken

A thief who pried a glass door at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Road, San Rafael, on Friday or Saturday overlooked valuable office equipment and apparently left empty handed, San Rafael police said today.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

ed to deceive those with a security 'need to know'," Brown said.

"The reasons why special security precautions were directed was not a reporting issue so long as a responsible higher authority knew in fact what was done and judged it to be in accord with instructions."

Knight said 40 to 44 raids were conducted in Cambodia in early 1970 and that he doctored reports to make it appear they took place in South Vietnam.

Knight said that after a raid he was instructed "to take all the paperwork and when daylight came to go out and burn it."

He said the raids in Cambodia were all conducted near the South Vietnamese border.

Knight said he decided to write Proxmire about the alleged falsified reports after reading about Air Force Gen. John Lavelle's dismissal as the commander of the 7th Air Force because of unauthorized raids in South Vietnam in late 1971 and early 1972.

In calling for Senate hearings, Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said he wanted to find out "who gave the orders for the bombing and why the public wasn't told about them."

Hughes said he requested and received from the Defense Department earlier this year a computer analysis of all B52 raids in Cambodia. He said it showed no raids until May, 1970, although Knight has said he understood they started in early 1968 but were not publicly reported.

Board May Drop School Tax Election

The Novato Unified School District Board will consider cancellation of its special tax election when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato High School lecture hall.

At its last meeting, the board voted to hold an election July 31 to increase the tax rate by as much as $1.35 per $100 assessed valuation or one year. However, Governor Reagan has since signed assembly bill 1267 which will give the district an additional $550,000 making the special tax unecessary.

The trustees will also consider approval of its publication budget for fiscal 1973-74.

The board will hold a closed meeting to instruct its representatives on salary negotiations.

Prize-Winning Newsman Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Relman (Pat) Morin, who twice won the Pulitzer Prize for the Associated Press, was found dead in his Manhattan apartment today. He was 65.

Morin, who retired from the AP last year, had been ill for some time. The cause of his death was not immediately determined.

Morin won the Pulitzer for his reporting on the Korean War in 1951 and on the school integration at Little Rock, Ark., in 1958.

ABAG Unit To Meet Tonight

The coordinating committee of the Regional Citizens Forum, a group formed recently to advise the Association of Bay Area Governments, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the supervisors chambers of the Marin Civic Center.

The session will be the committee's first in the county. The agenda includes discussion of pending state legislation to give ABAG power to enforce its regional plan.

Meeting Tonight On Flood Plain Zoning

A joint meeting between Marin and Sonoma county supervisors will be held July 30 and not tonight as erroneously reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal.

The meeting, to be held at the Sonoma County administration building in Santa Rosa, was set up to discuss flood plain zoning along San Antonio Creek and the Petaluma River.

Datsun Stolen

A 1973 gold Datsun, license number 457 HLF, was taken Friday from Annex Motors, 535 Francisco Boulevard, police said today.

Health Chief Says Rabies Toll 'Worst'

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Dr. Mary Clark of the Santa Clara County Health Department said today the county was in the midst of the "worst wild rabies epidemic in the county's history."

"Before canine rabies were brought under control years ago there were worse rabies epidemics, but this is the worst wild animal epidemic the county has had," she said.

The announcement came after two boys found a rabid bat near Los Gatos Golf Course during the weekend, and after two incidents of horses dying of the disease in Marin County.

(Marin County Health Department officials report 14 cases of animal rabies this year, including the case of the two horses from the Mar-Ghi ranch in Nicasio.)

(The other 11 cases come from wild animals, mostly skunks and bats. Marin has not encountered a rabid dog since 1920, a health department spokesman said.)

Five persons fear for their lives because of contact with the horses.

There have been 26 rabid bats and five rabid skunk cases confirmed in Santa Clara County this year, Dr. Clark said.

Brian, 12, and Eddy Hannan, 10, found the latest rabid bat while collecting golf balls. It swooped down at them as they walked along a creek near the course.

Neither boy was bitten.

"The boys were lucky enough to find an old blanket nearby," their mother, Mrs. Dec Hannan said. "They threw it over the bat and Brian came home to have me call an animal control officer."

Dr. Clark stressed that the increased incidence of rabies is not a reason to cancel outings. But she warned picnickers to be careful of wild animals and stray pets and to have their own animals vaccinated.

One Critical After Crash On Highway

Two Marin residents have been injured, one critically, in an auto accident southbound on Highway 101 south of Petaluma.

Cynthia Schunk, 25, of 904 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was reported in critical condition today at Community Hospital in Santa Rosa with multiple injuries received in the crash.

Buck James Smith, 34, of 400 Canal Street, Apt. 209, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition at Hillcrest Hospital in Petaluma with head injuries and multiple cuts and abrasions.

The California Highway Patrold had no details of the accident, which occurred shortly before midnight Friday.

Reed Schools May Get Budget

Trustees of the Reed Union School District may adopt tomorrow night a publication budget of $3,192,804 for next year.

The budget is $20,286 higher than this year's estimated spending.

The tax rate required by the budget has not yet been decided. Last year's rate is $3.605 per $100 assessed valuation.

District Supt. Ralph D. Giovanniello said he might suggest adding several items to the budget tomorrow including $5,000 for a pilot reading evaluation program at Granada School.

The trustees meet at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

Larkspur Woman Reports Attack

A 22-year-old Larkspur woman was raped Friday at 6:30 p.m. on Cronkhite Beach while returning to her parked car, a spokesman for the Presidio of San Francisco reported today.

She said that her attacker, who grabbed her from behind, was a black, 27 to 28 years old, over 6 feet tall, weighing about 190 pounds, and wearing a green shirt and a green belt with green buckle.

Talk Scheduled

Dr. Lyle M. Nelson, chairman of the communications department at Stanford University, will speak on the topic "It All Began with Communications," at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Pennafort Hall at Dominican College.

Warren McGuire on that claim is critical.

Hecker said scientists have doubted the voiceprint identification method because of "intra-speaker variability," a difference in voice every time a person speaks.

Hecker said, that although there is "some uniqueness" in each voice, there is the possibility of overlap with patterns made by another person's voice. That possibility meant, at least until 1969, that the scientific community was divided over the use of voiceprints in criminal cases, he said.

The doubting scientists were not rejecting the method, but were concerned that it was a relatively untested method with a serious problem to overcome.

"Speech scientists and phoneticians have known for some time that the speech of a particular person is not unique," he said.

The scientist said studies showed that two speakers could produce voice patterns sufficiently similar on one word to confuse an examiner, but he said such similarity is far less likely for longer utterances.

Chapter was charged with the anonymous threat last September after a police expert in Michigan said his voice was definitely the same as the one on the threat tape.

Lt. Ernest W. Nash of the Michigan State Police testified last week that he was sure it was Chapter after comparing his voice and those of 17 other telephone installers to the tape of the threat.

The bomb threat was received on a phone line used by installers to call in work orders.

Guilt Admitted On Check Charge

A Los Angeles man has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to passing a forged check stolen from the office of his employer.

A second charge of the same offense against 21-year-old William Edward Kizer was dismissed by Judge David Menary Jr. Kizer will be sentenced July 30.

He originally was charged with cashing a check for $156 on Sept. 25, 1972 and attempting to cash another check, for $67, later the same day. The charge on the second check was dismissed.

Kizer at the time worked for the San Rafael firm of Cagwin and Dorward, from which the payroll checks were stolen Sept. 22.

School Trustees Will Eye Budget

The Kentfield School District board will meet at 8 p.m. today in the Bacich School to consider approval of its 1973-74 publication budget.

Election of a new board president, clerk and trustee representative are also scheduled for the meeting along with the swearing in of new board member Winifred Setrakian and reelected members Gloria Riccardi and Bruce A. Koppe.

The board has also scheduled a closed session for the purpose of instructing its negotiator in salary discussions.

Hearing Set On River Aqueduct

The North Marin County Water District Board at 8 p.m. tomorrow will hold a public hearing on the proposed Russian River aqueduct's likely effect on growth in the district.

It will also consider backfeeding Russian River water to Stafford Lake and amending regulations limiting the number of new connections.

It will consider adoption of a $715,841 operating budget for next fiscal year and setting the tax rates for the West Marin improvement districts.

Man Hurt When Car Hits Culvert

A 70-year old Ross man was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries received when the car he was driving left the road and crashed into a cement culvert adjacent to Laurel Grove Avenue.

Pontiac Taken

A 1973 yellow Pontiac was taken from a parking place in front of her home at 3757 Kerner Boulevard, San Rafael, sometime over the weekend, Pamela Moncayo told police.

Waterfront Zoning Law Due Study

The Sausalito City Council will consider proposed changes in the city's waterfront zoning laws when it meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall.

A major item to be discussed is whether to ban retail stores in the waterfront zone, a measure designed to curb tourist-oriented establishments, according to Herb Case, planning director.

The council also will consider limiting the size and number of houseboats on the waterfront and preserving open space so that motorists driving on streets that lead to the bay will have an unobstructed view of the water, Case said.

The council also is to discuss changing the makeup of the community appearances advisory board and updating selection procedures for appointments to the planning commission.

Councilmen are to consider whether or not the advisory panel should include a member of the planning commission, as it presently does, and whether standard applications and specific qualifications should be required for planning commission applicants.

Marinwood Grass Fire Contained

Fanned by a strong northwest breeze, one of the summer's largest grass fires, starting at the end of Mount Tenaya Court in Marinwood, burned a 60-acre swath up the south face of Big Rock Ridge Saturday afternoon.

No home or other property was endangered by the blaze. The fire was set by a nine-year-old boy playing with matches, according to the Marin County Fire Department. He has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Seven trucks and a bulldozer from the county combined with six units from Marinwood, Novato, and the Office of Emergency Services in containing the two-and-a-half-hour blaze.

Three plans from the California Division of Forestry dropped fire retardant on the hillside, and nine area fire departments contributed to the total 90-man force.

The fire, first reported at 1:26 p.m., was under control by about 4 p.m. Six county firemen remained at work on the hillside throughout the night, mopping up remaining hot spots and smouldering debris.

NIXON

Clemente, preferably — for up to 10 days more of recuperation.

A chest X-ray taken yesterday afternoon showed a continued "improving trend" and Nixon's temperature had dropped from 100 to 99 degrees.

Nixon continued to experience the malaise and lassitude expected in pneumonia patients but was free of chest pains except when breathing deeply, Tkach said.

Yesterday, Nixon's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, spent about 35 minutes with him going over a sampling of mail from friends and foreign heads of state. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "virtually every head of government" in the world had sent Nixon a get well message.

Nixon also met for about 20 minutes with his White House chief of staff, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr.

The President also was visited by his wife, Pat, daughter, Julie, and her husband, David Eisenhower.

Ziegler said telephone calls and contact with staff members were held to a minimum. The President complained that he did not feel well enough to read, Ziegler said.

Man Hospitalized In Cycle Crash

A Petaluma man was injured Saturday in a motorcycle accident at 8:35 p.m. on Stony Point Road near Railroad Avenue, Cotati.

Peter A. Verhoeven, 47, of 144 Jeffrey Drive, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with head injuries. His wife, Elizabeth, 44, had been a passenger on the motorcycle and was treated for scrapes of the left hand and arm.

The California Highway Patrol said the motorcycle overturned on the roadway when a tire went flat.

OBITUARIES

Anna J. Smith Dies At 96

Anna J. Smith, longtime San Rafael resident and widow of the town's first elected city clerk, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness. She was 96.

Mrs. Smith was born Anna Demetz in San Francisco in 1876. She moved to San Rafael with her family in 1890. She and her late husband, Eugene W. Smith, were married in 1897 in a house on C Street in San Rafael.

Mrs. Smith later recalled that for a honeymoon trip, they took the electric train to San Francisco and when they returned, the San Rafael Band came to their home and serenaded them.

Smith was in the shoemaking business when the couple married, but he later went to work for a haberdashery and also worked part time as city clerk. Later the jobs of city clerk and city assessor were combined and Smith held the position for 50 years.

The Smith home at 901 Irwin Street now stands on one of the city's busiest intersections but was in marshland when the family moved there.

Mrs. Smith once told an interviewer that "progress in Marin has meant tearing down so there are places to park cars, and it's a pity because Marin was so pretty."

Mrs. Smith, whose husband died in 1953, is survived by three daughters, Helen S. Hobson of Sebastopol and Florence E. Mack and Eugenia S. Pitcher, both of San Rafael; a son, Harold W. Smith of San Francisco, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Memorial service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Inurnment will be private.

The family prefers memorial contributions to St. Luke's Presbyterian Church in San Rafael or a favorite charity.

ANITA STOPPER

Anita E. Stopper, a lifetime resident of Marin County, died yesterday in a local hospital after a short illness at the age of 83.

She was the daughter of Walter and Mary Anne Fleet, British visitors to San Francisco, whose four masted sailing vessel was wrecked on the rocks at the entrance to the Golden Gate in the early 1880s.

The Fleets settled in Sausalito, where Mrs. Stopper was reared and attended school.

For the last 53 years she had lived in San Anselmo with her husband, Edward Stopper, at the family home at 141 Barber Avenue.

She was a member of St. John's Episcopal Church, Ross, where she had worshipped since 1920, and was an active member of the St. John's Ladies Auxilliary.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Edith Schneider of Menlo Park and Gloria Scott of Novato; a brother, Walter Fleet of Boise, Ida., and by 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m., at St. John's Church, and burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

LULU GRINSELL

Private funeral for Lulu E. Grinsell of Sausalito was held today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Mrs. Grinsell, 68, died Saturday in a local hospital after an illness.

A native of California, she had resided in Marin for the past 67 years. She resided at 34 Filbert Street.

She is survived by two sons, Raymond Grinsell of Daly City and Alfred Gales Grinsell of San Francisco, and a brother, Alfred P. Gales of Stinson Beach.

VAN ALLEN TREAT

Service was Friday for Van Allen Treat, 73, a native of Sausalito and former member of the Tamalpais High School District board.

Treat died Thursday in a local hospital after a long illness.

He and his wife; Virginia D. Treat, made their home at 35 Harrison Avenue in Sausalito and he had lived in that city for all but one year of his life, spent in San Francisco.

Treat attended South and Central schools in Sausalito and went to Tamalpais High School. He was an engineering graduate of Stanford University in the 1920s.

He served on the high school board of trustees from 1940 to 1949.

A retired electrical engineer, he had worked at Pacific Electric Manufacturing Co. in San Francisco.

He was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Survivors include his wife, a sister, Laura Treat of Greenbrae, and two stepsons, Robert Emmet Allen Jr. of Berkeley and Dwight Serny Allen of Santa Rosa.

ELIZABETH VREELAND

Funeral for Elizabeth W. Vreeland, longtime Mill Valley resident, was held today in Vallejo.

Mrs. Vreeland died Friday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 77.

Mrs. Vreeland, a native of India where her father was a missionary, had lived in Mill Valley the past 30 years. She resided at 36 McGee Avenue.

She was the wife of the late Frederick K. Vreeland, a Mill Valley research engineer and inventor of machines ranging from the high speed frequency oscillator to the Vreeland spectroscope, a device for analyzing minerals.

Mrs. Vreeland was an accomplished portrait painter, for many years sketching subjects from a booth at the Village Fair in Sausalito.

She is survived by a daughter, Elizabeth Snell of San Rafael, and three sons, Robert of San Francisco, Peter of Stockton, and Fredric of Palo Alto.

Burial will be on Skyview Memorial Lawn, Vallejo.

JACK CLEMMER

Jack C. Clemmer, a photographer who worked in the Novato and Petaluma areas, died Saturday in a Contra Costa County hospital after a brief illness. He was 57.

Clemmer was born in Alameda but grew up in San Rafael, graduating from San Rafael High School.

He had made his home in Richmond for the past 22 years. He was the photographer for many Southern Sonoma and Marin schools.

He is survived by his wife, Lois E. Clemmer of the family home; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wehrli Sr. of San Rafael; two daughters, Mrs. Diane Bailey of Covina, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Janice Franklin of Richmond; a brother, Carl Wehrli Jr. of San Rafael, and five grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the chapel of Schmidt and Dixon in Richmond.

ADALIA HAWLEY

Funeral arrangements for Adalia Hawley of Corte Madera were pending today at Daphne Funerals of Marin in Corte Madera.

Mrs. Hawley, 73, died last Wednesday at her home. According to the coroner's office, she had been suffering from the flu.

Her survivors include her husband, Lyle H. Hawley of the family home at 313 Oakdale Avenue, and a daughter who is in Europe.

FRANCES SPEAR

The death of Frances L. Spear of Greenbrae occurred Wednesday, not Tuesday as incorrectly reported in Saturday's Independent-Journal. Her daughter's correct name is Kathleen Hosking of Rohnert Park.

The errors were due to misinformation furnished the I-J by the funeral home.

MISSING — Andrea Pagels, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guerd G. Pagels of 2031 New Brunswick Drive, San Mateo, has been missing from home since June 28. Her parents say they will not force her home against her will, but ask that anyone having seen her get in touch with them.

Woman Hurt As Car Rams A Redwood

A young San Anselmo woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when her car ran headon into a redwood tree yesterday.

Linda Barbara Matthies, 18, of 1400 Butterfield Road, received a broken leg and cuts on her face in the crash at 6:30 a.m. near the Irving Bridge at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A passenger, Richard McClean of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, complained of pains in the ribs but was not hospitalized.

Miss Matthies was driving east on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when her 1966 Plyouth skidded while rounding a curve, and slammed into the tree about 20 feet off the pavement, according to the CHP.

Officers reported that the pavement was slick from mist and that Miss Matthies was driving on the wrong side of the road going into the turn.

Patrolmen said she told them she was driving too fast to complete the curve.

Man Held In Shooting Case

A Rohnert Park man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after his wife said he tried to shoot her.

Aubrey David Olson, 32, of 7388 Burton Avenue, was booked into Sonoma County Jail and scheduled for arraignment today in Central Sonoma Municipal Court.

Rohnert Park police were called to the home at 1:34 a.m. when Marilynn L. Olson, 29 said her husband had tried to kill her with a .22-caliber rifle during an argument.

Mrs. Olson said her husband pointed the rifle at her and that she had managed to push it upward as it fired. Officers said a bullet hole was found in the ceiling of the kitchen.

Van Stolen

Cheryl Carpenter, 31 Glen Road, Novato, told Petaluma Police her 1965 cream-colored Volkswagen van was stolen last night while parked on Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street. It bore license NIL 850.

UAW Contract Demands Given

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock today brought his union's list of 1973 contract demands to General Motors — the company shut by a crippling strike in 1970.

But as Woodcock shook hands with GM Vice President George Morris Jr. across an eight-foot-wide negotiating table, the union chief remarked —perhaps prophetically —"no second time."

After presenting his union's demands at GM today, Woodcock will perform the same task tomorrow at Ford and Wednesday at Chrysler as auto and union bargainers attempt to reach agreement to replace expiring contracts before 11:59 p.m., Sept. 14.

More than 700,000 U.S. and Canadian autoworkers are directly covered by contracts reached in this summer's negotiations. But one of every six American workers are affected by what happens in the automotive industry.

Auto and union executives have played down any talk of a strike in the industry this year and Morris said he was "confident" that a noninflationary settlement can be reached without a strike.

"We feel a continuing deep sense of responsibility to further the national effort to combat inflation," said Morris as the talks began. "We want to reach a settlement that will be a part of solution, not a part of the problem."

The union and company negotiators, facing each other across a 52-foot long table in GM's plush new bargaining suite, opened the talks with a 4 X 3-foot cake presented by the union's "30 and out" committee.

The white and blue frosting spelled out one of the union's demands —a retirement program with a monthly pension of $650 for workers after 30 years of service.

"We want the frosting on the cake," said Henry Ogitsky, financial secretary for UAW Local 599 in Flint, Mich.

The continuing government control on wages and prices has eliminated much of the strike atomosphere that surrounded contract talks in 1970. Those did not end until after the union had closed GM with a crippling 67-day strike.

Coming into today's talks, UAW President Leonard Woodcock has said there is no need for a strike this year. Auto industry negotiators agree, but admit there could be one if the union remains as adamant in the talks as it has been in public on one key non-economic issue—voluntary overtime.

Woodcock has warned of a possible walkout over that issue, saying negotiators should not take an "over-our-dead body" stand on voluntary overtime.

Negotiators are almost certain Phase III wage guidelines calling for wage and fringe benefit increases not to exceed 5.2 per cent will be continued. That guideline has been flexible with most settlements this year in the 6-to-7 per cent range.

They key issues outlined in six months of saber rattling on both sides include:

Voluntary overtime. The union wants each worker to have the right to refuse to work overtime.

Improvement in the "30- and-out" retirement program with the pension increasing to $650 per month with no penalty for retirement before age 56.

Company-paid dental care.

Improvement in the cost-of-living clause to more accurately reflect price rises.

Strengthened layoff benefits.

In-plant health and safety programs jointly administered by the union and companies.

Dollar Up In Tokyo But Falls In Europe

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar dropped in value today when the European money markets opened and the downward trend worsened as the day wore on. The dollar was up in Tokyo, reflecting its instability.

Trading was light and the amounts of the dollar's fall were small. But the troubled American currency slipped slightly in Germany, France, Belgium, Britain and on just about every other European foreign currency exchange.

"At present the dollar is simply unstable," said a banking official in Paris.

It bought between 4.07 and 4.085 francs in Paris this afternoon, down from the morning opening of 4.09 to 4.1050 francs. The dollar slipped to 2.3625 marks at the Frankfurt official price fixing, down from 2.3730 in the morning. In Belgium it fell to 55.90 Belgian francs from the opening rate of 56.375.

London dealers said all European markets were "exceptionally quiet."

In Tokyo, however, the U.S. dollar edged up against the floating yen in fairly active trading. The dollar closed at 265.08 yen, compared with Friday's close of 264.95 yen. The median today was 265.05 compared with Friday's 265.00, more on 138

In London the pound cost $2.4375 at the opening of trading today, fractionally more than the $2.5430 it cost Friday night.

The gold price eased slightly in London in early trading. It was quoted at $120.50 an ounce, half a dollar below Friday's $121.

In Tokyo, Secretary of State William Rogers sought Japanese cooperation today in solving world oil, currency and trade problems. But Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira in turn told the United States to do a better job of managing its own economy.

Ohira was angered, conference sources said, by U.S. moves to restrict exports of soybeans and lumber to Japan and worried about American inflation.

Pointing to Japan's "voluntary" restraints in shipments of steel and textiles to the United States, Ohira said. "We would ask that the U.S. market does not become more closed than it is now."

Two Sentenced For Burglaries In Marin

Two persons were sentenced last week for residential burglaries, two were bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial for burglary and three entered pleas to charges involving burglary or concealment of stolen property.

SENTENCED

Barry Royal Hier, 20, of San Rafael, was sentenced to the California Youth Authority as part of a plea bargain in return for pleading guilty to burglarizing the Joel Wolfson home on Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael, last Dec. 24.

Charles Drago, 23, of San Rafael, was sentenced to enter a six-month drug rehabilitation program in San Jose as part of a plea bargain in return for Drago's pleading guilty to burglarizing the Wallace Peters home on Grand Avenue in San Rafael on May 27.

BOUND OVER

Richard Anthony Weaver, 20, and John Robert Prater, 35, both of Oakland, were bound over to Marin Superior Court to stand trial for burglarizing the William Ambrose home in the Los Ranchitos area June 21. The pair will appear in the higher court July 16.

ENTERED PLEAS

Raymond Stanley Glasser, 22, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent to burglarizing the Richard Davis home on Belvedere Avenue in Belvedere July 4. A codefendant in the case, John Anthony Sargiotto, 23, also of San Francisco, also had pleaded innocent earlier.

William Geoffrey Howard, 26, of Waldo Point, pleaded innocent to a charge of concealing stolen property taken from a home on Rose Avenue in Mill Valley. A codefendant, Henry Garrison, 25, of Marin City, also had pleaded innocent earlier.

Henry Jackson, 23, of San Rafael, pleaded guilty to burglarizing the San Rafael home of Bryce W. Anderson in 1970 in return for a promise of no more than four months in jail.

Prison Riot Quelled By Police With Dogs

POWHATAN, Va. (UPI) — State police used tear gas and dogs to clear two of three cellblocks of rebellious maximum security inmates at a state prison farm today and then coaxed 114 prisoners into peacefully surrendering the third, ending a 12-hour uprising.

About 400 inmates went on a rampage at the Virginia State Prison Farm, 30 miles west of Richmond, last night, seizing three cellblocks and two dormitories and making weapons from ripped up beds and furniture. The disturbance followed a fight yesterday between two inmates and a guard that resulted in the inmates being put in isolation.

Two cellblocks were cleared of inmates early today when police used dogs to fend off scalding water and flying pieces of furniture. Tear gas was used in cellblocks 2 and 3 but 114 inmates held on in cellblock 3 until 11 a.m. when they agreed to leave peacefully.

Two officers were slightly injured and an inmate suffered a head wound.

Wayne Farrar, a spokesman for the Virginia Dept. of Welfare and Institutions, said the inmates had made no demands and he did not say if any disciplinary action would be taken.

Farrar said two cellblocks were secured by state police and prison guards by 5:46 a.m. today and another dormitory was secured later.

Farrar said the dogs were needed to restore order because the inmates had armed themselves with pipes, pieces of beds, other makeshift weapons and scalding water.

Tear gas was not needed when police swept through Cellblock 1, but it was used to rout inmates in Cellblock 2. The inmates were forced into a yard behind the building before being placed in other facilities.

Tennis Lessons To Be Offered

Tennis lessons for beginners and advanced students begin July 23 in Pueblo Park, Santa Venetia, according to a spokesman for the Gallinas Village Community Services District.

The classes will continue on Mondays and Fridays for four weeks, according to Carolyn Jauch, recreation director.

She said the district will hold a day camp for children aged seven through 12 at Samuel Taylor Park the week of Aug. 13. More information is available from the district recreation office.

Nothing Taken

A thief who pried a glass door at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Road, San Rafael, on Friday or Saturday overlooked valuable office equipment and apparently left empty handed, San Rafael police said today.

Adoption Of Budget Is Expected

The Corte Madera Town Council will adopt a budget for fiscal 1973-74 when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall.

The proposed budget total was $1,283,970 when councilmen began working on the spending program, which would require a tax rate of $1.37 per $100 assessed valuation, unchanged from the current year's rate.

Salary raises to employees, and deletions and additions to department totals are expected to leave the tax rate at the same level, according to town officials, although the budget total may be higher.

Also on tonight's agenda is a public hearing on an open space element for inclusion in the town's revised general plan.

Does More Than Help Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues Due To Infection

Also Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief in Many Cases from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Doctors have found a remarkably successful medication that actually helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues when infected and inflamed. And it does more. In many cases it gives relief for hours from pain and itching in these tissues. Tests by doctors proved this true in many cases.

The medication used was Preparation H. And no prescription is needed for Preparation H®. Ointment or suppositories.

Uphill Battle For More Elbow Room

The steadily increasing use of county parks like Paradise Beach near Tiburon and McNear Beach in east San Rafael attest to the need for close-in, beachfront parks that provide active recreation such as swimming and picknicking.

With the summer crunch still to come, the June attendance was up 50 per cent at McNear Beach this year over last June, and up 10 per cent at Paradise Beach. These figures do not reflect the total picture because many families who drive into the popular parks turn away voluntarily when they find the parking lots jammed to capacity. Almost every weekend, the swimming pool at McNear is so crowded with splashing youngsters that the county parks and recreation officials periodically clear the pool of children to give their parents a chance for a dip.

RELIEF FOR some of the turnaway crowds will be coming soon from the acquisition and development of the North Bay Front Park north of the Civic Center, for which $940,000 were allocated last month by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

While the allocation does not include funds for a proposed 50-meter pool at the new park, it will provide some organized activity such as tennis courts, boatlaunching and picnicking.

THE DRIVING FORCE behind the continuing campaign to acquire and develop these recreation facilities is Pierre W. Joske and his County Parks and Recreation Department. Joske and his staff keep plugging away each year, searching for state and federal matching funds to finance new acquisitions and pleading with the county supervisors for a share of the county funds.

Many of their proposals have suffered setbacks, primarily from lack of funds, but their persistence has succeeded in preserving little islands of respite to break up the sprawl of concrete and asphalt.

IT IS ALSO to the credit of the supervisors that they saw fit this year to finance the initial development of the new North Bay Front Park. The supervisors displayed foresight in resisting the move earlier this year to consolidate parks and recreation with the Department of Public Works and the Planning Department. Such an assimilation would have relegated the small parks and recreation department to a minor role, and Joske's plea for recreation might have been silenced by the demands of the larger departments.

The value of recreation is difficult to measure in dollars and cents, particularly because many of its long-term benefits are not readily apparent. How mauch value can one place on the opportunity for adults to unwind from tensions of work and congested urban living and for children to exhaust their energies in the sand, water and open spaces instead of inside city quarters or on street corners?

WE NEED A strong and independent parks and recreation department to preserve for public use the few remaining open spaces along Marin's waterfront and to insure for its citizens mental and spiritual health to match its economic affluence.

An Evil Omen

A growing flock of maybe a dozen crows has made its home in our little dale, an offshoot of the Ross Valley, for the past several years. These birds make their nests in the live oaks near the top of a ridge. In the Orient, such neighbors would be upsetting because crows are harbingers of death in Chinese folklore. Like most folklore, it contains a grain of truth. A big item in the crow's diet is carrion and, like most carrion-feeders, the crow has a keen sense of smell to help it locate its food.

And someday someone in our little valley will die. Then the survivors can gather in clusters and mutter that the superstition was right.

BRIDGE DIRECTORS

$1 Million For Barrier But No More For Buses

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Thanks to the twisted logic of Golden Gate Bridge District directors, local bus service in Marin faces drastic cuts at the same time the directors are plunging ahead to build an absurdly expensive suicide barrier on the bridge.

The board apparently finds it more important to milk the county for its few dollars than to provide needed bus service. Everything else, no matter how broad or obvious its public benefit, is pushed aside to get the barrier built. If the public interest gets in the way, that's tough.

AT ISSUE IS the district's demand that the county pay for passengers who ride transbay buses but get on and off within Marin. No matter that the buses run anyway, that local riders simply increase the district's revenue and that they fill otherwise empty seats.

The county, at the mercy of the bridge board, is headed for total capitulation. The result will be that to pay the bill ($171,000 this past fiacal year) the county will be too short of funds to pay for existing local bus service.

The only alternative will be to slash the local service.

The suicide barrier, incidentally, will cost nearly $1 million. That would buy a lot of local bus service.

SAN FRANCISCO Supervisor Dianne Feinstein, criticed here last month for endorsing a move to kill the bridge district's ferry system, has asked us to "correct the record."

Mrs. Feinstein, who is seeking reelection and enjoyed financial support from Marinites four years ago, would like everyone to know that she subsequently removed her name from the resolution aimed at sinking the fleet.

The author of the resolution, San Francisco Supervisor Robert Gonzales, commenting on her change of heart, blamed it on her "back trouble."

RETIRED AIR FORCE Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, formerly a loyal member of the Reagan administration as director of general services, has resurfaced as an ardent campaign worker for San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Lolli, once stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, returned to Marin briefly last week for a breakfast with local Democrats being organized for Alioto's drive for governor.

THE STARTLING proposals by the Environmental Protection Agency to clean up the Bay Area's air pollution seem to have most everyone tied up in a terrible snit. Especially over the proposal to cut mileage driven in the region by 84 per cent over the next four years.

It might put the proposals in the right perspective, however, to underscore their basis. As put by the agency's regional administrator, Paul De Falco, "it is the protection of public health we are talking about."

That should make the alternative — carrying on as we have for years — pretty unattractive to anyone who has to inhale.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

San Diego Sheriff Has Control Of Jail

I have just finished reading your editorial of Tuesday, May 22, 1973, "Why New Department to Operate Jail?"

It gives me great concern and a sense of foreboding that the supervisors should propose such a system and negate the Sheriff's authority and responsibility. I would like to correct your statement that San Diego County has such a system. The San Diego County Jail has always been, and is still the responsibility of the Sheriff.

Perhaps you are making reference to the San Diego County Honor Camps, which is a separate county organization which has just weathered its second grand jury investigation in a period of three years. This resulted in the transfer of the Honor Camps from an independent status to that of a subsidiary of the County Probation Department.

I would further agree with the letter to the editor from Patricia Y. Dunlap, as I think her conclusions are well founded in fact. My condolences to citizens of Marin County.

Grant Pay Increase To Fairfax Police

Somebody once remarked that Fairfax council meetings were "the best (funniest) free show in town." As a resident of Fairfax for the past ten years, and a very satisfied one, by and large, I must admit that I have frequently, ruefully repeated that observation. However, I mostly meant "funny: peculiar", not "funny: 'ha ha' ".

The foregoing is prompted by the current budget hearings, most especially as they relate to the pay rates of our policemen.

I do not presume to imply that our councilmen do not have many difficult decisions to make as concern priorities, particularly now that they must take definitive actions about where the famous revenue-sharing monies will be used.

However, when one knows that the budget as originally presented proposed spending in the neighborhood of $74,000 to refurbish what I agree is a unique building (the pavilion) in this next fiscal year, it makes it difficult to understand the reasoning by which the present town government can at the same connjure up a picture of the town's "gloomy financial picture" with the hint that meeting police requests for a raise might result in a tax increase (a sure way to cause many citizens to oppose it). Granted, the total of $74,000 was reduced at a recent budget hearing, by splitting the costs of construction between the upcoming and the subsequent fiscal years.

Still, a little simple arithemtic, based on the figures presented in last night's Nels Johnson story (Thursday, July 12), would seem to indicate the following. There are eleven policemen involved. They are asking for $30 per month apiece increase simply to bring them to the average of what is paid other policemen in this county. This would amount to $3,960 annually for the whole force of eleven men. Fairfax has about 7,500 residents. Just what would any tax increase have to amount to in order to provide this small annual amount? As I see it — about 52 cents per year, if everyone in town were assessed eaually. Surely no one should object to that, even if the money had to come from such sources.

I'd just like to add that although I have never been lucky enough to be in the position of an employer, I find no difficulty in understanding that it is just good common sense to realize that if a company, or a municipality, offers only the minimum wages for like work, there must be a rapid turnover of personnel. Naturally, people without experience are less likely to be hired by anyone than those who can show a year's in-the-field work elsewhere when applying for a higher paid job. It just doesn't make good common or fiscal sense, in my view, to expect to hold people of high caliber and experiece if they can do better elsewhere. Dedication to good law enforcement principles may inspire young men to want to enter that field, but as time passes, their other human considerations (like their own families) must also be weighed.

I hope that at the budget meeting of 16th July the town council of Fairfax will find a way to giving favorable response to our policemen's requests — every budget has some "fat" in it, and it strikes me that law enforcement personnel should not have to subsist on bare bones.

Supervisors Ignore Sheriff's Requests

I have been amazed in the past by some of the actions of the Board of Supervisors, but no more so than its latest fiasco.

The Sheriff yesterday (July 10) requested permission to hire more deputies to fill existing vacancies; the Board denied the request. The Sheriff had previously advised the Board that, due to the establishment of a so-called Department of Corrections, he would not need additional staff at this time. However, since the Board has seen fit to ignore its obligations and commitments, and has chosen to play Russian roulette with the taxpayers safety in the throne room, it is my belief that Sheriff Mountanos has made this request to provide taxpayers of Marin County the bare minimum of deputies needed to adequately police our county.

As a result of this denial, the Sheriff has been forced to put his men working in the jail on a six day week, and the deputies at the Honor Farm will be working 10 hours a day, 6 days a week.

It is inconceivable to me that a Board could grant itself a raise approximating 27 per cent, hire an "assistant" for Giacomini at over $10,000 a year, and then place the added burden of excessive overtime paid to the deputies on an already strained budget which had been pared to the bone, in order to feed an inept, poorly managed Probation Department with one of the poorest records of efficiency in the State of California.

Receiving approximately three times the money allotted to the Sheriff's Department and the District Attorney's office combined, the Probation Department now would like to assume still more of the Sheriff's Department duties in direct violation of California Codes.

It is possible that we may lose many fine officers to other departments as a result of the Board's playing politics instead of looking out for the interests of we who pay their inflated salaries and expenses.

Secret (until now) negotiations with the Deputy Sheriff's Association and Mr. Campanella, the assistant county administrator, have resulted in the county's agreeing to only a 2½ per cent raise for the deputies. This, after all county employees except the deputies received 5 per cent raises recently. Mr. Campanella has remarked that the deputies were in the top 20 paywise, but when he was through with them, they would be in the bottom 10. This seems to be the county's official attitude toward the Sheriff's Department. I don't think the public would agree.

It is possible that Mr. Campanella and the Board would like to turn Marin County into another Berkeley, or force us to experience a crisis as recently suffered by Ann Arbor, Michigan?

I say we need our Sheriff's Department more than we need either this present Board of Supervisors or a Department of Corrections.

Labor Strikes Are Vanishing In Favor Of Bargaining Table

STRIKES DISTASTEFUL to labor! The biggest development on the labor-management horizon is that the strike is becoming increasingly unsatisfactory to the leaders of the big unions. They don't like striking. They are beginning to counsel against striking. They see it disappearing almost entirely.

Says AFL-CIO President George Meany: "Strikes of people getting $7,000 a year or more just don't make sense."

Says I.W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers: "Chances are good that all issues will be resolved at the bargaining table."

SAYS WILLIAM E. Simkin, former director of the Federal Mediation Service: "The exercise of the right to strike is increasingly distasteful." He cites two reasons:

1 — All too often the gains are substantially less than the cost.

2 — Unions no longer need to strike to prove labor is a potent force.

Quite properly, labor will insist on keeping the right to strike and the right to threaten to strike, but it now appears that most major strikes are going to fade from the labor-management scene.

SEN. SAM ERVIN and his false precedent. In his comment on President Nixon's refusal to appear before the Senate Watergate committee to testify and answer questions, Chairman Ervin said, in effect, why not, President Lincoln did.

President Lincoln did no such thing. Mrs. Lincoln had been accused of treasonable "communication with the enemy" during the Civil War. Lincoln appeared uninvited and without advance notice before a Senate committee, stated it wasn't true and left. He volunteered no other information, answered no questions.

If that is a precedent and Mr. Nixon acted in accord with that precedent, no one would be more furious than Senator Ervin and his colleagues.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDE on wanting President Nixon to resign. For different reasons, a majority of Democrats in Congress do not want the President to quit.

Some hope he will stick it out because they think it will be easier to win in 1976 with Mr. Nixon than with Agnew in the White House. Others think that with Mr. Nixon remaining in office, Congress will be in a better position to recapture its eroded powers.

WHAT PEKING THINKS of European Detente. It is not very complimentary.

The Chinese contend that the Soviets ought not to be trusted, and if Peking has any influence on the national European Security Confernce, it will be on the side of: BEWARE.

Significantly, from the beginning of the Helsinki meeting of the East-West foreign ministers, there was an empty chair. Little Monaco and Vatican City and Liechtenstein were there. But not Albania, the Communist East European nation which spurns Moscow and embraces Peking.

ALBANIA STAYED away because it wanted to show its sympathy and support for the foreign policy of the People's Republic of China. China and Albania want no part of European-Soviet detente because the cozier things become along Russia's European frontier, the easier it is for the Soviets to concentrate their troops on the Russo-Chinese frontier.

Peking is not agreeable.

ARAB LEADERS finding Soviets untrustworthy. That is, they are beginning to feel that Moscow is not a secure ally. In all the Arab countries, the Brezhnev-Nixon cordiality continues to be viewed with anxiety. This anxiety is increased by the Soviet willingness to permit increased exodus of Jews to Israel.

The head of the Libyan government put it bluntly: "What is the use of Soviet friendship and assistance if the Soviet Union continues to provide our enemy with human resources?" That is, with more manpower. The official Algerian press terms Soviet Jewish emigration policy an "instrument of Zionist aims."

Without Russia as a secure Arab ally, the danger of renewed war in the Middle East is greatly reduced.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

He Lectures On Work Ethic From Luxurious San Clemente

WASHINGTON — Thoughts while cursing the porch lamp into place although the holes are a quarter-inch out of line; reinforcing the post under the back steps where it is wet-rotted at its concrete footing; digging up a dead evergreen beside the back steps and planting a clump of mint in its place; scraping paint off the windowsills; cleaning out the gutters; worrying about how to revive the maple that is dying by the front curb; pruning the cherry tree off the power line; discovering the dishwasher is not washing although it sounds like it is; putting the blinds back up after the kitchen is painted; wondering what's eating the squash vines; making trips to the hardware store for lumber, sticky paper, paint and a propane flask, and writing a long series of checks connected therewith.

IT'S NICE OUT there at San Clemente this time of year. By now the morning fog burns off early, and the sun is hot but the humidity is low, and when sunset comes you feel the weather has been putting energy in instead of draining it out of you.

It seems a lot of trouble for him to come all the way back to Washington after only 18 days out there, when the main activity back here is planning for the next trip out there. That will be around mid-August, when he will go out and stay through Labor Day.

WHEN HE IS back out there, I guess the main activity will be drawing up his Labor Day statement. The last couple of years, it has been about the good old American work ethic. In 1971, it came right after he finally put on economic controls, and he had a good word for "some degree of sacrifice, some inconvenience and some belt-tightening . . ." That one was issued from Camp David. Then last year he was out at San Clemente, I remember.

"The work ethic tells us that there is really no such thing as 'something for nothing,' and that everything valuable in life requires some striving and some sacrifice," he advised. "The welfare ethic, on the other hand, suggests that there is an easier way. It says that the good life can be made available to everyone right now, and that this can be done by the government . . .

"THE WORK ETHIC builds character and self-reliance, the welfare ethic destroys character and leads to a vicious cycle of dependency. The work ethic builds strong people. The welfare ethic breeds weak people . . ."

The truth of that is only now sinking in. Just for the sake of wondering, I wonder if he would have colluded in and/or shrugged at so much burglary, lying, fraud, influence peddling, wiretapping, obstruction of justice and so forth, if he had been under the strengthening influence of doing his own yard work and carpentry during his formative years at the White House, Camp David, Key Biscayne, Grand Cay and San Clemente?

I doubt it.

AT SAN CLEMENTE, even as he was preaching sacrifice and belt-tightening for the rest of us, he was practicing the welfare ethic for himself — at least the part that says the good life can be made available right now, and this can be done by the government.

The government was putting in for him shrubbery, trees and bluegrass sod; installing a heating system, swimming pool cleaner, two flagpoles and an icemaking machine; furnishing his den, and doing a lot of other things you can't expect a man to do for himself on $200,000 a year plus expenses.

AS HE HIMSELF said, the welfare ethic suggests there is an easier way. It destroys character and breeds weak people. And once character is destroyed by acceptance of welfare, especially in such Pentagonian sums, a man sees nothing wrong with each day's assortment of other felonies and misdemeanors.

Whimsy, perhaps. But as this stream of consciousness has flowed from trivia about one man's back-yard squash plants to the hard facts about San Clemente, so the web of scandal has broadened — from its abstract beginnings about stealing privacy and elections, to its later disclosures about misuse of money and property bearing clearly visible dollar signs.

And it may be this development that finally brings the truth of the sordid whole home to the American majority — the majority that was doing and paying for its own home improvements, practicing the work ethic, long before the squire of San Clemente started trading on it.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 16, 1963

Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, died of a heart attack in San Rafael General Hospital, where he was recovering from surgery for amputation of both legs.

The six members of the Tamalpais Fire Department all resigned after the district board refused to remove Fire Chief Herbert Cwen.

20 YEARS AGO

July 16, 1953

A proposed Marin County budget of $5,885,810, calling for an 82-cent tax rate increase to a total of $2.56 per $100 assessed valuation, was presented by County Auditor Leon A. de Lisle.

Novato Community Inc. proposed that Novato become an incorporated city.

COUNTRY PARSON

We may have reached the point where crime costs us more than it would to avoid raising criminals.

MISSING — Andrea Pagels, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guerd G. Pagels of 2031 New Brunswick Drive, San Mateo has been missing from home since June 28. Her parents say they will not force her home against her will, but ask that anyone having seen her get in touch with them.

Woman Hurt As Car Rams A Redwood

A young San Anselmo woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital, recovering from injuries suffered when her car ran headon into a redwood tree yesterday.

Linda Barbara Matthies, 18, of 1500 Butterfield Road, received a broken leg and cuts on her face in the crash at 6:30 a.m. near the Irving Bridge at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, the California Highway Patrol reported.

A passenger, Richard McClean of 78 Novato Street, San Rafael, complained of pains in the ribs but was not hospitalized.

Miss Matthies was driving east on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard when her 1966 Plyouth skidded while rounding a curve, and slammed into the tree about 20 feet off the pavement, according to the CHP.

Officers reported that the pavement was slick from mist and that Miss Matthies was driving on the wrong side of the road going into the turn.

Patrolmen said she told them she was driving too fast to complete the curve.

Man Held In Shooting Case

A Rohnert Park man was arrested Saturday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after his wife said he tried to shoot her.

Aubrey David Olson, 32, of 7388 Burton Avenue, was booked into Sonoma County Jail and scheduled for arraignment today in Central Sonoma Municipal Court.

Rohnert Park police were called to the home at 1:34 a.m. when Marilynn L. Olson, 29 said her husband had tried to kill her with a 22-caliber rifle during an argument.

Mrs. Olson said her husband pointed the rifle at her and that she had managed to push it upward as it fired. Officers said a bullet hole was found in the ceiling of the kitchen.

Van Stolen

Cheryl Carpenter, 31 Glen Road, Novato, told Petaluma Police her 1965 cream-colored Volkswagen van was stolen last night while parked on Petaluma Boulevard North at Washington Street. It bore license NIL 850.

UAW Contract Demands Given

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock today brought his union's list of 1973 contract demands to General Motors — the company shut by a crippling strike in 1970.

But as Woodcock shook hands with GM Vice President George Morris Jr. across an eight-foot-wide negotiating table, the union chief remarked —perhaps prophetically —"no second time."

After presenting his union's demands at GM today, Woodcock will perform the same task tomorrow at Ford and Wednesday at Chrysler as auto and union bargainers attempt to reach agreement to replace expiring contracts before 11:59 p.m., Sept. 14.

More than 700,000 U.S. and Canadian autoworkers are directly covered by contracts reached in this summer's negotiations. But one of every six American workers are affected by what happens in the automotive industry.

Auto and union executives have played down any talk of a strike in the industry this year and Morris said he was "confident" that a noninflationary settlement can be reached without a strike.

"We feel a continuing deep sense of responsibility to further the national effort to combat inflation," said Morris as the talks began. "We want to reach a settlement that will be a part of solution, not a part of the problem."

The union and company negotiators, facing each other across a 52-foot long table in GM's plush new bargaining suite, opened the talks with a 4 X 5-foot cake presented by the union's "30 and out" committee.

The white and blue frosting spelled out one of the union's demands — a retirement program with a monthly pension of $650 for workers after 30 years of service.

"We want the frosting on the cake," said Henry Oginsky, financial secretary for UAW Local 596 in Flint, Mich.

The continuing government control on wages and prices has eliminated much of the strike atomosphere that surrounded contract talks in 1970. Those did not end until after the union had closed GM with a crippling 67-day strike.

Coming into today's talks, UAW President Leonard Woodcock has said there is no need for a strike this year. Auto industry negotiators agree, but admit there could be one if the union remains as adamant in the talks as it has been in public on one key non-economic issue—voluntary overtime.

Woodcock has warned of a possible walkout over that issue, saying negotiators should not take an "over-our-dead body" stand on voluntary overtime.

Negotiators are almost certain Phase III wage guidelines calling for wage and fringe benefit increases not to exceed 5.5 per cent will be continued. That guideline has been flexible with most settlements this year in the 6-to-7 per cent range.

They key issues outlined in six months of saber rattling on both sides include:

Voluntary overtime. The union wants each worker to have the talks began. "We want to reach a settlement that will be a part of solution, not a part of the problem."

The union and company negotiators, facing each other across a 52-foot long table in GM's plush new bargaining suite, opened the talks with a 4 X 5-foot cake presented by the union's "30 and out" committee.

Improvement in the "30- and-out" retirement program with the pension increasing to $650 per month with no penalty for retirement before age 56.

Company-paid dental care.

Improvement in the cost-of-living clause to more accurately reflect price rises.

Strengthened layoff benefits.

In-plant health and safety programs jointly administered by the union and companies.

Dollar Up In Tokyo But Falls In Europe

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar dropped in value today when the European money markets opened and the downward trend worsened as the day wore on. The dollar was up in Tokyo, reflecting its instability.

Trading was light and the amounts of the dollar's fall were small. But the troubled American currency slipped slightly in Germany, France, Belgium, Britain and on just about every other European foreign currency exchange.

"At present the dollar is simply unstable," said a banking official in Paris.

It bought between 4.07 and 4.085 francs in Paris this afternoon, down from the morning opening of 4.09 to 4.1050 francs. The dollar slipped to 2.3625 marks at the Frankfurt official price fixing, down from 2.3730 in the morning. In Belgium it fell to 25.90 Belgian francs from the opening rate of 36.375.

London dealers said all European markets were "exceptionally quiet."

In Tokyo, however, the U.S. dollar edged up against the floating yen in fairly active trading. The dollar closed at 265.08 yen, compared with Friday's close of 264.95 yen. The median today was 265.05 compared with Friday's 265.00, more on 138

In London the pound cost $2.4375 at the opening of trading today, fractionally more than the $2.5430 it cost Friday night.

The gold price eased slightly in London in early trading. It was quoted at $120.50 an ounce, half a dollar below Friday's $121.

In Tokyo, Secretary of State William Rogers sought Japanese cooperation today in solving world oil, currency and trade problems. But Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira in turn told the United States to do a better job of managing its own economy.

Ohira was angered, conference sources said, by U.S. moves to restrict exports of soybeans and lumber to Japan and worried about American inflation.

Pointing to Japan's "voluntary" restraints in shipments of steel and textiles to the United States, Ohira said: "We would ask that the U.S. market does not become more closed than it is now."

Dr. A Scrapes Through Again With Help From Her Friends

Marin County Public Health Officer Carolyn Albrecht has managed to scrape through another one — with a lot of help from her friends.

"Another one" is, of course, her handling of the recent horse rabies case in Nicasio and the public's right and need to know.

Dr. A, as she is referred to by her friends, learned of the rabid horses and the human exposure to the disease on June 30.

NOT UNTIL four days later, July 3, was there any public hint of the case. That occurred when Supervisor Peter Arrigoni asked why Dr. Albrecht's office had refused to discuss the case with a friend who is active in horse circles.

Arrigoni called the health department's actions strange and urged the widest possible publicity to the upsurge in rabies in Marin.

COUNTY COUNSEL Douglas J. Maloney explained that he had directed health department employees not to discuss the case because of possible litigation.

Several hours later, Dr. Albrecht hid behind Maloney's legal shield when asked by a reporter why as public health officer she had neglected to make public a matter of public health.

At Maloney's direction, she could not discuss the case, Dr. Albrecht replied.

ALL VERY NEAT, except for one thing. Maloney did not impose the blackout until Monday morning. She knew of it two days before that when there was nothing to stop her from passing on the word to the public.

Nothing except Dr. Albrecht's aversion to informing the press and public fully and completely on important matters of public health.

Take for example the Meadowsweet milk case of 1967.

IT WAS NOT learned until a week after the fact that five Marin and 25 Sonoma county families, as well as children at a Sonoma school and personnel at a military base had become ill from a batch of bad milk, which caused nausea and vomiting.

Dr. Albrecht and her counterpart in Sonoma County refused to tell the press or concerned public the names and locations of the offending dairy or milk processing plant.

Not until four days later, following a meeting with County Counsel Maloney, did Dr. Albrecht relent and name the dairy, saying she believed the disclosure to be "in the public interest."

ANOTHER EXAMPLE of Dr. Albrecht's attempts at censorship came in March when health officials reported a rabid cow had been destroyed in Nicasio.

While they acknowledged that there had been human exposure to the disease, they refused — under Dr. Albrecht's orders — to disclose any additional information.

Once again Maloney was called on.

HE ORDERED THE release of some information such as the number of persons undergoing anti-rabies treatment and the name and location of the ranch where the cow was found.

However, he said Dr. Albrecht had every right to withhold the names of those involved because to release them might violate a doctor-patient confidentiality that she had established while acting as a "consultant" to private physicians in the case.

There are other examples involving Dr. Albrecht, and no doubt will be more in the future — with a little help from her friends.

MELVIN MADDOCKS

Snobs Do Some Strange Things Like Idolizing Cans Of Soup

It was the crusty old patriarch of sociology, Thorstein Veblen, who nearly 75 years ago coined the phrase "conspicuous consumption" — a term that has seemed to explain its fair share of goings-on in the United States ever since. Those natives and outsiders who still think of Americans as plain, practical people bent only on lives of simple utility don't understand the half of it.

Looking about him at the Gilded Age, Veblen pronounced the Great American Paradox: The less a possession is actually needed, the more it is valued. One goes without eating to buy the car one can't afford. Why? To prove one can afford it. Alas, who needs illustrations in a land where prestige itself seems to come on the installment plan? Still, one wishes that Veblen were here today to explain in his slightly baroque but witty prose the phenomenon of the Cartier tank watch.

ONCE UPON a time, many wars ago — it was World War I, in fact — Louis Cartier designed a watch to present to the American Expeditionary Force's Tank Corps officers for their help in defending France against the Germans. The square 18-karat gold case was designed to show at least a geometrical resemblance to 1917 tanks. The face is white with dark blue Roman numerals. The stem involves a sapphire. The strap is baby lizard. As elegantly snappy as a French military salute, the Cartier tank watch seemed perfectly in style for what it was.

Then at some mysterious point, for some mysterious reason, the Cartier tank watch changed from a gesture of national gratitude to a gesture of international chic. What do Sir Winston Churchill, King Farouk, Truman Capote, Hermann Goering, and Jackie Onassis have in common? They have all, at one time or another, owned at least one Cartier tank watch. Capote has confessed to owning eight —at $900 apiece.

W, THE WEEKLY paper of Women's Wear Daily, quotes Helen Gurley Brown as saying: "Buying this watch was unabashed, unmitigated, and unequivocal status-symboling on my part. I don't think status symbols are bad if they are as beautiful and well made as the tank watch. I really don't wear it to tell time. Half the time I don't even wind it."

Old Thorstein would have had a field trip with that quote.

Andy Warhol, on the other hand, has decided that the tank-watch elite is turning into a crowd: "Frankly, I'm embarrassed there are so many around. I've had mine a long time, but I also own a Timex."

THE AVANT-GARDE ticks on.

But the Cartier tank watch has suffered worse than a host of late strappers-on. The Kenton Corporation, which owns the Cartier stores in the U.S., has — horrors of horrors! — manufactured a tank watch copy that costs only $150, or $25 less than the strap alone on the model imitated.

Prestige off the assembly line.

Will the elite follow Andy Warhol to Timex, assuming that a man who could make a Campbell soup can a collector's item deserves watching? Or will the Ingersoll Buck watch (so named for its price) return as the connoisseur's timepiece? Perhaps the grandfather watch is due for revival, if the clothing industry can afford the pockets. There is no telling what turns snobbery or nostalgia will take next. Maybe even scuba divers' watches, with a depth gauge built in.

SNOBBERY, WROTE George Santayana, haunts those who are not reconciled with themselves. Well, the quote will do for those who can't —or won't —afford a Cartier tank watch, or even the copy.

Less subtler snobs take comfort —a snob hides somewhere in the best of us —there is the story told by Arthur Koestler about a young lady and her Picasso. When she believed it was a limited-edition etching, she hung the prize above her mantel. When she was told it was just an ordinary print, she took it down hastily and exiled it to a staircase.

Thorstein Veblen would have laughed himself silly on that story too.

'Super Slot' Will Pay $1 Million

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Would you pump $10 into a one-armed bandit with a chance to win a $1 million jackpot at odds of roughly 25 billion-to-one?

Nevada slot machine king Si Redd says you will and he's betting $150,000 on it.

Redd, president of the Bally Distributing Co. here, is readying the world's largest slot machine with the biggest payoff ever.

Dubbed "Super Bertha," it will pay $1 million to the lucky $10 bettor who cranks up the right combination of symbols for eight of its eight, 20-character reels.

And if you don't feel like playing 10 Eisenhower dollars at once, the machine will play lesser amounts of say, $100,000 or even $500,000 for the right combinations on smaller bets.

The payoffs will dwindle down to a few dollars, depending on how much is bet and the symbols that show up on the reels.

Standing six feet tall and 10 feet long, the giant slot machine uses a five horse power electric motor to power the 20-inch wide, chain-driven reels.

Redd says he will have invested nearly $150,000 in designing and engineering the machine before it is put into play later this year. Several casinos are interesting in housing "Super Bertha" and Redd expects to get his investment back in a year and a half.

Although the odds against hitting the million dollar jackpot are immense, Redd says it's always possible "that the first $10 played that first night, someone will hit it."

And even if the million dollar payoff is made, Redd says it will be good for business. "Look how much more play you'd get if someone hits it," he says.

Redd went to work on "Super Bertha" after watching the success of his 70 "Big Bertha" slot machines, six-foot tall multi-reelers that require a dollar or more a pull.

The same principle that attracted players to "Big Bertha" will work on "Super Bertha" he feels.

"There's no question they are kind of fun to play," he says, "and, after all, people that play these things are kind of showoffs. They like to get an audience.

"And they do pretty good financially for poor old Si, too," he adds.

"Super Bertha" will be placed in a casino under a five-year contract, with Bally and the casino sharing in winnings and payoffs.

The law of probability is that the one particular winning combination will come up once in 25 billion plays, Redd says. "But who's to know? On our first $5,000 machine, somebody hit it the first night."

It's just that mystique that Redd feels will attract slot machine players to "Super Bertha."

College Lectures To Be Concluded

Lectures by an assistant professor at St. Louis University and an associate professor from Stanford University will conclude the July lecture series at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Dr. John Carlson, who teaches philosophy at the St. Louis school, will speak on the contributions contemporary philosophic methods can make to the development of religious thought. His talk will be next Monday at 7 p.m. in Pennafort Hall on the Dominican campus.

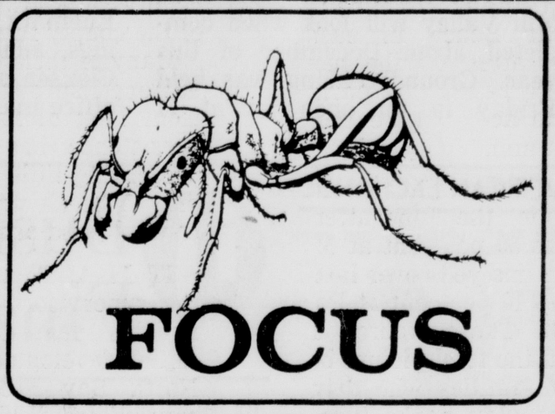
Dr. Roxane Witke, an associate professor of history at Stanford, will speak on the subject of women in China. Her presentation will be July 25, also at 7 p.m. in Pennafort Hall.

The free lectures are the final two in a series of five presented at the college throughout July.

Locked Car Stolen From A Carport

A 1970 Buick Skylark was stolen from the carport of an apartment building at 30 Via Belardo Greenbrae some time Friday evening, reported Larkspur police.

Erika Graef Schubert told police she locked the car at 8 p.m. Friday, and found it gone at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Police said the steering column was locked in addition to the doors. The car is bronze with a brown vinyl roof and carries Texas license plates number LJW 705.



FOCUS

Burning Problem

In the 55 years since it first appeared in the U.S., the tropical fire ant has become a menace to people and wildlife in some areas. Its painful burning stings result in blisters. About 10,000 cases each year are serious enough to require a doctor's care. Individuals who receive multiple stings or are allergic to the venom may require hospitalization. Fire ant colonies live in mounds as high as 3 feet, filled with as many as 100,000 ants. A mound can be destroyed by treating it with mirex, which kills the queen, larva, and small workers. With the queen dead, the colony will die off in 2 or 3 weeks.

DO YOU KNOW — Where in the U.S. is the fire ant found?

FRIDAY'S ANSWER — The Bastille was taken in 1789.

Uphill Battle For More Elbow Room

The steadily increasing use of county parks like Paradise Beach near Tiburon and McNear Beach in east San Rafael attest to the need for close-in, beachfront parks that provide active recreation such as swimming and picknicking.

With the summer crunch still to come, the June attendance was up 50 per cent at McNear Beach this year over last June, and up 10 per cent at Paradise Beach. These figures do not reflect the total picture because many families who drive into the popular parks turn away voluntarily when they find the parking lots jammed to capacity. Almost every weekend, the swimming pool at McNear is so crowded with splashing youngsters that the county parks and recreation officials periodically clear the pool of children to give their parents a chance for a dip.

RELIEF FOR some of the turnaway crowds will be coming soon from the acquisition and development of the North Bay Front Park north of the Civic Center, for which $940,000 were allocated last month by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

While the allocation does not include funds for a proposed 50-meter pool at the new park, it will provide some organized activity such as tennis courts, boatlaunching and picnicking.

THE DRIVING FORCE behind the continuing campaign to acquire and develop these recreation facilities is Pierre W. Joske and his County Parks and Recreation Department. Joske and his staff keep plugging away each year, searching for state and federal matching funds to finance new acquisitions and pleading with the county supervisors for a share of the county funds.

Many of their proposals have suffered setbacks, primarily from lack of funds, but their persistence has succeeded in preserving little islands of respite to break up the sprawl of concrete and asphalt.

IT IS ALSO to the credit of the supervisors that they saw fit this year to finance the initial development of the new North Bay Front Park. The supervisors displayed foresight in resisting the move earlier this year to consolidate parks and recreation with the Department of Public Works and the Planning Department. Such an assimilation would have relegated the small parks and recreation department to a minor role, and Joske's plea for recreation might have been silenced by the demands of the larger departments.

The value of recreation is difficult to measure in dollars and cents, particularly because many of its long-term benefits are not readily apparent. How mauch value can one place on the opportunity for adults to unwind from tensions of work and congested urban living and for children to exhaust their energies in the sand, water and open spaces instead of inside city quarters or on street corners?

WE NEED A strong and independent parks and recreation department to preserve for public use the few remaining open spaces along Marin's waterfront and to insure for its citizens mental and spiritual health to match its economic affluence.

An Evil Omen

A growing flock of maybe a dozen crows has made its home in our little dale, an offshoot of the Ross Valley, for the past several years. These birds make their nests in the live oaks near the top of a ridge. In the Orient, such neighbors would be upsetting because crows are harbingers of death in Chinese folklore. Like most folklore, it contains a grain of truth. A big item in the crow's diet is carrion and, like most carrion-feeders, the crow has a keen sense of smell to help it locate its food.

And someday someone in our little valley will die. Then the survivors can gather in clusters and mutter that the superstition was right.

BRIDGE DIRECTORS

$1 Million For Barrier But No More For Buses

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Thanks to the twisted logic of Golden Gate Bridge District directors, local bus service in Marin faces drastic cuts at the same time the directors are plunging ahead to build an absurdly expensive suicide barrier on the bridge.

The board apparently finds it more important to milk the county for its few dollars than to provide needed bus service. Everything else, no matter how broad or obvious its public benefit, is pushed aside to get the barrier built. If the public interest gets in the way, that's tough.

AT ISSUE IS the district's demand that the county pay for passengers who ride transbay buses but get on and off within Marin. No matter that the buses run anyway, that local riders simply increase the district's revenue and that they fill otherwise empty seats.

The county, at the mercy of the bridge board, is headed for total capitulation. The result will be that to pay the bill ($171,000 this past fiacal year) the county will be too short of funds to pay for existing local bus service.

The only alternative will be to slash the local service.

The suicide barrier, incidentally, will cost nearly $1 million. That would buy a lot of local bus service.

SAN FRANCISCO Supervisor Dianne Feinstein, criticed here last month for endorsing a move to kill the bridge district's ferry system, has asked us to "correct the record."

Mrs. Feinstein, who is seeking reelection and enjoyed financial support from Marinites four years ago, would like everyone to know that she subsequently removed her name from the resolution aimed at sinking the fleet.

The author of the resolution, San Francisco Supervisor Robert Gonzales, commenting on her change of heart, blamed it on her "back trouble."

RETIRED AIR FORCE Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, formerly a loyal member of the Reagan administration as director of general services, has resurfaced as an ardent campaign worker for San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto.

Lolli, once stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, returned to Marin briefly last week for a breakfast with local Democrats being organized for Alioto's drive for governor.

THE STARTLING proposals by the Environmental Protection Agency to clean up the Bay Area's air pollution seem to have most everyone tied up in a terrible snit. Especially over the proposal to cut mileage driven in the region by 84 per cent over the next four years.

It might put the proposals in the right perspective, however, to underscore their basis. As put by the agency's regional administrator, Paul De Falco, "it is the protection of public health we are talking about."

That should make the alternative — carrying on as we have for years — pretty unattractive to anyone who has to inhale.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

San Diego Sheriff Has Control Of Jail

I have just finished reading your editorial of Tuesday, May 22, 1973, "Why New Department to Operate Jail?"

It gives me great concern and a sense of foreboding that the supervisors should propose such a system and negate the Sheriff's authority and responsibility. I would like to correct your statement that San Diego County has such a system. The San Diego County Jail has always been, and is still the responsibility of the Sheriff.

Perhaps you are making reference to the San Diego County Honor Camps, which is a separate county organization which has just weathered its second grand jury investigation in a period of three years. This resulted in the transfer of the Honor Camps from an independent status to that of a subsidiary of the County Probation Department.

I would further agree with the letter to the editor from Patricia Y. Dunlap, as I think her conclusions are well founded in fact. My condolences to citizens of Marin County.

Grant Pay Increase To Fairfax Police

Somebody once remarked that Fairfax council meetings were "the best (funniest) free show in town." As a resident of Fairfax for the past ten years, and a very satisfied one, by and large, I must admit that I have frequently, ruefully repeated that observation. However, I mostly meant "funny: peculiar", not "funny: 'ha ha' ".

The foregoing is prompted by the current budget hearings, most especially as they relate to the pay rates of our policemen.

I do not presume to imply that our councilmen do not have many difficult decisions to make as concern priorities, particularly now that they must take definitive actions about where the famous revenue-sharing monies will be used.

However, when one knows that the budget as originally presented proposed spending in the neighborhood of $74,000 to refurbish what I agree is a unique building (the pavilion) in this next fiscal year, it makes it difficult to understand the reasoning by which the present town government can at the same connjure up a picture of the town's "gloomy financial picture" with the hint that meeting police requests for a raise might result in a tax increase (a sure way to cause many citizens to oppose it). Granted, the total of $74,000 was reduced at a recent budget hearing, by splitting the costs of construction between the upcoming and the subsequent fiscal years.

Still, a little simple arithemtic, based on the figures presented in last night's Nels Johnson story (Thursday, July 12), would seem to indicate the following. There are eleven policemen involved. They are asking for $30 per month apiece increase simply to bring them to the average of what is paid other policemen in this county. This would amount to $3,960 annually for the whole force of eleven men. Fairfax has about 7,500 residents. Just what would any tax increase have to amount to in order to provide this small annual amount? As I see it — about 52 cents per year, if everyone in town were assessed eaually. Surely no one should object to that, even if the money had to come from such sources.

I'd just like to add that although I have never been lucky enough to be in the position of an employer, I find no difficulty in understanding that it is just good common sense to realize that if a company, or a municipality, offers only the minimum wages for like work, there must be a rapid turnover of personnel. Naturally, people without experience are less likely to be hired by anyone than those who can show a year's in-the-field work elsewhere when applying for a higher paid job. It just doesn't make good common or fiscal sense, in my view, to expect to hold people of high caliber and experiece if they can do better elsewhere. Dedication to good law enforcement principles may inspire young men to want to enter that field, but as time passes, their other human considerations (like their own families) must also be weighed.

I hope that at the budget meeting of 16th July the town council of Fairfax will find a way to giving favorable response to our policemen's requests — every budget has some "fat" in it, and it strikes me that law enforcement personnel should not have to subsist on bare bones.

Supervisors Ignore Sheriff's Requests

I have been amazed in the past by some of the actions of the Board of Supervisors, but no more so than its latest fiasco.

The Sheriff yesterday (July 10) requested permission to hire more deputies to fill existing vacancies; the Board denied the request. The Sheriff had previously advised the Board that, due to the establishment of a so-called Department of Corrections, he would not need additional staff at this time. However, since the Board has seen fit to ignore its obligations and commitments, and has chosen to play Russian roulette with the taxpayers safety in the throne room, it is my belief that Sheriff Mountanos has made this request to provide taxpayers of Marin County the bare minimum of deputies needed to adequately police our county.

As a result of this denial, the Sheriff has been forced to put his men working in the jail on a six day week, and the deputies at the Honor Farm will be working 10 hours a day, 6 days a week.

It is inconceivable to me that a Board could grant itself a raise approximating 27 per cent, hire an "assistant" for Giacomini at over $10,000 a year, and then place the added burden of excessive overtime paid to the deputies on an already strained budget which had been pared to the bone, in order to feed an inept, poorly managed Probation Department with one of the poorest records of efficiency in the State of California.

Receiving approximately three times the money allotted to the Sheriff's Department and the District Attorney's office combined, the Probation Department now would like to assume still more of the Sheriff's Department duties in direct violation of California Codes.

It is possible that we may lose many fine officers to other departments as a result of the Board's playing politics instead of looking out for the interests of we who pay their inflated salaries and expenses.

Secret (until now) negotiations with the Deputy Sheriff's Association and Mr. Campanella, the assistant county administrator, have resulted in the county's agreeing to only a 2½ per cent raise for the deputies. This, after all county employees except the deputies received 5 per cent raises recently. Mr. Campanella has remarked that the deputies were in the top 20 paywise, but when he was through with them, they would be in the bottom 10. This seems to be the county's official attitude toward the Sheriff's Department. I don't think the public would agree.

It is possible that Mr. Campanella and the Board would like to turn Marin County into another Berkeley, or force us to experience a crisis as recently suffered by Ann Arbor, Michigan?

I say we need our Sheriff's Department more than we need either this present Board of Supervisors or a Department of Corrections.

Labor Strikes Are Vanishing In Favor Of Bargaining Table

STRIKES DISTASTEFUL to labor! The biggest development on the labor-management horizon is that the strike is becoming increasingly unsatisfactory to the leaders of the big unions. They don't like striking. They are beginning to counsel against striking. They see it disappearing almost entirely.

Says AFL-CIO President George Meany: "Strikes of people getting $7,000 a year or more just don't make sense."

Says I.W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers: "Chances are good that all issues will be resolved at the bargaining table."

SAYS WILLIAM E. Simkin, former director of the Federal Mediation Service: "The exercise of the right to strike is increasingly distasteful." He cites two reasons:

1 — All too often the gains are substantially less than the cost.

2 — Unions no longer need to strike to prove labor is a potent force.

Quite properly, labor will insist on keeping the right to strike and the right to threaten to strike, but it now appears that most major strikes are going to fade from the labor-management scene.

SEN. SAM ERVIN and his false precedent. In his comment on President Nixon's refusal to appear before the Senate Watergate committee to testify and answer questions, Chairman Ervin said, in effect, why not, President Lincoln did.

President Lincoln did no such thing. Mrs. Lincoln had been accused of treasonable "communication with the enemy" during the Civil War. Lincoln appeared uninvited and without advance notice before a Senate committee, stated it wasn't true and left. He volunteered no other information, answered no questions.

If that is a precedent and Mr. Nixon acted in accord with that precedent, no one would be more furious than Senator Ervin and his colleagues.

DEMOCRATS DIVIDE on wanting President Nixon to resign. For different reasons, a majority of Democrats in Congress do not want the President to quit.

Some hope he will stick it out because they think it will be easier to win in 1976 with Mr. Nixon than with Agnew in the White House. Others think that with Mr. Nixon remaining in office, Congress will be in a better position to recapture its eroded powers.

WHAT PEKING THINKS of European Detente. It is not very complimentary.

The Chinese contend that the Soviets ought not to be trusted, and if Peking has any influence on the national European Security Confernce, it will be on the side of: BEWARE.

Significantly, from the beginning of the Helsinki meeting of the East-West foreign ministers, there was an empty chair. Little Monaco and Vatican City and Liechtenstein were there. But not Albania, the Communist East European nation which spurns Moscow and embraces Peking.

ALBANIA STAYED away because it wanted to show its sympathy and support for the foreign policy of the People's Republic of China. China and Albania want no part of European-Soviet detente because the cozier things become along Russia's European frontier, the easier it is for the Soviets to concentrate their troops on the Russo-Chinese frontier.

Peking is not agreeable.

ARAB LEADERS finding Soviets untrustworthy. That is, they are beginning to feel that Moscow is not a secure ally. In all the Arab countries, the Brezhnev-Nixon cordiality continues to be viewed with anxiety. This anxiety is increased by the Soviet willingness to permit increased exodus of Jews to Israel.

The head of the Libyan government put it bluntly: "What is the use of Soviet friendship and assistance if the Soviet Union continues to provide our enemy with human resources?" That is, with more manpower. The official Algerian press terms Soviet Jewish emigration policy an "instrument of Zionist aims."

Without Russia as a secure Arab ally, the danger of renewed war in the Middle East is greatly reduced.

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

He Lectures On Work Ethic From Luxurious San Clemente

WASHINGTON — Thoughts while cursing the porch lamp into place although the holes are a quarter-inch out of line; reinforcing the post under the back steps where it is wet-rotted at its concrete footing; digging up a dead evergreen beside the back steps and planting a clump of mint in its place; scraping paint off the windowsills; cleaning out the gutters; worrying about how to revive the maple that is dying by the front curb; pruning the cherry tree off the power line; discovering the dishwasher is not washing although it sounds like it is; putting the blinds back up after the kitchen is painted; wondering what's eating the squash vines; making trips to the hardware store for lumber, sticky paper, paint and a propane flask, and writing a long series of checks connected therewith.

IT'S NICE OUT there at San Clemente this time of year. By now the morning fog burns off early, and the sun is hot but the humidity is low, and when sunset comes you feel the weather has been putting energy in instead of draining it out of you.

It seems a lot of trouble for him to come all the way back to Washington after only 18 days out there, when the main activity back here is planning for the next trip out there. That will be around mid-August, when he will go out and stay through Labor Day.

WHEN HE IS back out there, I guess the main activity will be drawing up his Labor Day statement. The last couple of years, it has been about the good old American work ethic. In 1971, it came right after he finally put on economic controls, and he had a good word for "some degree of sacrifice, some inconvenience and some belt-tightening . . ." That one was issued from Camp David. Then last year he was out at San Clemente, I remember.

"The work ethic tells us that there is really no such thing as 'something for nothing,' and that everything valuable in life requires some striving and some sacrifice," he advised. "The welfare ethic, on the other hand, suggests that there is an easier way. It says that the good life can be made available to everyone right now, and that this can be done by the government . . .

"THE WORK ETHIC builds character and self-reliance, the welfare ethic destroys character and leads to a vicious cycle of dependency. The work ethic builds strong people. The welfare ethic breeds weak people . . ."

The truth of that is only now sinking in. Just for the sake of wondering, I wonder if he would have colluded in and/or shrugged at so much burglary, lying, fraud, influence peddling, wiretapping, obstruction of justice and so forth, if he had been under the strengthening influence of doing his own yard work and carpentry during his formative years at the White House, Camp David, Key Biscayne, Grand Cay and San Clemente?

I doubt it.

AT SAN CLEMENTE, even as he was preaching sacrifice and belt-tightening for the rest of us, he was practicing the welfare ethic for himself — at least the part that says the good life can be made available right now, and this can be done by the government.

The government was putting in for him shrubbery, trees and bluegrass sod; installing a heating system, swimming pool cleaner, two flagpoles and an icemaking machine; furnishing his den, and doing a lot of other things you can't expect a man to do for himself on $200,000 a year plus expenses.

AS HE HIMSELF said, the welfare ethic suggests there is an easier way. It destroys character and breeds weak people. And once character is destroyed by acceptance of welfare, especially in such Pentagonian sums, a man sees nothing wrong with each day's assortment of other felonies and misdemeanors.

Whimsy, perhaps. But as this stream of consciousness has flowed from trivia about one man's back-yard squash plants to the hard facts about San Clemente, so the web of scandal has broadened — from its abstract beginnings about stealing privacy and elections, to its later disclosures about misuse of money and property bearing clearly visible dollar signs.

And it may be this development that finally brings the truth of the sordid whole home to the American majority — the majority that was doing and paying for its own home improvements, practicing the work ethic, long before the squire of San Clemente started trading on it.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 16, 1963

Walter R. Castro, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, died of a heart attack in San Rafael General Hospital, where he was recovering from surgery for amputation of both legs.

The six members of the Tamalpais Fire Department all resigned after the district board refused to remove Fire Chief Herbert Cwen.

20 YEARS AGO

July 16, 1953

A proposed Marin County budget of $5,885,810, calling for an 82-cent tax rate increase to a total of $2.56 per $100 assessed valuation, was presented by County Auditor Leon A. de Lisle.

Novato Community Inc. proposed that Novato become an incorporated city.

Filipinos Profiting From Chinese Trade

MANILA (UPI) — Trade with China has shifted heavily in favor of the Philippines since the two countries began trading last year. From May 19, 1972 to May 30, 1973, Philippine exports to mainland China totaled $23,508,550 while imports amounted to $19,352,020.

The Philippines have no diplomatic relations with the Peking government. But a government decision last year to trade with all Socialist countries enabled Filipinos to do business with China.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Firms Quickly Use New Dividend Rule

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. How many companies used the newly liberalized dividend rules? — O.J.

A. A comparison of dividend announcements in the five trading sessions preceding and the five trading sessions following the new guidelines show a definite pattern of higher distributions. Prior to the Committee on Interest and Dividends' announcement, only 12.5 per cent of the companies declaring dividends increased, initiated or paid extras, and these larger payments were only 17.8 per cent higher. By way of contrast, in the next five trading days, 24 per cent of the dividend declarations were at a more liberal rate.

Under the new guidelines a corporation may lift its payout — the percentage of earnings distributed to shareholders in dividends — up to a ceiling determined by averaging the payout during the 1968-1972 base period. In the first quarter dividends averaged 43 per cent of earnings vs. an average 54 per cent in the '68-'72 base period.

Q. We bought 200 shares of Beneficial Standard Corp. (OTC) with money I saved while still working. In the time it took for these shares to be delivered the stock fell from $31 to $19 and it is still dropping What should I do with these shares? The dividend is so small it doesn't amount to anything. — C.K.

A. At today's trading levels, your shares return more than 6 per cent, a generous yield. Nonetheless your capital has depreciated from $6,200 in 1964 (the last time this issue traded at that price) to $1,400 currently. At currently depressed levels, these shares are trading well below equity value per share. Insurance stocks, which peaked out in 1964, recently were hard hit in the market by the Equity Funding scandal. As a result, insurance shares are distinct underperformers. Hold.

Wall Street Opens Mixed

NEW YORK (UPI) — With many investors sitting on the sidelines, prices were mixed in early trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. Volume was light.

There were reports early in the day that President Nixon, despite his hospitalization for pneumonia, would reveal some guidelines this week for his Phase IV economic plans.

Analysts said many investors retreated to the sidelines to await any pronouncements. Oil stocks generally dropped on reports the new plan would contain stiff restrictions on sales.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Fashion Fabrics was the most active issue.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By WAT TAKESHITA

Architect Opens Special Firm To Help Do-It-Yourselfers

"House Doctor", a new firm that specializes in helping the do-it-yourselfer make house and garden improvements, opened last week at 2300 Bridgeway in Sausalito, near the Bay Area model.

It is the brainchild of Eugene Wedell of Sausalito, who has been an architect for 22 years, the last 15 years in Marin. Associated with him is a young Vietnam veteran, Bob Presley of San Rafael.

Anyone who wants to build an addition to the home, make alterations, or add something to the garden can get advice and technical help from the House Doctor.

Wedell said he got the idea for his new business during his long experience as an architect. "I ran across many problems on drainage, leakage, exterior finish, plumbing and repair work around homes where the do-it-yourselfer knew what to do in general but needed technical tips to complete the job. These do-it-yourselfers can call us to get advice on any building problem in the home or yard."

The House Doctor can help plan a project, then make periodic checks during the progress of the project or whenever the homeowner runs into a problem.

Wedell Sargent

DR. EDWARD C. SARGENT Jr., former volunteer medical director of Planned Parenthood in San Rafael, was appointed assistant director of clinical research at Ortho Research Foundation in New Jersey.

Ortho has large research laboratories devoted to studying problems of preventing pregnancy.

WALTER CARMI, who has 25 years of experience in advertising art, just opened a free-lance advertising art studio at 100 Bayo Vista Way in San Rafael, above the Miracle Mile.

Carmi creates designs for product packaging, stationery, logotypes, and various promotional campaigns for public agencies and private enterprise. He is the one who designed the package for Swingline staples.

Carmi's aim is to get a Marin clientele of medium-sized manufacturing or business firms that need constant attention in publicizing and merchandising their products.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Carmi came to New York 14 years ago and set up a studio on Madison Avenue. After 10 years there, he decided "to escape the big rat race" and moved his business to Albuquerque, New Mexico, before coming to San Rafael last month.

Carmi said he is enchanted with culturally-conscious Marin and hopes to serve its business community with tasteful and effective advertising art.

BEE MARKS of Mill Valley has been promoted from account supervisor to vice president-public relations at Botsford Ketchum Ins. in San Francisco.

Mrs. Marks is responsible for directing BK's consumer food public relations activities and for several of its commodity board clients including The Potato Board, California Raisin Advisory Board, Hawaiian Papaya Administrative Committee and Norway Sardines.

She joined the agency in 1965 and was promoted to account supervisor in 1970.

LOIS McMANUS has joined the real estate brokerage firm of Magic Key, Wrisley-McGinnis & Associates, Realtors, at 469 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Mrs. McManus, a University of California graduate, has been active in volunteer work for our Lady of Mt. Carmel School and worked professionally in television commercials and in fashion coordinating and publicity. She will now devote full time to residential real estate.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC accountants who attended the annual meeting of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants at Lake Tahoe last month included these residents of the San Rafael area: Donald W. Kehoe, Theodore A. Martin and Ronald McLennan.

CITIZENS SAVINGS and Loan Association's San Rafael office at 288 Northgate Shopping Center is now open three evenings a week until 9 p.m. It is open from 9 to 9 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays; 9 to 5 on Mondays and Tuesdays; and 9 to 3 on Saturdays.

To celebrate the new extended hours, Citizens offers customers free copies of "The Guinness Book of World Records", and the office has an exhibit of outstanding athletic achievements including an amusing film review of the American sportsman and sports fan.

DAVID HUNTER, who will be moving to Mill Valley, has joined the creative staff of Foote, Cone & Belding, advertising agency in San Francisco as creative group head.

He transferred from the Foote, Cone & Belding office in Los Angeles.

ROLF G. FROEHLICH of San Anselmo and Rolland R. Pieper of Petaluma won the New York Life Insurance Company Centurion Awards for providing life insurance protection for more than 100 persons in 1972.

Froehlich also received the award last year.

American Motors Lists Sales Gain

SAN FRANCISCO — American Motors' retail passenger car sales in the San Francisco zone for the first six months of 1973 increased 25.9 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Jack O. Polan, zone manager, said AMC dealers delivered 4,736 cars during the six months this year compared with 3,763 last year.

Dr. A Scrapes Through Again With Help From Her Friends

Marin County Public Health Officer Carolyn Albrecht has managed to scrape through another one — with a lot of help from her friends.

"Another one" is, of course, her handling of the recent horse rabies case in Nicasio and the public's right and need to know.

Dr. A, as she is referred to by her friends, learned of the rabid horses and the human exposure to the disease on June 30.

NOT UNTIL four days later, July 3, was there any public hint of the case. That occurred when Supervisor Peter Arrigoni asked why Dr. Albrecht's office had refused to discuss the case with a friend who is active in horse circles.

Arrigoni called the health department's actions strange and urged the widest possible publicity to the upsurge in rabies in Marin.

COUNTY COUNSEL Douglas J. Maloney explained that he had directed health department employees not to discuss the case because of possible litigation.

Several hours later, Dr. Albrecht hid behind Maloney's legal shield when asked by a reporter why as public health officer she had neglected to make public a matter of public health.

At Maloney's direction, she could not discuss the case, Dr. Albrecht replied.

ALL VERY NEAT, except for one thing. Maloney did not impose the blackout until Monday morning. She knew of it two days before that when there was nothing to stop her from passing on the word to the public.

Nothing except Dr. Albrecht's aversion to informing the press and public fully and completely on important matters of public health.

Take for example the Meadowsweet milk case of 1967.

IT WAS NOT learned until a week after the fact that five Marin and 25 Sonoma county families, as well as children at a Sonoma school and personnel at a military base had become ill from a batch of bad milk, which caused nausea and vomiting.

Dr. Albrecht and her counterpart in Sonoma County refused to tell the press or concerned public the names and locations of the offending dairy or milk processing plant.

Not until four days later, following a meeting with County Counsel Maloney, did Dr. Albrecht relent and name the dairy, saying she believed the disclosure to be "in the public interest."

ANOTHER EXAMPLE of Dr. Albrecht's attempts at censorship came in March when health officials reported a rabid cow had been destroyed in Nicasio.

While they acknowledged that there had been human exposure to the disease, they refused — under Dr. Albrecht's orders — to disclose any additional information.

Once again Maloney was called on.

HE ORDERED THE release of some information such as the number of persons undergoing anti-rabies treatment and the name and location of the ranch where the cow was found.

However, he said Dr. Albrecht had every right to withhold the names of those involved because to release them might violate a doctor-patient confidentiality that she had established while acting as a "consultant" to private physicians in the case.

There are other examples involving Dr. Albrecht, and no doubt will be more in the future — with a little help from her friends.

Snobs Do Some Strange Things Like Idolizing Cans Of Soup

It was the crusty old patriarch of sociology, Thorstein Veblen, who nearly 75 years ago coined the phrase "conspicuous consumption" — a term that has seemed to explain its fair share of goings-on in the United States ever since. Those natives and outsiders who still think of Americans as plain, practical people bent only on lives of simple utility don't understand the half of it.

Looking about him at the Gilded Age, Veblen pronounced the Great American Paradox: The less a possession is actually needed, the more it is valued. One goes without eating to buy the car one can't afford. Why? To prove one can afford it. Alas, who needs illustrations in a land where prestige itself seems to come on the installment plan? Still, one wishes that Veblen were here today to explain in his slightly baroque but witty prose the phenomenon of the Cartier tank watch.

ONCE UPON a time, many wars ago — it was World War I, in fact — Louis Cartier designed a watch to present to the American Expeditionary Force's Tank Corps officers for their help in defending France against the Germans. The square 18-karat gold case was designed to show at least a geometrical resemblance to 1917 tanks. The face is white with dark blue Roman numerals. The stem involves a sapphire. The strap is baby lizard. As elegantly snappy as a French military salute, the Cartier tank watch seemed perfectly in style for what it was.

Then at some mysterious point, for some mysterious reason, the Cartier tank watch changed from a gesture of national gratitude to a gesture of international chic. What do Sir Winston Churchill, King Farouk, Truman Capote, Hermann Goering, and Jackie Onassis have in common? They have all, at one time or another, owned at least one Cartier tank watch. Capote has confessed to owning eight —at $900 apiece.

W, THE WEEKLY paper of Women's Wear Daily, quotes Helen Gurley Brown as saying: "Buying this watch was unabashed, unmitigated, and unequivocal status-symboling on my part. I don't think status symbols are bad if they are as beautiful and well made as the tank watch. I really don't wear it to tell time. Half the time I don't even wind it."

Old Thorstein would have had a field trip with that quote.

Andy Warhol, on the other hand, has decided that the tank-watch elite is turning into a crowd: "Frankly, I'm embarrassed there are so many around. I've had mine a long time, but I also own a Timex."

THE AVANT-GARDE ticks on.

But the Cartier tank watch has suffered worse than a host of late strappers-on. The Kenton Corporation, which owns the Cartier stores in the U.S., has — horrors of horrors! — manufactured a tank watch copy that costs only $150, or $25 less than the strap alone on the model imitated.

Prestige off the assembly line.

Will the elite follow Andy Warhol to Timex, assuming that a man who could make a Campbell soup can a collector's item deserves watching? Or will the Ingersoll Buck watch (so named for its price) return as the connoisseur's timepiece? Perhaps the grandfather watch is due for revival, if the clothing industry can afford the pockets. There is no telling what turns snobbery or nostalgia will take next. Maybe even scuba divers' watches, with a depth gauge built in.

SNOBBERY, WROTE George Santayana, haunts those who are not reconciled with themselves. Well, the quote will do for those who can't —or won't —afford a Cartier tank watch, or even the copy.

Less subtler snobs take comfort —a snob hides somewhere in the best of us —there is the story told by Arthur Koestler about a young lady and her Picasso. When she believed it was a limited-edition etching, she hung the prize above her mantel. When she was told it was just an ordinary print, she took it down hastily and exiled it to a staircase.

Thorstein Veblen would have laughed himself silly on that story too.

'Super Slot' Will Pay $1 Million

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Would you pump $10 into a one-armed bandit with a chance to win a $1 million jackpot at odds of roughly 25 billion-to-one?

Nevada slot machine king Si Redd says you will and he's betting $150,000 on it.

Redd, president of the Bally Distributing Co. here, is readying the world's largest slot machine with the biggest payoff ever.

Dubbed "Super Bertha," it will pay $1 million to the lucky $10 bettor who cranks up the right combination of symbols for eight of its eight, 20-character reels.

And if you don't feel like playing 10 Eisenhower dollars at once, the machine will play lesser amounts of say, $100,000 or even $500,000 for the right combinations on smaller bets.

The payoffs will dwindle down to a few dollars, depending on how much is bet and the symbols that show up on the reels.

Standing six feet tall and 10 feet long, the giant slot machine uses a five horse power electric motor to power the 20-inch wide, chain-driven reels.

Redd says he will have invested nearly $150,000 in designing and engineering the machine before it is put into play later this year. Several casinos are interesting in housing "Super Bertha" and Redd expects to get his investment back in a year and a half.

Although the odds against hitting the million dollar jackpot are immense, Redd says it's always possible "that the first $10 played that first night, someone will hit it."

And even if the million dollar payoff is made, Redd says it will be good for business. "Look how much more play you'd get if someone hits it," he says.

Redd went to work on "Super Bertha" after watching the success of his 70 "Big Bertha" slot machines, six-foot tall multi-reelers that require a dollar or more a pull.

The same principle that attracted players to "Big Bertha" will work on "Super Bertha" he feels.

"There's no question they are kind of fun to play," he says, "and, after all, people that play these things are kind of showoffs. They like to get an audience.

"And they do pretty good financially for poor old Si, too," he adds.

"Super Bertha" will be placed in a casino under a five-year contract, with Bally and the casino sharing in winnings and payoffs.

The law of probability is that the one particular winning combination will come up once in 25 billion plays, Redd says. "But who's to know? On our first $5,000 machine, somebody hit it the first night."

It's just that mystique that Redd feels will attract slot machine players to "Super Bertha."

College Lectures To Be Concluded

Lectures by an assistant professor at St. Louis University and an associate professor from Stanford University will conclude the July lecture series at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Dr. John Carlson, who teaches philosophy at the St. Louis school, will speak on the contributions contemporary philosophic methods can make to the development of religious thought. His talk will be next Monday at 7 p.m. in Pennafort Hall on the Dominican campus.

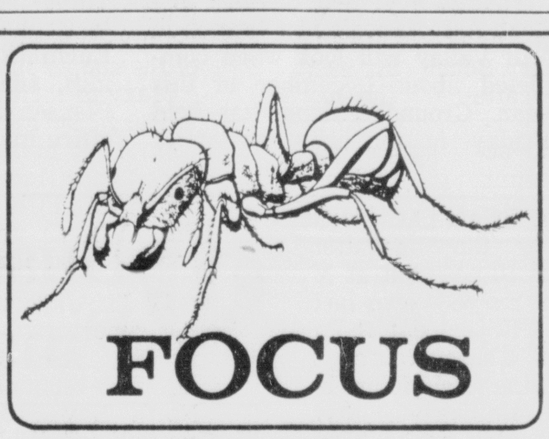
Dr. Roxane Witke, an associate professor of history at Stanford, will speak on the subject of women in China. Her presentation will be July 25, also at 7 p.m. in Pennafort Hall.

The free lectures are the final two in a series of five presented at the college throughout July.

Locked Car Stolen From A Carport

A 1970 Buick Skylark was stolen from the carport of an apartment building at 30 Via Belardo Greenbrae some time Friday evening, reported Larkspur police.

Erika Graef Schubert told police she locked the car at 8 p.m. Friday, and found it gone at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Police said the steering column was locked in addition to the doors. The car is bronze with a brown vinyl roof and carries Texas license plates number LJW 705.



FOCUS

Burning Problem

In the 55 years since it first appeared in the U.S., the tropical fire ant has become a menace to people and wildlife in some areas. Its painful burning stings result in blisters. About 10,000 cases each year are serious enough to require a doctor's care. Individuals who receive multiple stings or are allergic to the venom may require hospitalization. Fire ant colonies live in mounds as high as 3 feet, filled with as many as 100,000 ants. A mound can be destroyed by treating it with mirex, which kills the queen, larva, and small workers. With the queen dead, the colony will die off in 2 or 3 weeks.

DO YOU KNOW — Where in the U.S. is the fire ant found?

FRIDAY'S ANSWER — The Bastille was taken in 1789.

Youth Jobs Plentiful In Sonoma

The summer job picture is brighter than ever for youngsters in Southern Sonoma, according to school officials.

Nearly every youngster who has sought government-sponsored jobs and work in private business has been able to find a position, according to Ned Davis, work-experience coordinator at Petaluma Senior High School.

Bertha Wims, coordinator for the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, said about 80 jobs are still open.

"It's much different than before," Davis said. "We've been able to fill nearly all the needs."

Davis attributed the better job picture to increased government funding for job programs and a greater reliance by private businesses on hiring teenagers.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps jobs pay a minimum wage of $1.65 per hour and are open to youngsters from 14 to 17 years old who are from lower income families. Mrs. Wims said most of the current job openings are for positions in government offices and nonprofit organizations.

Young people who believe they may qualify for the federally-financed program may contact Mrs. Wims at either the Hidden Talent office at Sonoma State College or at Petaluma High School where interviews are held.

Davis said his office has already placed nearly 300 teenagers in a wide variety of jobs. He said pay has ranged from $1.35 to $3 per hour depending on the skill required.

Dance Concert

A free dance concert for San Rafael teen-agers featuring music by "Canyon," will be held Friday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at the Terra Linda Recreation Center. The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the event, according to A. J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation.

Maiden Voyage Is Slated For Howard Hughes' Ship

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — The Hughes Glomar explorer, a deep sea mining ship owned by billionaire recluse Howard Hughes, will make its maiden voyage down the Delaware River this week.

The 618-foot vessel, which contains some of the most sophisticated ocean mining equipment in the world, was built here at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. under a veil of secrecy over the past 19 months.

It is considered one of the "most costly and complex vessels ever built at Sun," a company spokesman said. The ship will be delivered on behalf of its owner, the Hughes Tool Co., Houston, Tex., to Global Marine Inc., Los Angeles, a Hughes-owned deep sea mining subsidiary.

Sun ship officials refused to announce a specific time and departure date for the huge vessel, but indicated it will be sometime next week.

A spokesman at Sun Ship refused to estimate the cost of the vessel but indicated it will run higher than the $40 million figure released by Hughes Tool Co. several months ago.

The spokesman said many of the vessel's parts were fabricated in other areas and sent to Sun Ship for installation.

The ship was designed to perform mining operations at a depth of more than 10,000 feet. Sea mining sources have speculated the vessel will be probing for "manganese nodules," composed of such minerals as copper, nickel and iron. The nodules normally are found at a depth of about 10,000 feet. Manganese is an essential additive in the manufacture of steel and structural metals.

Officials in the Hughes organization, however, will not confirm the speculation and will not give any details of proposed mining operations or the initial docking location of the ship.

A spokesman said there are plans to run some tests off the East Coast, but did not elaborate.

The vessel, powered by a diesel engine, is capable of a speed of 12 knots. It is equipped with a 209-foot-high mining derrick and platform. The upper 35 feet of the platform will have to be disassembled to permit the ship to pass under two bridges on its way to sea. The derrick will be reassembled in the Delaware Bay.

Getty May Pay For Grandson's Return

ROME (UPI) — Oil billionaire J. Paul Getty was reported ready today to pay ransom for the return of his namesake hippie grandson, missing since last week and the object of a "serious" police search.

"He is very worried about this matter and showed the greatest interest in the search," said the youth's mother, Mrs. Gail Getty, who said she spoke with Getty by telephone.

The missing youth, J. Paul Getty III, 17, was reported missing last week by his mother.

Mrs. Getty, who is divorced from the youth's father, J. Paul Getty Jr., said she received a telephone call last Thursday saying her son had been kidnaped and telling her to get money together for a ransom.

Police said young Getty was seen talking with three unidentified youths in Piazza Navona, a favorite meeting place for Roman hippies, just before he disappeared early Tuesday.

The young freckled-faced Getty neither slept nor ate regularly at his mother's home, but stayed with friends who included artists, hippies and young foreign actresses.

Martine and Jutta Zacher, 24-year-old German twins in whose apartment Getty was staying at the time of his disappearance, told police they noticed three "suspicious-looking" men who seemed to be following the youth in a dark car.

Another friend, photographer Carlo Scimone, said Getty pointed the men out to him recently but did not seem to be upset by them, police said. They said they were not sure, however, if the three men were the same youths with whom Getty was talking in the Piazza Navona on Tuesday.

Both Mrs. Getty and police discounted reports that Getty had been seen leaving a yacht at Bastia on the island of Corsica with a young blonde girl.

"I have spoken with all our friends who have yachts and none of them could have taken him on board," Mrs. Getty said. "I doubt he could have rented one either because when he left home Monday night he had only $85 in his pocket."

Budget Approval Before Board

Trustees of the Shoreline Unified School District will consider approval of a publication budget when they meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tomales High School.

Supt. Kenneth E. Barnes said that the budget will be approximately $1,555,000, but that he would not have the exact figure until tomorrow afternoon.

The board will also consider adoption of the argument favoring a $450,000 bond election on Sept. 18 for construction of seven classrooms and a multipurpose room at Tomales Elementary School.

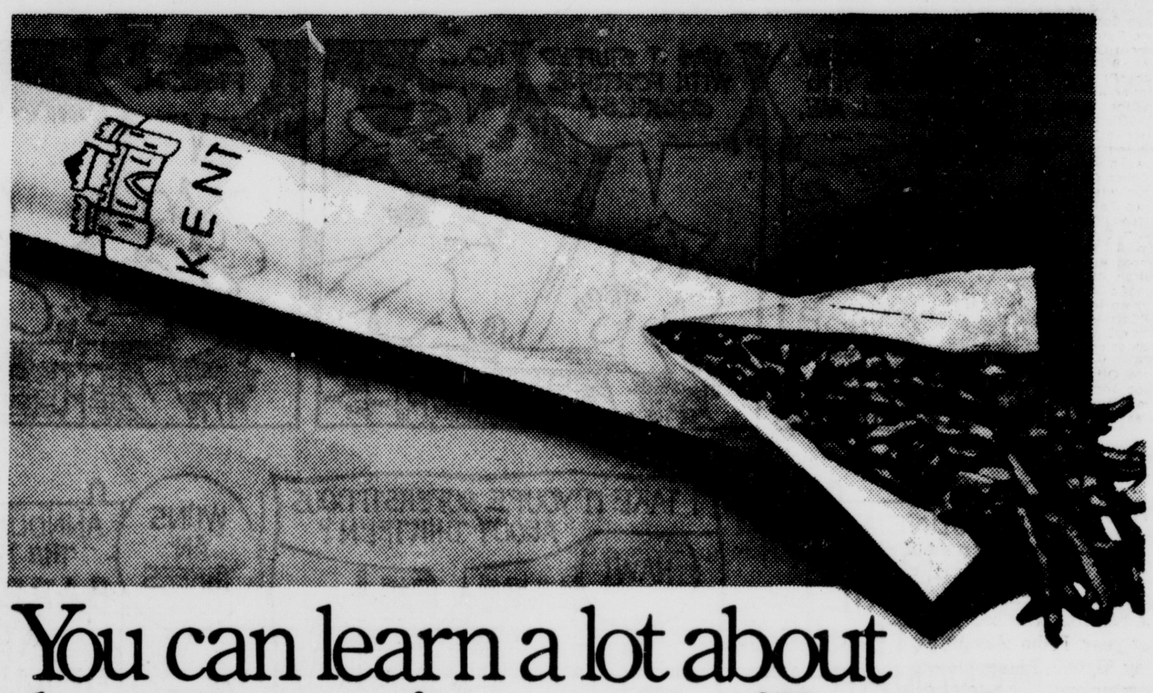
Read the tobacco.



You can learn a lot about how your cigarette will smoke.

Tear open one of your cigarettes.

Look at the shape the tobacco's in.

The shorter and choppier the tobacco, the hotter and faster it's going to smoke.

If your cigarette seems to be long on the "shorts," look into a Kent.

We blend 24 premium tobaccos into Kent and carefully cut them into longer and more uniform strands. These strands intertwine and hold together better.

That way they pack firmer and smoke slower and more evenly.

That's important.

Because with a nice, slow, even burn, you get the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is:

America's quality cigarette.

Mild, smooth taste. Micronite filter. Kent. America's quality cigarette.

Filipinos Profiting From Chinese Trade

MANILA (UPI) — Trade with China has shifted heavily in favor of the Philippines since the two countries began trading last year. From May 19, 1972 to May 30, 1973, Philippine exports to mainland China totaled $23,508,550 while imports amounted to $19,352,020.

The Philippines have no diplomatic relations with the Peking government. But a government decision last year to trade with all Socialist countries enabled Filipinos to do business with China.

Firms Quickly Use New Dividend Rule

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. How many companies used the newly liberalized dividend rules? — O.J.

A. A comparison of dividend announcements in the five trading sessions preceding and the five trading sessions following the new guidelines show a definite pattern of higher distributions. Prior to the Committee on Interest and Dividends' announcement, only 12.5 per cent of the companies declaring dividends increased, initiated or paid extras, and these larger payments were only 17.8 per cent higher. By way of contrast, in the next five trading days, 24 per cent of the dividend declarations were at a more liberal rate.

Under the new guidelines a corporation may lift its payout — the percentage of earnings distributed to shareholders in dividends — up to a ceiling determined by averaging the payout during the 1968-1972 base period. In the first quarter dividends averaged 43 per cent of earnings vs. an average 54 per cent in the '68-'72 base period.

Q. We bought 200 shares of Beneficial Standard Corp. (OTC) with money I saved while still working. In the time it took for these shares to be delivered the stock fell from $31 to $19 and it is still dropping What should I do with these shares? The dividend is so small it doesn't amount to anything. — C.K.

A. At today's trading levels, your shares return more than 6 per cent, a generous yield. Nonetheless your capital has depreciated from $6,200 in 1964 (the last time this issue traded at that price) to $1,400 currently. At currently depressed levels, these shares are trading well below equity value per share. Insurance stocks, which peaked out in 1964, recently were hard hit in the market by the Equity Funding scandal. As a result, insurance shares are distinct underperformers. Hold.

Wall Street Opens Mixed

NEW YORK (UPI) — With many investors sitting on the sidelines, prices were mixed in early trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. Volume was light.

There were reports early in the day that President Nixon, despite his hospitalization for pneumonia, would reveal some guidelines this week for his Phase IV economic plans.

Analysts said many investors retreated to the sidelines to await any pronouncements. Oil stocks generally dropped on reports the new plan would contain stiff restrictions on sales.

Prices were higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Fashion Fabrics was the most active issue.

Architect Opens Special Firm To Help Do-It-Yourselfers

"House Doctor", a new firm that specializes in helping the do-it-yourselfer make house and garden improvements, opened last week at 2300 Bridgeway in Sausalito, near the Bay Area model.

It is the brainchild of Eugene Wedell of Sausalito, who has been an architect for 22 years, the last 15 years in Marin. Associated with him is a young Vietnam veteran, Bob Presley of San Rafael.

Anyone who wants to build an addition to the home, make alterations, or add something to the garden can get advice and technical help from the House Doctor.

Wedell said he got the idea for his new business during his long experience as an architect. "I ran across many problems on drainage, leakage, exterior finish, plumbing and repair work around homes where the do-it-yourselfer knew what to do in general but needed technical tips to complete the job. These do-it-yourselfers can call us to get advice on any building problem in the home or yard."

The House Doctor can help plan a project, then make periodic checks during the progress of the project or whenever the homeowner runs into a problem.

Sargent

DR. EDWARD C. SARGENT Jr., former volunteer medical director of Planned Parenthood in San Rafael, was appointed assistant director of clinical research at Ortho Research Foundation in New Jersey.

Ortho has large research laboratories devoted to studying problems of preventing pregnancy.

WALTER CARMI, who has 25 years of experience in advertising art, just opened a free-lance advertising art studio at 100 Bayo Vista Way in San Rafael, above the Miracle Mile.

Carmi creates designs for product packaging, stationery, logotypes, and various promotional campaigns for public agencies and private enterprise. He is the one who designed the package for Swingline staples.

Carmi's aim is to get a Marin clientele of medium-sized manufacturing or business firms that need constant attention in publicizing and merchandising their products.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Carmi came to New York 14 years ago and set up a studio on Madison Avenue. After 10 years there, he decided "to escape the big rat race" and moved his business to Albuquerque, New Mexico, before coming to San Rafael last month.

Carmi said he is enchanted with culturally-conscious Marin and hopes to serve its business community with tasteful and effective advertising art.

BEE MARKS of Mill Valley has been promoted from account supervisor to vice president-public relations at Botsford Ketchum Ins. in San Francisco.

Mrs. Marks is responsible for directing BK's consumer food public relations activities and for several of its commodity board clients including The Potato Board, California Raisin Advisory Board, Hawaiian Papaya Administrative Committee and Norway Sardines.

She joined the agency in 1965 and was promoted to account supervisor in 1970.

LOIS McMANUS has joined the real estate brokerage firm of Magic Key, Wrisley-McGinnis & Associates, Realtors, at 469 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley.

Mrs. McManus, a University of California graduate, has been active in volunteer work for our Lady of Mt. Carmel School and worked professionally in television commercials and in fashion coordinating and publicity. She will now devote full time to residential real estate.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC accountants who attended the annual meeting of the California Society of Certified Public Accountants at Lake Tahoe last month included these residents of the San Rafael area: Donald W. Kehoe, Theodore A. Martin and Ronald McLennan.

CITIZENS SAVINGS and Loan Association's San Rafael office at 288 Northgate Shopping Center is now open three evenings a week until 9 p.m. It is open from 9 to 9 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays; 9 to 5 on Mondays and Tuesdays; and 9 to 3 on Saturdays.

To celebrate the new extended hours, Citizens offers customers free copies of "The Guinness Book of World Records", and the office has an exhibit of outstanding athletic achievements including an amusing film review of the American sportsman and sports fan.

DAVID HUNTER, who will be moving to Mill Valley, has joined the creative staff of Foote, Cone & Belding, advertising agency in San Francisco as creative group head.

He transferred from the Foote, Cone & Belding office in Los Angeles.

ROLF G. FROEHLICH of San Anselmo and Rolland R. Pieper of Petaluma won the New York Life Insurance Company Centurion Awards for providing life insurance protection for more than 100 persons in 1972.

Froehlich also received the award last year.

American Motors Lists Sales Gain

SAN FRANCISCO — American Motors' retail passenger car sales in the San Francisco zone for the first six months of 1973 increased 25.9 per cent over the same period a year ago.

Jack O. Polan, zone manager, said AMC dealers delivered 4,736 cars during the six months this year compared with 3,763 last year.

WINNING BRIDGE

Bridge Players Hold Secret Being Sought By Scientists

There is so much suffering from overburdened memories that psychologists are at work on a reliable, inexpensive forgettery. Many bridge players have worked on this project by hastening to forget all about the bidding of a hand as soon as the play begins.

This may be wonderful for science, but it doesn't do much for their bridge game.

CLUBS USED

West led the ten of clubs, and South put up dummy's queen. East covered with the king, and South took the ace.

Declarer led a trump, and West took the ace of hearts and cashed a club trick. West continued with another club, and South ruffed.

South wondered who had the king of diamonds and the missing high spades.

"Wouldn't it be pleasant," he thought, "if East had the king of diamonds."

On the basis of this wishful thinking, South got to dummy with a trump and returned a low diamond. He hopefully put up the queen of diamonds from his hand and lost to the king.

West returned a diamond, and the defenders were now sure to get two diamonds, one trump, one club and one spade. This was just enough to defeat the contract.

GUESSWORK NEEDLESS

There was no need for guesswork or for wishful thinking.

South should have known that West had all of the missing high cards by remembering that West had made a vulnerable opening bid and couldn't have done so with any less than he actually held.

After drawing trumps, South should lead a spade, intending to finesse with dummy's jack. By leading spades twice toward dummy, South can win two tricks with the king and jack, discarding a diamond from his hand.

This assures his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - 7 2
♥ - Q 10 9 4 3 2
♦ - Q 4 3
♣ - A 7.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. With only eight points in high cards, you are far below the strength needed for an opening bid.

Change any small card to an ace, and you'd have a minimum opening bid.

Industry Lack Troubles Ireland

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Erskine Childers of the Irish Republic said yesterday his nation's biggest problem is industrial development. He invited greater U.S. investment.

Childers was interviewed in Dublin on the American Broadcasting Company program Issues and Answers.

Ireland's main problem is "to ensure an economic advance that would enable us to play our part in the European Economic Community...We need more industries, particularly in the west," he said.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Hollywood talent scouts! Can you guess what movies helped bring fame to these people born today?

1. GINGER ROGERS can still whirl at 62. Together again in 1968 with Fred Astaire, they brought down the house at the Academy Awards ceremony. There was something magic in their musicals from "Flying Down to Rio" until their last film — nine in six years. Yet Ginger won her Oscar without him in (A) "The Great Waltz" or (B) "Kitty Foyle."

2. ANDREW STONE, 71, is seldom seen on screen. He writes, directs and produces. In fact, except for Alfred Hitchcock, he is the last of film makers still directing who started during the silent era. Among his greatest box office hits was "Song of Norway." His latest is a re-make of (A) "The Great Waltz" or (B) "Kitty Foyle."

3. BARBARA STANWYCK looks great at 66. Nominated four times for an Oscar, many critics say she deserved it at least for "Double Indemnity" or "Sorry Wrong Number." Yet this beauty has outlasted many who got it, proving in TV's "The Big Valley" that Warner Bros. was right in choosing her to start movie-making in 1927 in "Broadway Nights." One of her early hits was (A) "Stella Dallas" or (B) "Ma and Pa Kettle."

4. PERCY KILBRIDE was an auto accident victim in 1964. But this lovable character actor will always be remembered as he nasal-voiced nincompoop who nettled Marjorie Main at home, on vacation, or in town. He's still a favorite with young audiences who see the series in re-runs on TV. Of course we mean the movies about (A) "Stella Dalls" or (B) "Ma and Pa Kettle."

Youth Jobs Plentiful In Sonoma

The summer job picture is brighter than ever for youngsters in Southern Sonoma, according to school officials.

Nearly every youngster who has sought government-sponsored jobs and work in private business has been able to find a position, according to Ned Davis, work-experience coordinator at Petaluma Senior High School.

Bertha Wims, coordinator for the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program, said about 80 jobs are still open.

"It's much different than before," Davis said. "We've been able to fill nearly all the needs."

Davis attributed the better job picture to increased government funding for job programs and a greater reliance by private businesses on hiring teenagers.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps jobs pay a minimum wage of $1.65 per hour and are open to youngsters from 14 to 17 years old who are from lower income families. Mrs. Wims said most of the current job openings are for positions in government offices and nonprofit organizations.

Young people who believe they may qualify for the federally-financed program may contact Mrs. Wims at either the Hidden Talent office at Sonoma State College or at Petaluma High School where interviews are held.

Davis said his office has already placed nearly 300 teenagers in a wide variety of jobs. He said pay has ranged from $1.35 to $3 per hour depending on the skill required.

Dance Concert

A free dance concert for San Rafael teen-agers featuring music by "Canyon," will be held Friday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at the Terra Linda Recreation Center. The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the event, according to A. J. Snyder Jr., director of parks and recreation.

Maiden Voyage Is Slated For Howard Hughes' Ship

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — The Hughes Glomar explorer, a deep sea mining ship owned by billionaire recluse Howard Hughes, will make its maiden voyage down the Delaware River this week.

The 618-foot vessel, which contains some of the most sophisticated ocean mining equipment in the world, was built here at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. under a veil of secrecy over the past 19 months.

It is considered one of the "most costly and complex vessels ever built at Sun," a company spokesman said. The ship will be delivered on behalf of its owner, the Hughes Tool Co., Houston, Tex., to Global Marine Inc., Los Angeles, a Hughes-owned deep sea mining subsidiary.

Sun ship officials refused to announce a specific time and departure date for the huge vessel, but indicated it will be sometime next week.

A spokesman at Sun Ship refused to estimate the cost of the vessel but indicated it will run higher than the $40 million figure released by Hughes Tool Co. several months ago.

The spokesman said many of the vessel's parts were fabricated in other areas and sent to Sun Ship for installation.

The ship was designed to perform mining operations at a depth of more than 10,000 feet. Sea mining sources have speculated the vessel will be probing for "manganese nodules," composed of such minerals as copper, nickel and iron. The nodules normally are found at a depth of about 10,000 feet. Manganese is an essential additive in the manufacture of steel and structural metals.

Officials in the Hughes organization, however, will not confirm the speculation and will not give any details of proposed mining operations or the initial docking location of the ship.

A spokesman said there are plans to run some tests off the East Coast, but did not elaborate.

The vessel, powered by a diesel engine, is capable of a speed of 12 knots. It is equipped with a 209-foot-high mining derrick and platform. The upper 35 feet of the platform will have to be disassembled to permit the ship to pass under two bridges on its way to sea. The derrick will be reassembled in the Delaware Bay.

Getty May Pay For Grandson's Return

ROME (UPI) — Oil billionaire J. Paul Getty was reported ready today to pay ransom for the return of his namesake hippie grandson, missing since last week and the object of a "serious" police search.

"He is very worried about this matter and showed the greatest interest in the search," said the youth's mother, Mrs. Gail Getty, who said she spoke with Getty by telephone.

The missing youth, J. Paul Getty III, 17, was reported missing last week by his mother.

Mrs. Getty, who is divorced from the youth's father, J. Paul Getty Jr., said she received a telephone call last Thursday saying her son had been kidnaped and telling her to get money together for a ransom.

Police said young Getty was seen talking with three unidentified youths in Piazza Navona, a favorite meeting place for Roman hippies, just before he disappeared early Tuesday.

The young freckled-faced Getty neither slept nor ate regularly at his mother's home, but stayed with friends who included artists, hippies and young foreign actresses.

Martine and Jutta Zacher, 24-year-old German twins in whose apartment Getty was staying at the time of his disappearance, told police they noticed three "suspicious-looking" men who seemed to be following the youth in a dark car.

Another friend, photographer Carlo Scimone, said Getty pointed the men out to him recently but did not seem to be upset by them, police said. They said they were not sure, however, if the three men were the same youths with whom Getty was talking in the Piazza Navona on Tuesday.

Both Mrs. Getty and police discounted reports that Getty had been seen leaving a yacht at Bastia on the island of Corsica with a young blonde girl.

"I have spoken with all our friends who have yachts and none of them could have taken him on board," Mrs. Getty said. "I doubt he could have rented one either because when he left home Monday night he had only $85 in his pocket."

Budget Approval Before Board

Trustees of the Shoreline Unified School District will consider approval of a publication budget when they meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Tomales High School.

Supt. Kenneth E. Barnes said that the budget will be approximately $1,555,000, but that he would not have the exact figure until tomorrow afternoon.

The board will also consider adoption of the argument favoring a $450,000 bond election on Sept. 18 for construction of seven classrooms and a multipurpose room at Tomales Elementary School.

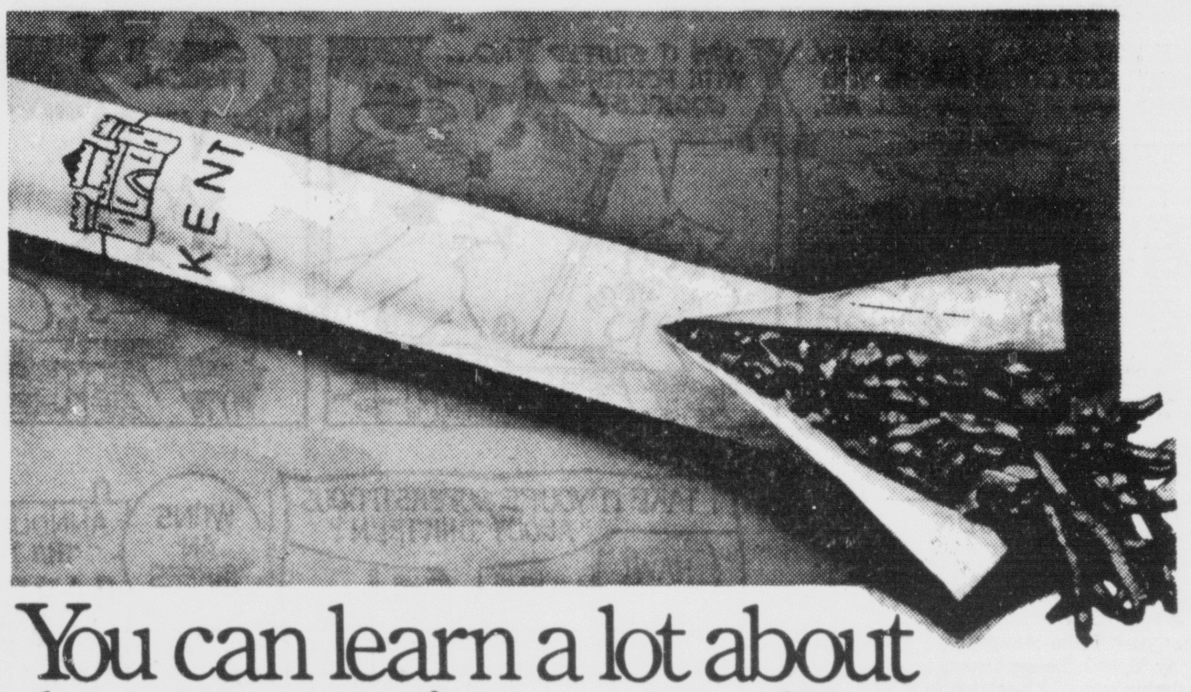
Read the tobacco.



You can learn a lot about how your cigarette will smoke.

Tear open one of your cigarettes.

Look at the shape the tobacco's in.

The shorter and choppier the tobacco, the hotter and faster it's going to smoke.

If your cigarette seems to be long on the "shorts," look into a Kent.

We blend 24 premium tobaccos into Kent and carefully cut them into longer and more uniform strands. These strands intertwine and hold together better.

That way they pack firmer and smoke slower and more evenly.

That's important.

Because with a nice, slow, even burn, you get the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is:

Flexible Income Tax Urged For Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A research group recommended yesterday the President be given power to deal swiftly with a sudden change in economic conditions by raising or lowering income taxes by as much as 10 per cent.

The Committee for Economic Development (CED), a nonprofit, nonpartisan research and education group, offered the suggestion. Its members are both business and academic leaders.

The committee said the President also should have the power in case Congress fails to take action. It suggested Congress pass a law authorizing the system.

"In order to provide a means for the executive to meet unexpected changes in the economy or congressional inaction, we recommend that the President be granted discretion by Congress to raise or lower personal and corporate income tax payments by up to 10 per cent in a form to be decided by Congress," the committee said in a report.

"The power to raise or lower income taxes would place on the President an unequivocal responsibility for stabilizing action that he could exercise only when he certifies that in his judgment economic conditions are running significantly counter to the objective of high employment, price stability, economic growth and balance-ofpayments equilibrium."

The group has been urging Congress to reform its budget-making process for more than a quarter century. It also has proposed establishing a single finance committee in the House and the Senate.

The CED said a composite committee in the House should review the budget each year, questioning the director of the Office of Management and Budget, the treasury secretary, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and other administration officials.

It also recommended that the President and Congress adhere to a stabilizing budget "which would set tax rates to balance the budget and provide a moderate surplus at an agreed high level of employment and price stability."

Tam School Board To Consider Budget

An $11.5 million preliminary budget for 1973-74 will be considered for adoption by the Tamalpais High School District board at 8 p.m. today in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

The board also will hear status reports on land the district owns in Marin City and Tiburon, originally purchased as sites for additional schools.

The Marin City Community Services District board has asked to lease the high school district's property in its community for a baseball field, park and flea market.

Vaccinations For Rabies Continue

This week's rabies vaccination clinics for dogs will be held tomorrow at the Woodacre Fire Station and Thursday at the Corte Madera Public Safety Building.

The clinics, part of a series being sponsored by the County Health Department and Veterinary Medical Association, run from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The Woodacre Fire Station is located at the end of Railroad Avenue and the Corte Madera Public Safety Building is adjacent to town hall on Tamalpais Drive.

State law requires that dogs older than four months be vaccinated against rabies. The cost is $2.50 per dog at the clinics. For safety reasons, children will not be allowed in the clinic areas.

Other clinics scheduled are:

July 24 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the city corporation yard at the end of San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo.

July 26 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the city school administration building, Third and E Streets, San Rafael.

July 31 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the Ross School, Lagunitas Road, Ross.

Aug. 2 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the county fire station, Second and A streets, Point Reyes Station.

Aug. 4 — 9 to 11 a.m. at the Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato.

Aug. 7 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the corporation yard, Sycamore and Camino Alto, Mill Valley.

Aug. 11 — 9 to 11 a.m. at the city schools administration building, Third and E streets, San Rafael.

Demonstration Of Rockets Set

A demonstration of model rockets will be given at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the open area east of the Veterans Memorial Building in an attempt to familiarize the public with the models.

Kenneth Mazza, San Rafael fire marshal, said the rockets are available through many hobby shops but are often used unsafely in dangerous areas.

Mazza said it is hoped the demonstration may lead to the authorization of safe sites for flying such models.

Lanes To Close

The state Division of Highways announced today that traffic will be reduced to one lane east and westbound from the west gate of San Quentin Prison to the Larkspur City limits tomorrow from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to permit widening and realignment of the roadway.

Bridge Players Hold Secret Being Sought By Scientists

There is so much suffering from overburdened memories that psychologists are at work on a reliable, inexpensive forgettery. Many bridge players have worked on this project by hastening to forget all about the bidding of a hand as soon as the play begins.

This may be wonderful for science, but it doesn't do much for their bridge game.

CLUBS USED

West led the ten of clubs, and South put up dummy's queen. East covered with the king, and South took the ace.

Declarer led a trump, and West took the ace of hearts and cashed a club trick. West continued with another club, and South ruffed.

South wondered who had the king of diamonds and the missing high spades.

"Wouldn't it be pleasant," he thought, "if East had the king of diamonds."

On the basis of this wishful thinking, South got to dummy with a trump and returned a low diamond. He hopefully put up the queen of diamonds from his hand and lost to the king.

West returned a diamond, and the defenders were now sure to get two diamonds, one trump, one club and one spade. This was just enough to defeat the contract.

GUESSWORK NEEDLESS

There was no need for guesswork or for wishful thinking.

South should have known that West had all of the missing high cards by remembering that West had made a vulnerable opening bid and couldn't have done so with any less than he actually held.

After drawing trumps, South should lead a spade, intending to finesse with dummy's jack. By leading spades twice toward dummy, South can win two tricks with the king and jack, discarding a diamond from his hand.

This assures his contract.

Industry Lack Troubles Ireland

NEW YORK (UPI) — President Erskine Childers of the Irish Republic said yesterday his nation's biggest problem is industrial development. He invited greater U.S. investment.

Childers was interviewed in Dublin on the American Broadcasting Company program Issues and Answers.

Ireland's main problem is "to ensure an economic advance that would enable us to play our part in the European Economic Community...We need more industries, particularly in the west," he said.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

Hollywood talent scouts! Can you guess what movies helped bring fame to these people born today?

1. GINGER ROGERS can still whirl at 62. Together again in 1968 with Fred Astaire, they brought down the house at the Academy Awards ceremony. There was something magic in their musicals from "Flying Down to Rio" until their last film — nine in six years. Yet Ginger won her Oscar without him in (A) "The Great Waltz" or (B) "Kitty Foyle."

2. ANDREW STONE, 71, is seldom seen on screen. He writes, directs and produces. In fact, except for Alfred Hitchcock, he is the last of film makers still directing who started during the silent era. Among his greatest box office hits was "Song of Norway." His latest is a re-make of (A) "The Great Waltz" or (B) "Kitty Foyle."

3. BARBARA STANWYCK looks great at 66. Nominated four times for an Oscar, many critics say she deserved it at least for "Double Indemnity" or "Sorry Wrong Number." Yet this beauty has outlasted many who got it, proving in TV's "The Big Valley" that Warner Bros. was right in choosing her to start movie-making in 1927 in "Broadway Nights." One of her early hits was (A) "Stella Dallas" or (B) "Ma and Pa Kettle."

4. PERCY KILBRIDE was an auto accident victim in 1964. But this lovable character actor will always be remembered as he nasal-voiced nincompoop who nettled Marjorie Main at home, on vacation, or in town. He's still a favorite with young audiences who see the series in re-runs on TV. Of course we mean the movies about (A) "Stella Dalls" or (B) "Ma and Pa Kettle."

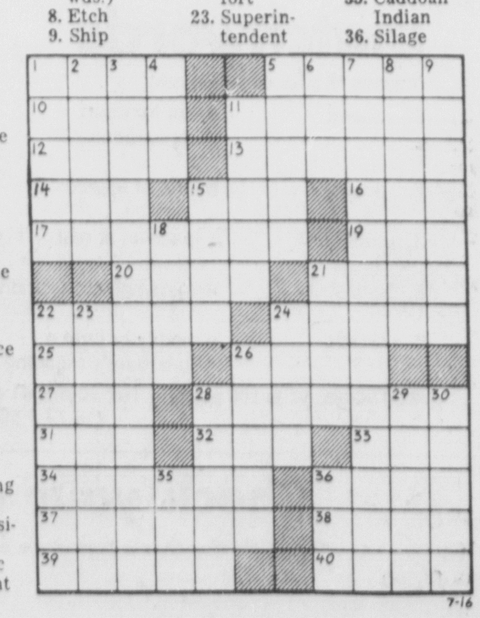
Saturday's Answer



Senator Sees Nixon 'In Trouble'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, a Watergate committee member, believes President Nixon is in "trouble" over the scandal and should come forward voluntarily "with his papers and himself" to clear up the matter.

Inouye, D-Hawaii, said Sunday he would vote to subpoena presidential papers if the White House continues to withhold them from the Senate select committee.

He said he believed the American people had formed themselves into a "great jury" to try the case, and he would favor letting the people, rather than the courts, sit in judgment if the White House refuses the subpoena. He said he believed a refusal would bring "a negative response" from the public.

Inouye made his remarks in a television interview. In another interview, Sen. James L. Buckley, the Conservative senator from New York, said he believed the "White House ought to be leaning over backwards to cooperate" in providing documents that would be helpful to the Senate investigation. Buckley said he also felt it was important to preserve the "clear executive privilege" that attaches to internal presidential memoranda. Buckley is not a committee member.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who does serve on the committee, said he would vote against subpoenaing the President to appear before the committee and against subpoenaing any documents which had been signed or directed to the President. But he said he felt Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal "has just been miserable" and that Nixon "is not acting like a President."

Inouye was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation." Buckley appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press." Weicker was interviewed by a New York television station.

The Senate committee meets today through Friday this week. Today it was to call back to the witness table Richard A. Moore, a special counsel to the President, who last week rebutted portions of testimony given earlier by White House counsel John W. Dean III that implicated Nixon in the coverup of the Watergate affair.

SEN. DANIEL K. INOUYE
'Nixon can clear himself'

After Moore finishes his testimony, the seven-member panel will call Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney, who allegedly handled payment of Nixon campaign funds to seven Watergate conspirators and their attorneys after the arrests at Democratic national headquarters June 17, 1972.

In other Watergate developments:

The New York Daily News reported today that James W. McCord Jr., a convicted conspirator, "suggested" that G. Gordon Liddy might break his silence and talk to authorities. Liddy has been described as the ringleader for the break-in at Democratic headquarters.

Time Magazine reported it had learned that Senate investigators were seriously probing the possibility that Republican campaign funds may have been used to help purchase Nixon's San Clemente estate. The magazine said investigators were eyeing a sum of $1.6 million left over from the 1968 presidential campaign and "the secret Public Institute funds" raised by Kalmbach as "possible sources" of money used to buy the California property.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said in a speech Saturday night at Springfield, Mo., that he had talked to Nixon the night before the President was hospitalized and that Nixon had told him "the Watergate thing will pass" and that he was not going to be deterred in his efforts to get "the economy of the country straightened out."

Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox officially expanded his Watergate investigation by appointing two men to pursue related inquiries into 1972 election campaign "dirty tricks" and the White House security squad known as the "plumbers."

Inouye said in the interview he believes it "would be in the best interests of the President of the United States to come forward voluntarily with his papers and himself, because he is the man who can clear himself."

He said he would not favor a court test because he agreed with Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the committee chairman, that the matter might take two to three years for the courts to resolve.

"Polls show today that the President's word is not taken as it was a few months ago, and from this I would say he is in trouble," Inouye said. "I'm not suggesting by trouble that he should resign or proceedings should be brought against him. I'm saying that the President has trouble carrying out his constitutional duties."

Congress To Demand Troop Control Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is preparing to send President Nixon a demand for a share in future decisions to commit U.S. troops in conflicts abroad.

Approval of legislation limiting the President's troop commitment powers may come in both houses of Congress this week. A presidential veto is likely.

The resolutions prepared for debate in Congress are aimed at answering the constitutional questions left unresolved when Congress passed a compromise measure June 29 providing for an end to U.S. bombing in Cambodia Aug. 15.

The dilemma is whether a President can commit troops to hostilities without advance authority from Congress and whether a military operation can be carried on against the will of both houses of Congress.

These questions were drawn into sharp relief by the bombing of Cambodia because it continued after clear majorities in both houses had voted to end it.

Some members claimed the President had lost whatever authority he may have had as commander-in-chief to carry on the bombing after American troops were withdrawn and prisoners of war were released last spring.

The House version of the resolution would limit the President's power to engage U.S. troops without congressional consent to 120 days. It would permit him to continue only if a declaration of war or some other clear expression of authority is aproved by Congress.

Congress, in addition, at any time within the 120 days could force U.S. withdrawal by passage of a concurrent resolution, which a President could not veto.

The Senate version contains no provision for Congress to end an unwanted war. However, it would prohibit a President from committing troops without congressional consent for longer than 30 days —and then only in certain cases, such as an invasion of the United States or the rescue of U.S. nationals abroad.

Another major issue that will come to a vote in the Senate this week is a bill that would clear the remaining legal obstacles to construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. The vote on Tuesday is expected to be close.

Environmental groups are opposing the bill, but senators concerned about the energy shortage are pressing for action to tap the 10-billion-barrel reserve on Alaska's North Slope.

General's Late Retirement Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., the White House chief of staff, is engaging in a "sleezy deal" by delaying his retirement from the Army until Aug. 1 to gain an extra $3,300 a year in retirement pay, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Sunday.

Aspin said the General Accounting Office (GAO), the investigative arm of Congress, has ruled that Haig could not legally serve in the White House job while on active military status. Haig replaced H. R. Haldeman as chief of staff when Haldeman resigned at the end of April.

"It is incredible that this administration continues to condone flagrant law breaking by White House officials," Aspin said. "But to Gen. Haig an extra $3,300 of booty in his own pocket is more important than obeying the law."

Over 30 Years Experience
In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
By JUNE EMBURY

ARE SUPPLEMENTS REALLY NECESSARY?

"How can I explain to my friends and my family why we should take supplements, when the government says we don't need them?" We're frequently asked. We reply by suggesting books on nutrition by top scientific authorities. They agree that supplements are necessary for the following reasons (among others):

Not everyone's body chemistry uses nutrients properly. Those who eat regularly in restaurants are getting fewer nutrients. Sources of really fresh, top-quality foods aren't available all year long for most of us. Junk foods are too popular in our diets. Food quality is lost in each step of processing, especially vitamins B,C,A,D, & B-1. And the many chemicals used in processing create additional needs for supplements. This seems to us to be logical and simple to understand. We're happy that helping people stay healthy is our business.

Flexible Income Tax Urged For Economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A research group recommended yesterday the President be given power to deal swiftly with a sudden change in economic conditions by raising or lowering income taxes by as much as 10 per cent.

The Committee for Economic Development (CED), a nonprofit, nonpartisan research and education group, offered the suggestion. Its members are both business and academic leaders.

The committee said the President also should have the power in case Congress fails to take action. It suggested Congress pass a law authorizing the system.

"In order to provide a means for the executive to meet unexpected changes in the economy or congressional inaction, we recommend that the President be granted discretion by Congress to raise or lower personal and corporate income tax payments by up to 10 per cent in a form to be decided by Congress," the committee said in a report.

"The power to raise or lower income taxes would place on the President an unequivocal responsibility for stabilizing action that he could exercise only when he certifies that in his judgment economic conditions are running significantly counter to the objective of high employment, price stability, economic growth and balanceofpayments equilibrium."

The group has been urging Congress to reform its budget-making process for more than a quarter century. It also has proposed establishing a single finance committee in the House and the Senate.

The CED said a composite committee in the House should review the budget each year, questioning the director of the Office of Management and Budget, the treasury secretary, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and other administration officials.

It also recommended that the President and Congress adhere to a stabilizing budget "which would set tax rates to balance the budget and provide a moderate surplus at an agreed high level of employment and price stability."

Tam School Board To Consider Budget

An $11.5 million preliminary budget for 1973-74 will be considered for adoption by the Tamalpais High School District board at 8 p.m. today in the Redwood High School faculty lounge.

The board also will hear status reports on land the district owns in Marin City and Tiburon, originally purchased as sites for additional schools.

The Marin City Community Services District board has asked to lease the high school district's property in its community for a baseball field, park and flea market.

Vaccinations For Rabies Continue

This week's rabies vaccination clinics for dogs will be held tomorrow at the Woodacre Fire Station and Thursday at the Corte Madera Public Safety Building.

The clinics, part of a series being sponsored by the County Health Department and Veterinary Medical Association, run from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The Woodacre Fire Station is located at the end of Railroad Avenue and the Corte Madera Public Safety Building is adjacent to town hall on Tamalpais Drive.

State law requires that dogs older than four months be vaccinated against rabies. The cost is $2.50 per dog at the clinics. For safety reasons, children will not be allowed in the clinic areas.

Other clinics scheduled are:

July 24 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the city corporation yard at the end of San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo.

July 26 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the city school administration building, Third and E Streets, San Rafael.

July 31 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the Ross School, Lagunitas Road, Ross.

Aug. 2 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the county fire station, Second and A streets, Point Reyes Station.

Aug. 4 — 9 to 11 a.m. at the Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato.

Aug. 7 — 6 to 8 p.m. at the corporation yard, Sycamore and Camino Alto, Mill Valley.

Aug. 11 — 9 to 11 a.m. at the city schools administration building, Third and E streets, San Rafael.

Demonstration Of Rockets Set

A demonstration of model rockets will be given at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the open area east of the Veterans Memorial Building in an attempt to familiarize the public with the models.

Kenneth Mazza, San Rafael fire marshal, said the rockets are available through many hobby shops but are often used unsafely in dangerous areas.

Mazza said it is hoped the demonstration may lead to the authorization of safe sites for flying such models.

Lanes To Close

The state Division of Highways announced today that traffic will be reduced to one lane east and westbound from the west gate of San Quentin Prison to the Larkspur City limits tomorrow from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to permit widening and realignment of the roadway.

"WE TRADED values," Mrs. Ray Yeager said of the experience she and her husband have had working as new-style missionaries in Bogota, Colombia. Mrs. Yeager is shown in her home in Bogota, with a collection of recorders used in her music education work.

EXPERIENCE FOR WHOLE FAMILY

New-Style Missionaries In Colombia

By BETTY FROST

For the past four years Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yeager, formerly of Kentfield, have been living and working in Bogota, Colombia.

They are Presbyterian missionaries on a new kind of mission with ecumenical orientation. Yeager, with a background in radio, television and public relations, has established an audio-visual center, where educational films and tapes are produced. Betsy Yeager, an expert in music, is involved in multi-faceted musical education projects involving hundreds of people.

Their older children, Rob, 21; Steve, 18, and Douglas, 17, have taught swimming and participated in literacy training programs. They also have a daughter, Marion, 5.

All of these activities are conducted in Spanish, the language of Colombia, and Mrs. Yeager is proud that the family members have learned to speak it fluently.

THE YEAGERS spent three weeks in Marin, where they stayed with Betsy Yeager's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hobart in Kentfield. The purpose of their visit was to honor the 50th wedding anniversaries of the Hobarts, and of Ray Yeager's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Yeager of Pleasant Hill. The Hobarts anniversary was in April and the Yeagers in May. Ray and Betsy also had an early celebration of their own 25th wedding anniversary, although the actual date is Aug. 14. They left for Bogota on Tuesday.

En route to Colombia they will visit their adopted son, Javier Montiel in Mexico City, and his wife, the former Jerry Harper of San Anselmo. The Montiels have two young children. The young Mexican lived with the Yeagers in Kentfield for several years and attended the College of Marin.

To prepare themselves for their present work, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager spent a year studying. They had sociology courses from professors, expert in the field, who came from colleges along the Eastern seaboard to the Missionary Orientation Center at Stony, Point, N.Y. That center, now ecumenical, is located on property owned by the United Presbyterian Church. They also spent six months in Cuernevaca, Mexico, at the Documentation Center for Sociological Problems of Latin America.

To prepare themselves for their present work, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager spent a year studying. They had sociology courses from professors, expert in the field, who came from colleges along the Eastern seaboard to the Missionary Orientation Center at Stony Point, N.Y. That center, now ecumenical, is located on property owned by the United Presbyterian Church. They also spent six months in Cuernevaca, Mexico, at the Documentation Center for Sociological Problems of Latin America.

When the Yeagers first went to Bogota they lived in a large home in an exclusive district.

"But that was not the way we wanted to come across to the Colombians," Betsy Yeager said.

They now live in a middle class barrio in the heart of Bogota, in what Mrs. Yeager calls a "big old gabled home." They need a lot of space, not only for their own family, but because their house is the center for much of their work.

Besides producing films and tapes on vital subjects, such as drug abuse and sex education, Yeager gives seminars to train operators to show the films. In a country where there is not much electricity, this is a challenging task. The operators then show the films in schools, colleges and churches in Colombia.

MRS. YEAGER teaches music, conducts several choirs, baroque ensembles and an orchestra. These groups go on concert tours throughout Colombia. For training they meet in the Yeager home. A recent accomplishment was the presentation of the first Broadway musical ever performed in Bogota. Betsy was the impresario of an impressive production of "Carnival", working with a cast of 75 and a 10 piece orchestra.

The cast was from a little theater group called the Bogota Players.

"It was truly international," Mrs. Yeager said, "representing 67 countries. The production was given at a downtown theater, and we raised 40,000 pesos for charity."

Mrs. Yeager, a graduate of the Katharine Branson School in Ross, attended Stanford University and continued music studies at the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and with Pro Musica in New York City. Pro Musica is considered by music authorities to be outstanding in the country for performances of Rennaisance, Medieval and Baroque music, Mrs. Yeager explained.

Yeager received the M.A. degree from California State University, San Francisco.

"Bogota is so international. It is like living in another Paris. There are skyscrapers, a good transit system, and the atmosphere is cosmopolitan. It is located at the foot of the Andes, at an elevation of 9,000 feet," Mrs. Yeager said.

SHE NOTED the great wealth on one side and the great poverty on the other within the population of Colombia. Although "gringos" are not very well liked in Latin America, "we, as individuals are accepted," she said. One disappointment was that the Yeagers found themselves victims of frequent robberies.

"Regretfully we resorted to barring the windows and locking the doors. You have to understand not only the poverty of the people, but the culture of poverty," the woman emphasized. "They help themselves and don't think that it is wrong to do so."

A spin-off of the family's experience is the presence of Margaret Ardila in Marin county. She is staying with Betsy Yeager's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Hobart of Tiburon, and is sponsored by the four Presbyterian churches in the county. Margaret, who is studying at Redwood High School, is the daughter of the Yeagers' housekeeper in Bogota. Here she is developing her talent for achitectural drawing and the Yeagers expect to help her get a job in an architect's office when she returns.

It was a personal tragedy which caused the Yeagers to reassess their life values. Their son, Hobart W. Yeager died Aug. 10, 1964, as the result of an automobile accident, when he was 15 years old.

"We traded values. We don't make a lot, and we don't need a lot. We feel so much more needed and useful in the work we are doing now," Betsy Yeager said.

Only Douglas and Marion returned to Colombia with their parents. Rob, who attends the College of Marin, is staying with his grandparents in Kentfield. Steve is spending the summer with the Hobarts, too, and will leave for Earlham College in Richmond, Ind., in the fall. He will enter the college as a freshman.

Sausalitans Exchange Vows In Rhode Island

First Congregational Church in Bristol, R.I., was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Anne Williams Elder and Hal Edward McCormack, both of Sausalito.

The bride's parents are Mr and Mrs. Robert V. Elder of Bristol, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Hal E. McCormack II and the late Mrs. Adrienne Rowe Maisak.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Christopher R. Coxe of Norwalk, Conn., and bridesmaids were Mary E. Watson of San Francisco and Mrs. Arthur W. Gregory of Westwood, Mass.

George Hinman of New York was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Mel McCormack of Corte Madera and Christopher Coxe of Norwalk.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The newlyweds are on a wedding trip to the New England states, Denmark and England and will live in Sausalito when they return.

Anne was graduated from Lincoln School in Providence, R.I., and Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass. She is a systems analyst at the Naval Air Station in Alameda. Mrs. LeRoy V. Elder of Rumford, R.I., is her grandmother.

Hal is a gradudate of Tamalpais High School, and he attended College of Marin. He is a partner in the sailmaking firm, Peter M. Sutter Co. in Sausalito.

Adoption Joins Parenthood As Industry Fringe Benefit

By DAVID T. COOK
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

An adopted baby is industry's latest fringe benefit.

Biological parenthood has long enjoyed corporate sponsorship through group insurance plans that defray maternity costs. Now two major firms will help workers pay adopted parenthood's limited costs.

THE LARGEST firm offering adoption benefits is International Business Machines, which provided its adoption-assistance plan in December, 1972. The plan pays up to $800 to meet adoption-related fees. The firm specifies, however, that its share of total adoption expenses not exceed 80 per cent.

S. C. Johnson and Son pioneered adoption-assistance plans in the United States. Since 1970 the Racine, Wis., wax-making firm has offered a $500 adoption benefit to its 3,200 employees. According to spokesman Neil Seiser, the adoption grant developed from "an idea in an employee suggestion box."

The costs both plans defray vary widely depending on the source of the child being adopted.

There are two legal sources of adoptable children. The lowest cost and most commonly utilized is the private or public agency. Agencies' fees are commonly determined by using a sliding scale based on the adoptive parents' ability to pay.

The Children's Bureau of Los Angeles, for example, charges up to $1,200, according to case worker Mary Downes. The Boston Child Services Association fee ranges as high as $1,000. Both agencies' fees are waived in certain cases since they are based on the parents' total income.

Senator Sees Nixon 'In Trouble'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, a Watergate committee member, believes President Nixon is in "trouble" over the scandal and should come forward voluntarily "with his papers and himself" to clear up the matter.

Inouye, D-Hawaii, said Sunday he would vote to subpoena presidential papers if the White House continues to withhold them from the Senate select committee.

He said he believed the American people had formed themselves into a "great jury" to try the case, and he would favor letting the people, rather than the courts, sit in judgment if the White House refuses the subpoena. He said he believed a refusal would bring "a negative response" from the public.

Inouye made his remarks in a television interview. In another interview, Sen. James L. Buckley, the Conservative senator from New York, said he believed the "White House ought to be leaning over backwards to cooperate" in providing documents that would be helpful to the Senate investigation. Buckley said he also felt it was important to preserve the "clear executive privilege" that attaches to internal presidential memoranda. Buckley is not a committee member.

Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., who does serve on the committee, said he would vote against subpoenaing the President to appear before the committee and against subpoenaing any documents which had been signed or directed to the President. But he said he felt Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal "has just been miserable" and that Nixon "is not acting like a President."

Inouye was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation." Buckley appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press." Weicker was interviewed by a New York television station.

The Senate committee meets today through Friday this week. Today it was to call back to the witness table Richard A. Moore, a special counsel to the President, who last week rebutted portions of testimony given earlier by White House counsel John W. Dean III that implicated Nixon in the coverup of the Watergate affair.

SEN. DANIEL K. INOUYE
'Nixon can clear himself'

After Moore finishes his testimony, the seven-member panel will call Herbert W. Kalmbach, Nixon's former personal attorney, who allegedly handled payment of Nixon campaign funds to seven Watergate conspirators and their attorneys after the arrests at Democratic national headquarters June 17, 1972.

In other Watergate developments:

The New York Daily News reported today that James W. McCord Jr., a convicted conspirator, "suggested" that G. Gordon Liddy might break his silence and talk to authorities. Liddy has been described as the ringleader for the break-in at Democratic headquarters.

Time Magazine reported it had learned that Senate investigators were seriously probing the possibility that Republican campaign funds may have been used to help purchase Nixon's San Clemente estate. The magazine said investigators were eyeing a sum of $1.6 million left over from the 1968 presidential campaign and "the secret Public Institute funds" raised by Kalmbach as "possible sources" of money used to buy the California property.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., said in a speech Saturday night at Springfield, Mo., that he had talked to Nixon the night before the President was hospitalized and that Nixon had told him "the Watergate thing will pass" and that he was not going to be deterred in his efforts to get "the economy of the country straightened out."

Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox officially expanded his Watergate investigation by appointing two men to pursue related inquiries into 1972 election campaign "dirty tricks" and the White House security squad known as the "plumbers."

Inouye said in the interview he believes it "would be in the best interests of the President of the United States to come forward voluntarily with his papers and himself, because he is the man who can clear himself."

He said he would not favor a court test because he agreed with Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the committee chairman, that the matter might take two to three years for the courts to resolve.

"Polls show today that the President's word is not taken as it was a few months ago, and from this I would say he is in trouble," Inouye said. "I'm not suggesting by trouble that he should resign or proceedings should be brought against him. I'm saying that the President has trouble carrying out his constitutional duties."

Congress To Demand Troop Control Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is preparing to send President Nixon a demand for a share in future decisions to commit U.S. troops in conflicts abroad.

Approval of legislation limiting the President's troop commitment powers may come in both houses of Congress this week. A presidential veto is likely.

The resolutions prepared for debate in Congress are aimed at answering the constitutional questions left unresolved when Congress passed a compromise measure June 29 providing for an end to U.S. bombing in Cambodia Aug. 15.

The dilemma is whether a President can commit troops to hostilities without advance authority from Congress and whether a military operation can be carried on against the will of both houses of Congress.

These questions were drawn into sharp relief by the bombing of Cambodia because it continued after clear majorities in both houses had voted to end it.

Some members claimed the President had lost whatever authority he may have had as commander-in-chief to carry on the bombing after American troops were withdrawn and prisoners of war were released last spring.

The House version of the resolution would limit the President's power to engage U.S. troops without congressional consent to 120 days. It would permit him to continue only if a declaration of war or some other clear expression of authority is aproved by Congress.

Congress, in addition, at any time within the 120 days could force U.S. withdrawal by passage of a concurrent resolution, which a President could not veto.

The Senate version contains no provision for Congress to end an unwanted war. However, it would prohibit a President from committing troops without congressional consent for longer than 30 days —and then only in certain cases, such as an invasion of the United States or the rescue of U.S. nationals abroad.

Another major issue that will come to a vote in the Senate this week is a bill that would clear the remaining legal obstacles to construction of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. The vote on Tuesday is expected to be close.

Environmental groups are opposing the bill, but senators concerned about the energy shortage are pressing for action to tap the 10-billion-barrel reserve on Alaska's North Slope.

General's Late Retirement Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., the White House chief of staff, is engaging in a "sleezy deal" by delaying his retirement from the Army until Aug. 1 to gain an extra $3,300 a year in retirement pay, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Sunday.

Aspin said the General Accounting Office (GAO), the investigative arm of Congress, has ruled that Haig could not legally serve in the White House job while on active military status. Haig replaced H. R. Haldeman as chief of staff when Haldeman resigned at the end of April.

"It is incredible that this administration continues to condone flagrant law breaking by White House officials," Aspin said. "But to Gen. Haig an extra $3,300 of booty in his own pocket is more important than obeying the law."

Chess Tournament Set On Weekend

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
By JUNE EMBURY

ARE SUPPLEMENTS REALLY NECESSARY?

"How can I explain to my friends and my family why we should take supplements, when the government says we don't need them?" We're frequently asked. We reply by suggesting books on nutrition by top scientific authorities. They agree that supplements are necessary for the following reasons (among others):

Not everyone's body chemistry uses nutrients properly. Those who eat regularly in restaurants are getting fewer nutrients. Sources of really fresh, top-quality foods aren't available all year long for most of us. Junk foods are too popular in our diets. Food quality is lost in each step of processing, especially vitamins B,C,A,D, & B-1. And the many chemicals used in processing create additional needs for supplements. This seems to us to be logical and simple to understand. We're happy that helping people stay healthy is our business.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sisterhood's Gotten To Be Too Much A One-Way Street

DEAR HELEN:

I don't remember my oldest sister being so chintzy when we were younger, but since she has married again she's impossible.

They live nearby. He has more money than the rest of the family — the reason probably being that he never lets any of it go, except to spend on themselves.

They put their trash in our cans so they won't have to pay the garbage collector. They don't even give gifts to their own children, and the grandchildren get little 25 cent toys from them for Christmas.

They never entertain. If we have a family potluck, my sister brings a dinky bowl of gelatin dessert, which costs her all of 15 cents. Yet they "just happen" in on every dinner we give, and he fills his plate at least three times. They also happen by at supper time regularly, giving everyone in the large family a turn at feeding them. We're not the kind of people who snub kinfolks — and they know it! But if one of our kids is at their house and sees the candy dish before they give it, he'd better not ask for a piece or he gets a lecture on manners.

My son took care of their lawn and garden while they were on a four-week trip, also fed their cats, and all he got was a postcard from France. When there's a wedding or baby shower in the family, my sister conveniently forgets the date.

Now all this we could take and laugh at, but they rub it in about how they go on trips and have nice things for their house, implying that we are poor managers. My sister is always downgrading my furniture and clothes, and bragging about their latest trip abroad.

I remember how close we once were and try to be nice; after all she was like a mother to me. Should I hold it in or explode? — READY TO . . .

DEAR R.T.:

An honest explosion might clear the air —at any rate it would keep more food on your supper table. I'd say these family ties are overdue for a little loosening. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm invited to a baby shower for my son-in-law's sister. Her family seems to think it's quite proper, but somehow I still believe a girl should be married before friends celebrate her coming motherhood with a party and gifts. My daughter says it's THEIR decision and not our business. She's going.

There's no reason why these two young people can't be married but they seem in no hurry.

Am I the odd ball, and should I show approval I don't feel by attending the shower? — NOT HOLY-HOLY, BUT NOT WHOLLY CONVINCED EITHER

DEAR NOT:

There's no reason why you should attend a shower which makes you feel uncomfortable.

Also, there's no reason why friends shouldn't give a shower for an expectant mother. If you can't understand, at least don't condemn. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband just confessed to me that he has been having an affair off and on for seven years with my very best friend, who is also married. He says her little six-year-old son may be his.

He now wants to get away from her, but she is determined to keep him. He says he loves only me and I love him enough to forget this, but what do we do about the woman? If I cut her and her husband off, he'll wonder why, and he's too nice a guy to be hurt as I've been hurt. Besides, they've been friends so long . . . What can we do? — FRIENDS AND LOVERS

DEAR F AND L:

I think you and the woman should have one last "friendly" chat. Tell her you'll keep her secret if she cooperates in breaking up the foursome. But if she continues chasing your husband, HER husband will be the second to know. — H.

MONEY MATTERS

Buying A Mobile Home Calls For Careful Shopping Around

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — If you decide that your best buy in low-cost housing is a mobile home —and it probably is — how do you go about buying one?

Do you buy the mobile home first, then look around for a park in which to place it? Or do you choose the park in which you would like to live, then buy your home?

If you are wise, you will do the latter. Or you will shop for both at the same time and commit yourself to neither until your choices can be combined.

The reason is this: Most mobile-park managers are also mobile-home dealers. This makes them reluctant to admit someone with a rival product. Under some circumstances they may do so, but generally they will not.

ALSO, YOU do not buy a plot of land in a mobile-home park, you rent it. Rents range from about $50 a month to $100 or more, depending on the facilities provided. Look it over carefully. Visit it several times and talk to the park manager. Ask to see a copy of the rules and regulations.

This document is important and revealing. It spells out policies with regard to pets, admission of families with children, facilities, the upkeep of your property (what is your responsibility and what the management will do).

For instance, will you be charged for trash removal services or does the management pay for this? Does the park charge an "entrance fee?" If so, how much is it? It may be several hundreds of dollars in places where space is at a premium.

Or there may be no fee at all, as in California where park spaces are plentiful and parks compete for occupants.

You should also ask if you are free to rent or sell your home should you wish to do so at some time in the future. Does the park owner ask a commission on sale or rental?

Some parks not only require a departing family to remove their home from the park, but charge an "exit fee." They want to have new homes coming into the park and avoid the accumulation of old ones. The "exit fee," they say, is to cover the cost of preparing the site for the newcomer.

SO DON'T park in a park until you know what the ground rules are. And be equally inquisitive when it comes to the selection of your mobile home.

It is generally acknowledged by housing authorities that mobile homes are about the only new housing under $15,000 to be had in the country today.

Prices of these homes range from about $6,000 to $18,000 for the deluxe models. The price includes wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies, furniture and kitchen appliances.

It does not include such extras as a washer and dryer, a disposal or an air-conditioning system. You may have them if you wish to pay for them: an air-conditioning system would cost about $400.

There are "essential extras" which you must provide and pay for. These include steps with handrails for every outside door. They include the "piers," such as building blocks, for the foundation.

Most parks require "skirting" around the house to conceal the wheels and the mountings on which the mobile home rests.

"Anchors" are standard equipment on most mobile homes, but they must be attached to the ground footings to be effective. This is the owner's responsibility. It is an important one, especially in areas of high winds.

THE OWNER must also provide the concrete strips or base for the house, if they are not already on the site. If you want a carport or outside storage space, awnings, porches, etc., you must provide these also.

Don't forget that your house has wheels, even if you don't use them. Sometimes they are a built-in part of your house; sometimes they are removable.

What you do with them may affect your taxes. If the wheels are left on, your mobile home will probably be taxed as personal property. If removed, you may be subject to a real estate tax. It all depends on the laws of the state or community in which you locate.

In California, you are not allowed to remove the wheels. In Florida, you may remove them if you wish.

Seven million Americans live in mobile homes today, with an estimated 300,000 people a year joining the ranks. Who are they? More than half of them are young couples; about a quarter of them are retired people; many are members of the military.

The important thing in buying a mobile home is to investigate before you invest. To help you do this, there are two extremely useful booklets. "Buying and Financing a Mobile Home," by the Department of Housing and Urban Development is one. For a free copy write Consumer Product Information, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

For "Facts on Mobile Home Selection," prepared by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc., in cooperation with the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association, send a 16-cent stamped envelope to above association, Dept. CBBB, Box 32, Chantilly, Va. 22021.

"WE TRADED values," Mrs. Ray Yeager said of the experience she and her husband have had working as new-style missionaries in Bogota, Colombia. Mrs. Yeager is shown in her home in Bogota, with a collection of recorders used in her music education work.

EXPERIENCE FOR WHOLE FAMILY

New-Style Missionaries In Colombia

By BETTY FROST

For the past four years Mr. and Mrs. Ray Yeager, formerly of Kentfield, have been living and working in Bogota, Colombia.

They are Presbyterian missionaries on a new kind of mission with ecumenical orientation. Yeager, with a background in radio, television and public relations, has established an audio-visual center, where educational films and tapes are produced. Betsy Yeager, an expert in music, is involved in multi-faceted musical education projects involving hundreds of people.

Their older children, Rob, 21; Steve, 18, and Douglas, 17, have taught swimming and participated in literacy training programs. They also have a daughter, Marion, 5.

All of these activities are conducted in Spanish, the language of Colombia, and Mrs. Yeager is proud that the family members have learned to speak it fluently.

THE YEAGERS spent three weeks in Marin, where they stayed with Betsy Yeager's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hobart in Kentfield. The purpose of their visit was to honor the 50th wedding anniversaries of the Hobarts, and of Ray Yeager's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Yeager of Pleasant Hill. The Hobarts anniversary was in April and the Yeagers in May. Ray and Betsy also had an early celebration of their own 25th wedding anniversary, although the actual date is Aug. 14. They left for Bogota on Tuesday.

En route to Colombia they will visit their adopted son, Javier Montiel in Mexico City, and his wife, the former Jerry Harper of San Anselmo. The Montiels have two young children. The young Mexican lived with the Yeagers in Kentfield for several years and attended the College of Marin.

To prepare themselves for their present work, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager spent a year studying. They had sociology courses from professors, expert in the field, who came from colleges along the Eastern seaboard to the Missionary Orientation Center at Stony Point, N.Y. That center, now ecumenical, is located on property owned by the United Presbyterian Church. They also spent six months in Cuernevaca, Mexico, at the Documentation Center for Sociological Problems of Latin America.

To prepare themselves for their present work, Mr. and Mrs. Yeager spent a year studying. They had sociology courses from professors, expert in the field, who came from colleges along the Eastern seaboard to the Missionary Orientation Center at Stony Point, N.Y. That center, now ecumenical, is located on property owned by the United Presbyterian Church. They also spent six months in Cuernevaca, Mexico, at the Documentation Center for Sociological Problems of Latin America.

When the Yeagers first went to Bogota they lived in a large home in an exclusive district.

"But that was not the way we wanted to come across to the Colombians," Betsy Yeager said.

They now live in a middle class barrio in the heart of Bogota, in what Mrs. Yeager calls a "big old gabled home." They need a lot of space, not only for their own family, but because their house is the center for much of their work.

Besides producing films and tapes on vital subjects, such as drug abuse and sex education, Yeager gives seminars to train operators to show the films. In a country where there is not much electricity, this is a challenging task. The operators then show the films in schools, colleges and churches in Colombia.

MRS. YEAGER teaches music, conducts several choirs, baroque ensembles and an orchestra. These groups go on concert tours throughout Colombia. For training they meet in the Yeager home. A recent accomplishment was the presentation of the first Broadway musical ever performed in Bogota. Betsy was the impresario of an impressive production of "Carnival", working with a cast of 75 and a 10 piece orchestra.

The cast was from a little theater group called the Bogota Players.

"It was truly international," Mrs. Yeager said, "representing 67 countries. The production was given at a downtown theater, and we raised 40,000 pesos for charity."

Mrs. Yeager, a graduate of the Katharine Branson School in Ross, attended Stanford University and continued music studies at the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and with Pro Musica in New York City. Pro Musica is considered by music authorities to be outstanding in the country for performances of Rennaisance, Medieval and Baroque music, Mrs. Yeager explained.

Yeager received the M.A. degree from California State University, San Francisco.

"Bogota is so international. It is like living in another Paris. There are skyscrapers, a good transit system, and the atmosphere is cosmopolitan. It is located at the foot of the Andes, at an elevation of 9,000 feet," Mrs. Yeager said.

SHE NOTED the great wealth on one side and the great poverty on the other within the population of Colombia. Although "gringos" are not very well liked in Latin America, "we, as individuals are accepted," she said. One disappointment was that the Yeagers found themselves victims of frequent robberies.

"Regretfully we resorted to barring the windows and locking the doors. You have to understand not only the poverty of the people, but the culture of poverty," the woman emphasized. "They help themselves and don't think that it is wrong to do so."

A spin-off of the family's experience is the presence of Margaret Ardila in Marin county. She is staying with Betsy Yeager's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Hobart of Tiburon, and is sponsored by the four Presbyterian churches in the county. Margaret, who is studying at Redwood High School, is the daughter of the Yeagers' housekeeper in Bogota. Here she is developing her talent for achitectural drawing and the Yeagers expect to help her get a job in an architect's office when she returns.

It was a personal tragedy which caused the Yeagers to reassess their life values. Their son, Hobart W. Yeager died Aug. 10, 1964, as the result of an automobile accident, when he was 15 years old.

"We traded values. We don't make a lot, and we don't need a lot. We feel so much more needed and useful in the work we are doing now," Betsy Yeager said.

Only Douglas and Marion returned to Colombia with their parents. Rob, who attends the College of Marin, is staying with his grandparents in Kentfield. Steve is spending the summer with the Hobarts, too, and will leave for Earlham College in Richmond, Ind., in the fall. He will enter the college as a freshman.

Sausalitans Exchange Vows In Rhode Island

First Congregational Church in Bristol, R.I., was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Anne Williams Elder and Hal Edward McCormack, both of Sausalito.

The bride's parents are Mr and Mrs. Robert V. Elder of Bristol, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Hal E. McCormack II and the late Mrs. Adrienne Rowe Maisak.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Christopher R. Coxe of Norwalk, Conn., and bridesmaids were Mary E. Watson of San Francisco and Mrs. Arthur W. Gregory of Westwood, Mass.

George Hinman of New York was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by Mel McCormack of Corte Madera and Christopher Coxe of Norwalk.

A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The newlyweds are on a wedding trip to the New England states, Denmark and England and will live in Sausalito when they return.

Anne was graduated from Lincoln School in Providence, R.I., and Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass. She is a systems analyst at the Naval Air Station in Alameda. Mrs. LeRoy V. Elder of Rumford, R.I., is her grandmother.

Hal is a gradudate of Tamalpais High School, and he attended College of Marin. He is a partner in the sailmaking firm, Peter M. Sutter Co. in Sausalito.

Bride's Novato Home Is Scene Of Wedding

The Novato home of the bride's parents was the setting for the wedding of Maribeth A. Patterson and Arthur F. Marinaccio of San Anselmo on July 7.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Patterson, and Arthur is the son of Mrs. Arthur J. Marinaccio of San Anselmo and the late Mr. Marinaccio.

Mrs. Steven Sozanski of Fairfield, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Kathy Musser of Novato, Mrs. Michale Patterson of Sausalito and Mrs. David Smith of Petaluma.

Nicholas Paris of San Anselmo was best man, and ushers were Gil Merrill of Los Angeles and brothers of the bridegroom, Capt. Stephen Marinaccio of Fort Bliss, Tex., and Paul Marinaccio of San Anselmo.

A reception was held at the Novato Community House. The couple will live in Sacramento.

The bride is also the sister of Michael Patterson of Sausalito. She was graduated from Novato High School and will be graduated from California State University, Sacramento, in 1974.

The bridegroom was graduated from North Hollywood High School and will be graduated from the University of California at Davis in 1974.

Newlyweds To Live In Honolulu

William Warren Nichelmann wed Karen Jean Anderson in a ceremony at Montgomery Chapel in San Anselmo on July 7.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson of San Rafael, and William is the son of Will Nichelmann of Sacramento and Mrs. Nancie Modlin of Honolulu.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Lynn Klyse of Stockton, and Joanna Pattalochi of San Rafael was her bridesmaid.

James Nichelmann of Sacramento served as best man for his brother, and ushering guests to their seats were Greg Collins, Steven Fanfelle and Duane Wallace, all of San Rafael.

The Marin Art and Garden Center was the setting for the wedding reception. The couple went on a wedding trip to Disneyland and will live in Honolulu.

The bride was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is a graduate of the College of Marin registered nursing program and was employed at Kaiser Hospital in San Rafael. Her grandfather is Frank Eischen of San Jose.

The bridegroom was also graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed at Northgate Bourbon Shop. Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Nichelmann of Concord are his grandparents.

Cut Foliage Useful

For that cool look this summer both inside the house and on the patio or porch, use plenty of cut green foliage, says the Society of American Florists. It's economical, easy to work with, and will last for weeks, even months.

Adoption Joins Parenthood As Industry Fringe Benefit

By DAVID T. COOK
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

An adopted baby is industry's latest fringe benefit.

Biological parenthood has long enjoyed corporate sponsorship through group insurance plans that defray maternity costs. Now two major firms will help workers pay adopted parenthood's limited costs.

THE LARGEST firm offering adoption benefits is International Business Machines, which provided its adoption-assistance plan in December, 1972. The plan pays up to $800 to meet adoption-related fees. The firm specifies, however, that its share of total adoption expenses not exceed 80 per cent.

S. C. Johnson and Son pioneered adoption-assistance plans in the United States. Since 1970 the Racine, Wis., wax-making firm has offered a $500 adoption benefit to its 3,200 employees. According to spokesman Neil Seiser, the adoption grant developed from "an idea in an employee suggestion box."

The costs both plans defray vary widely depending on the source of the child being adopted.

There are two legal sources of adoptable children. The lowest cost and most commonly utilized is the private or public agency. Agencies' fees are commonly determined by using a sliding scale based on the adoptive parents' ability to pay.

The Children's Bureau of Los Angeles, for example, charges up to $1,200, according to case worker Mary Downes. The Boston Child Services Association fee ranges as high as $1,000. Both agencies' fees are waived in certain cases since they are based on the parents' total income.

HOME DECORATING

It Makes A Shade Of A Difference

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

(Third in a series of six articles on economical home decorating

NEW YORK — Since windows take up a lot of space in most rooms, they play an important decorative role. The way they are treated helps establish a room's personality — its look, feel and mood. For the person on a mini-budget who cannot afford to swathe drape and festoon, decorative window shades offer an inexpensive, "do-it-yourself" way out.

"With lower ceilings, smaller rooms and modern temperature controls, the heavily swathed window treatment suddenly seems dated and practically obsolete," says Yilda A. Sachs, of the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

THERE HAVE never been more versatile colors, patterns and textures available. Today's window shades control light and privacy, help shut out summer heat and increase the efficiency of air-conditioning."

By designing your windows' fashion image yourself, you can stretch decorating dollars. Such treatments involve lamination of fabrics on to shades, painting designs, "appliqueing" motifs from fabrics or wallcoverings, and attaching decorative trim in the dozens of braids, ribbons, tassels, eyelets and woven and printed borders now available.

Designer John Hayden brought the outdoors inside — in his old New York brownstone bedrooom-study — by laminating a huge leafy frond pattern of indigo blue and mocha to the window shades. He, too, framed his windows with wooden shutters and painted the shutters, ceiling and woodwork the same deep indigo of the window shade print.

LAMINATING YOUR favorite fabric to your shades can be an expensive process, and it should be done professionally by shade specialists for best results. However, at least two companies now make good do-it-yourself laminating kits, which bring the cost down considerably. Joanna Western Mills offers Lam-Eze, a complete kit which retails for approximately $18 per shade. It is a fast, easy, no-heat, no-wet method that involves pressure only.

The Stauffer Tontine Tran-Lam shade, on the other hand, is a translucent heat-sensitive shade cloth that is specifically made for use with decorative fabrics. The warmth of an iron releases its adhesive quality (on white shade cloth only) for quick do-it-yourself lamination. A kit for windows up to 37¼ inches wide retails for about $10, and those up to 46¼ inches wide, for about $13.

To dress up plain shades, there are packages of press-on fringes as well as dozens of braids, balls, bands and borders (in trimmings departments of stores where stock shades are sold.)

Never try to sew such trimming on shades, warns the Association, because pulling and puckering can result. Allow yardage one-and-a-half times the width of the shade, for each row, and when applying, trimming should never be stretched taut.

TO "APPLIQUE" a flower, for instance, cut from a favorite chintz, paint raw edges of fabric with colorless nail polish to keep it from raveling, apply glue and smooth into place on the shade cloth. With an abundance of "aids" available to do-it-yourselfers (including ready-made decals and flexible stick-ons) window shades can truly help set the pace for any room.

You might also enjoy hand painting your decoration on window shades. You can use stencils or paint freehand designs using acrylic, vinyl-base latex paint or textile paints. Some shades will take a thin oil paint and some will take magic markers. Test first to make sure. Magic markers should be waterproof variety.

Several booklets are available that might spur your own creative process: They include "Do-It-Yourself Ideas for Window Shades" and "The Decorative Window Shade" — both available for 25 cents each from the Window Shade Manufacturers Association, Dept. 161, 230 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

"Window Shade Parade" is full of ideas and may be had for 75 cents from Breneman, Inc., 1133 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio. 45210.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sisterhood's Gotten To Be Too Much A One-Way Street

DEAR HELEN:

I don't remember my oldest sister being so chintzy when we were younger, but since she has married again she's impossible.

They live nearby. He has more money than the rest of the family — the reason probably being that he never lets any of it go, except to spend on themselves.

They put their trash in our cans so they won't have to pay the garbage collector. They don't even give gifts to their own children, and the grandchildren get little 25 cent toys from them for Christmas.

They never entertain. If we have a family potluck, my sister brings a dinky bowl of gelatin dessert, which costs her all of 15 cents. Yet they "just happen" in on every dinner we give, and he fills his plate at least three times. They also happen by at supper time regularly, giving everyone in the large family a turn at feeding them. We're not the kind of people who snub kinfolks — and they know it! But if one of our kids is at their house and sees the candy dish before they give it, he'd better not ask for a piece or he gets a lecture on manners.

My son took care of their lawn and garden while they were on a four-week trip, also fed their cats, and all he got was a postcard from France. When there's a wedding or baby shower in the family, my sister conveniently forgets the date.

Now all this we could take and laugh at, but they rub it in about how they go on trips and have nice things for their house, implying that we are poor managers. My sister is always downgrading my furniture and clothes, and bragging about their latest trip abroad.

I remember how close we once were and try to be nice; after all she was like a mother to me. Should I hold it in or explode? — READY TO . . .

DEAR R.T.:

An honest explosion might clear the air —at any rate it would keep more food on your supper table. I'd say these family ties are overdue for a little loosening. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I'm invited to a baby shower for my son-in-law's sister. Her family seems to think it's quite proper, but somehow I still believe a girl should be married before friends celebrate her coming motherhood with a party and gifts. My daughter says it's THEIR decision and not our business. She's going.

There's no reason why these two young people can't be married but they seem in no hurry.

Am I the odd ball, and should I show approval I don't feel by attending the shower? — NOT HOLY-HOLY, BUT NOT WHOLLY CONVINCED EITHER

DEAR NOT:

There's no reason why you should attend a shower which makes you feel uncomfortable.

Also, there's no reason why friends shouldn't give a shower for an expectant mother. If you can't understand, at least don't condemn. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband just confessed to me that he has been having an affair off and on for seven years with my very best friend, who is also married. He says her little six-year-old son may be his.

He now wants to get away from her, but she is determined to keep him. He says he loves only me and I love him enough to forget this, but what do we do about the woman? If I cut her and her husband off, he'll wonder why, and he's too nice a guy to be hurt as I've been hurt. Besides, they've been friends so long . . . What can we do? — FRIENDS AND LOVERS

DEAR F AND L:

I think you and the woman should have one last "friendly" chat. Tell her you'll keep her secret if she cooperates in breaking up the foursome. But if she continues chasing your husband, HER husband will be the second to know. — H.

MONEY MATTERS

Buying A Mobile Home Calls For Careful Shopping Around

By JOSEPHINE RIPLEY
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — If you decide that your best buy in low-cost housing is a mobile home —and it probably is — how do you go about buying one?

Do you buy the mobile home first, then look around for a park in which to place it? Or do you choose the park in which you would like to live, then buy your home?

If you are wise, you will do the latter. Or you will shop for both at the same time and commit yourself to neither until your choices can be combined.

The reason is this: Most mobile-park managers are also mobile-home dealers. This makes them reluctant to admit someone with a rival product. Under some circumstances they may do so, but generally they will not.

ALSO, YOU do not buy a plot of land in a mobile-home park, you rent it. Rents range from about $50 a month to $100 or more, depending on the facilities provided. Look it over carefully. Visit it several times and talk to the park manager. Ask to see a copy of the rules and regulations.

This document is important and revealing. It spells out policies with regard to pets, admission of families with children, facilities, the upkeep of your property (what is your responsibility and what the management will do).

For instance, will you be charged for trash removal services or does the management pay for this? Does the park charge an "entrance fee?" If so, how much is it? It may be several hundreds of dollars in places where space is at a premium.

Or there may be no fee at all, as in California where park spaces are plentiful and parks compete for occupants.

You should also ask if you are free to rent or sell your home should you wish to do so at some time in the future. Does the park owner ask a commission on sale or rental?

Some parks not only require a departing family to remove their home from the park, but charge an "exit fee." They want to have new homes coming into the park and avoid the accumulation of old ones. The "exit fee," they say, is to cover the cost of preparing the site for the newcomer.

SO DON'T park in a park until you know what the ground rules are. And be equally inquisitive when it comes to the selection of your mobile home.

It is generally acknowledged by housing authorities that mobile homes are about the only new housing under $15,000 to be had in the country today.

Prices of these homes range from about $6,000 to $18,000 for the deluxe models. The price includes wall-to-wall carpeting, draperies, furniture and kitchen appliances.

It does not include such extras as a washer and dryer, a disposal or an air-conditioning system. You may have them if you wish to pay for them: an air-conditioning system would cost about $400.

There are "essential extras" which you must provide and pay for. These include steps with handrails for every outside door. They include the "piers," such as building blocks, for the foundation.

Most parks require "skirting" around the house to conceal the wheels and the mountings on which the mobile home rests.

"Anchors" are standard equipment on most mobile homes, but they must be attached to the ground footings to be effective. This is the owner's responsibility. It is an important one, especially in areas of high winds.

THE OWNER must also provide the concrete strips or base for the house, if they are not already on the site. If you want a carport or outside storage space, awnings, porches, etc., you must provide these also.

Don't forget that your house has wheels, even if you don't use them. Sometimes they are a built-in part of your house; sometimes they are removable.

What you do with them may affect your taxes. If the wheels are left on, your mobile home will probably be taxed as personal property. If removed, you may be subject to a real estate tax. It all depends on the laws of the state or community in which you locate.

In California, you are not allowed to remove the wheels. In Florida, you may remove them if you wish.

Seven million Americans live in mobile homes today, with an estimated 300,000 people a year joining the ranks. Who are they? More than half of them are young couples; about a quarter of them are retired people; many are members of the military.

The important thing in buying a mobile home is to investigate before you invest. To help you do this, there are two extremely useful booklets. "Buying and Financing a Mobile Home," by the Department of Housing and Urban Development is one. For a free copy write Consumer Product Information, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

For "Facts on Mobile Home Selection," prepared by the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Inc., in cooperation with the Mobile Homes Manufacturers Association, send a 16-cent stamped envelope to above assocation, Dept. CBBB, Box 32, Chantilly, Va. 22021.

MUSIC REVIEW

Young Musicians Shine In Closer

By Martin Frick

Dominican College drew its largest audience for the last of three Forest Meadows concerts yesterday afternoon, a mini-marathon featuring young musicians from Marin County. It is a credit to the performers that such a large portion of the audience stuck it out for the full two and one half hours.

The reward for such endurance was well worth it. For the Brahms Sonata in D minor, Op. 108, at the end of the marathon, was given a superb performance by violinist Mark Jordan and pianist Julie Jordan. They approached the sonata with cool calculation, but not without sensitivity.

Tempo changes were comfortably executed most notably in the final movement where rushing agitated passages were perfectly contrasted with unrushed passages characterized by a bouncy lightness. The adagio movement was filled with expression and carried off once again by an acute sense of tempo and perfect ensemble playing.

Both performers had appeared earlier. Miss Jordan had demonstrated her sensitivity to contrast already in Chopin's scherzo in B minor, Op. 20. Here, she hushed the dreamy trio section between the virtuoso scherzo and its repeat which she skillfully thundered.

John Antes' trio in D minor, Op. 3, no. 2, had brought Jordan together with Laurel Elkjer on the flute, and Michelle Bergman on the cello, in a well-balanced performance that was appealingly understated. In the slow movement, Jordan and Miss Elkjer alternated with great clarity between melody and obbligato while Miss Bergman bowed sympathetically beneath them.

Jordan also assisted Rebecca Jones, the only singer on the program, in two songs by Handel and two by Vaughan Williams; the two performers bringing their most beautiful phrasing to Handel's "Quell' Amore." Miss Jones had earlier demonstrated some crystal clear coloratura passages with her light, young voice in arias by Rossini and Puccini, accompanied by pianist Judith Storss.

Sensitive phrasing also marked John Tomlinson's excellent performance of Bach's Sonata for Flute in B minor, No. 1, accompanied by Bronwen Spencer.

The potpourri of styles included the 20th Century as well. Pianist Richard Secrist opened the program with Alban Berg's Piano Sonata, Op. 1, vividly setting forth the seeds of Berg's later more atonal concern with linear movement through interval displacement.

Paul Denegri's shy stage manner belies the power and confidence he possesses at the keyboard. His control over the thick, percussiveness of Bartok's "Ostinato" and "Bulgarian Dances" as well as the second Prelude of Lee Hoiby, which could have been composed by Rachmaninov, demonstrated that, like all yesterday's performers, this 16-year-old pianist will be heard from again.

Fairfax To Try Working Out Budget

The Fairfax Town Council will attempt to resolve a pay dispute with town policemen and adopt a budget of $807,453 for 1973-74 when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Wages and fringe benefits for town safety personnel are the only major items left undecided in the proposed spending program, according to Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The town has offered policemen a flat 5 per cent wage increase and about a 2.5 per cent increase in fringe benefits, Crowe said.

The Fairfax Police Officers Association has acdepted the fringe benefit offer, but has requested a 10 per cent increase in wages.

A committee of city councilmen last week told policemen it is unlikely the town will be able to afford the request for a 10 per cent wage increase.

Romney Favored For Senate Seat

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — George Romney, former secretary of housing and urban development, would be a favorite among Republican voters to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, a newspaper poll published yesterday showed.

The Salt Lake City Tribune said if the election were held now, 53 per cent of Republicans would favor Romney.

Burton Calls Separation From Miss Taylor A 'Journalistic Joke'

MOSCOW (UPI) — That separation from Elizabeth Taylor, said Richard Burton, was a "journalistic joke" that will end Friday in Rome.

And as for published suggestions of a romance between his wife of nine years and actor Peter Lawford, nothing to it. "Good gracious me," Burton said yesterday. "He's just a very old friend."

Lawford has been photographed with Miss Taylor in Hollywood nightclubs several times since she announced July 3 that she and Burton had separated.

"It's just a journalistic joke," Burton said of the highly-publicized split when he arrived from Rome to attend the Moscow film festival. It was Burton's first visit to the Soviet Union.

"My wife and I will meet in Rome on Friday," he said. "She wanted to come here but her mother is very sick, very ill, and she had to stay with her mother (in California)."

Burton said he had spoken with Miss Taylor by telephone Sunday before leaving Rome and added that they have called each other "about three times a day" since Miss Taylor announced the separation.

"This is the longest separation we've ever had," Burton said. It will be 10 days."

He did not explain how he figured 10 days from July 3 to next Friday—July 20.

A spokesman for Miss Taylor said last week she would rejoin Burton in Rome at the end of this week. They are making two separate films in Italy.

Asked if the interest in the separation surprised him, Burton replied:

"My dear fellow, for 25 years I've had nothing but attention from the press. So has my wife. It's something that happens now and again. It will fall away, I suppose, in a couple of weeks."

Burton later changed into a black Mao suit and attended the festival's Sunday night premiere of the film "Massacre in Rome." He stars in it.

He said he and Italian producer Carlo Ponti, who accompanied him, will return to Rome tomorrow.

A Watery Search Begins For A Lost Continent

CADIZ, Spain (UPI) — A team of scuba divers set out today to search the floor of the Gulf of Cadiz for Atlantis, a continent that legend says sank under the sea thousands of years ago.

"We expect to find an entire city or at least evidence of ruined buildings," said Jacques Mayal, the team leader and a veteran seeker of Atlantis. "But our first task is photographing and surveying. We will not pull out any artifacts or fragments of buildings."

The divers are part of a 70-member expedition of U.S. students, teachers and adventurers who arrived a week ago to study the area off southwest Spain—and to search for what legend describes as the cradle of a supercivilization that once spanned the Atlantic Ocean.

Six divers planned to go down today in shoal areas 12 miles off Cadiz.

"It looks hopeful," said Phil Farrell, a diving instructor from California and one of the six divers going down today. "Diving off local beaches last week, we saw a Roman column and amphora. If we can find a 2,000-year old amphora close to shore, we can find many interesting remains out in the ocean."

Most archaeologists have dismissed previous reports of ruins off the Spanish coast. But Mrs. Maxine Asher, co-director of the project, said she believes she and other spiritualists have psychic proofs of Atlantis' existence.

"I simply know we will find it because I am psychic and the highly civilised people of Atlantis were very psychic," she said. "How strong the vibrations are these days!"

As evidence that Atlantis once existed, Mrs. Asher cited the dialogs of the Greek philosopher Plato, who in the fourth century before Christ described an idyllic civilization beyond what is now the straits of Gibraltar. It reputedly sank into the sea 13,000 years ago after a cataclysm of undetermined origin.

"Scholars have found proof of Inoan and Rojan civilizations that were once considered mythical," said Julius Bava, a professor of history at California State University. "The same Greek stories that refer to those civilizations also refer to Atlantis. So at face value, it is no less credible."

Another San Francisco Killing; Found By Novatan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police are investigating the death of a young redhaired woman found nude and apparently killed like three others here in the last six weeks.

Like the others, the unidentified victim was in her late teens or early 20s, homicide inspector John McKenna said. And like the third victim two weeks ago, she was found on a school campus.

McKenna said a woman attending a karate demonstration at George Washington High School, Janice Sawyer of Novato, discovered the body yesterday lying in an alcove between buildings.

Acting coroner Dr. Ervin Jindrich described the dead woman as 5 foot 6, 140 pounds with a gold earring in her right ear. He said she had been dead less than 24 hours.

It is the fourth such murder since May 29 when the body of Rosa Vasquez, 20, was found in shrubbery in Golden Gate Park. On June 10, Yvonne Quilantang, 15, was found dead in a vacant lot located in another part of the city. Then on July 3, 16-year-old Angela Thomas was found dead on a junior high school playground.

Noting similarities between the cases, McKenna said, "We have four females. They were all nude and all had apparently been suffocated or strangled. All of them were found in areas of public access, but we have nothing in their backgrounds to connect all the victims.

"The only way to connect this is if we have some kind of freak who travels the whole city," he said. "That could be, but it's all guessing."

McKenna said he didn't know whether the latest victim had been sexually assaulted, but only one of the other three apparently had engaged in sexual intercourse shortly before death.

Police said they have no suspects in any of the cases.

HOME DECORATING

It Makes A Shade Of A Difference

By MARILYN HOFFMAN
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

(Third in a series of six articles on economical home decorating

NEW YORK — Since windows take up a lot of space in most rooms, they play an important decorative role. The way they are treated helps establish a room's personality — its look, feel and mood. For the person on a mini-budget who cannot afford to swathe drape and festoon, decorative window shades offer an inexpensive, "do-it-yourself" way out.

"With lower ceilings, smaller rooms and modern temperature controls, the heavily swathed window treatment suddenly seems dated and practically obsolete," says Yilda A. Sachs, of the Window Shade Manufacturers Association.

THERE HAVE never been more versatile colors, patterns and textures available. Today's window shades control light and privacy, help shut out summer heat and increase the efficiency of air-conditioning."

By designing your windows' fashion image yourself, you can stretch decorating dollars. Such treatments involve lamination of fabrics on to shades, painting designs, "appliqueing" motifs from fabrics or wallcoverings, and attaching decorative trim in the dozens of braids, ribbons, tassels, eyelets and woven and printed borders now available.

Designer John Hayden brought the outdoors inside — in his old New York brownstone bedrooom-study — by laminating a huge leafy frond pattern of indigo blue and mocha to the window shades. He, too, framed his windows with wooden shutters and painted the shutters, ceiling and woodwork the same deep indigo of the window shade print.

LAMINATING YOUR favorite fabric to your shades can be an expensive process, and it should be done professionally by shade specialists for best results. However, at least two companies now make good do-it-yourself laminating kits, which bring the cost down considerably. Joanna Western Mills offers Lam-Eze, a complete kit which retails for approximately $18 per shade. It is a fast, easy, no-heat, no-wet method that involves pressure only.

The Stauffer Tontine Tran-Lam shade, on the other hand, is a translucent heat-sensitive shade cloth that is specifically made for use with decorative fabrics. The warmth of an iron releases its adhesive quality (on white shade cloth only) for quick do-it-yourself lamination. A kit for windows up to 37¼ inches wide retails for about $10, and those up to 46¼ inches wide, for about $13.

To dress up plain shades, there are packages of press-on fringes as well as dozens of braids, balls, bands and borders (in trimmings departments of stores where stock shades are sold.)

Never try to sew such trimming on shades, warns the Association, because pulling and puckering can result. Allow yardage one-and-a-half times the width of the shade, for each row, and when applying, trimming should never be stretched taut.

TO "APPLIQUE" a flower, for instance, cut from a favorite chintz, paint raw edges of fabric with colorless nail polish to keep it from raveling, apply glue and smooth into place on the shade cloth. With an abundance of "aids" available to do-it-yourselfers (including ready-made decals and flexible stick-ons) window shades can truly help set the pace for any room.

You might also enjoy hand painting your decoration on window shades. You can use stencils or paint freehand designs using acrylic, vinyl-base latex paint or textile paints. Some shades will take a thin oil paint and some will take magic markers. Test first to make sure. Magic markers should be waterproof variety.

Several booklets are available that might spur your own creative process: They include "Do-It-Yourself Ideas for Window Shades" and "The Decorative Window Shade" — both available for 25 cents each from the Window Shade Manufacturers Association, Dept. 161, 230 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

"Window Shade Parade" is full of ideas and may be had for 75 cents from Breneman, Inc., 1133 Sycamore St., Cincinnati, Ohio. 45210.

Ryan Joins Select Group With His Second No-Hitter

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nolan Ryan has done it again and most baseball experts think he's capable of doing it again...and again...and again.

Pitching a no-hitter has been a once-in-a-lifetime experience for all but a handful of pitchers. Sandy Koufax, who pitched four, and Larry Corcoran, Cy Young and Bob Feller, each of whom pitched three, are the only pitchers who have achieved more than two during their careers.

Then there is another select group of four pitchers—Johnny Vander Meer in 1938, Allie Reynolds in 1951, Virgil Trucks in 1952 and now Ryan—who have pitched two no-hitters in one season.

Ryan pitched his second nohitter in two months Sunday with an overpowering 17- strikeout performance which gave the California Angels a 6-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The 17 strikeouts were one short of Feller's American League record set in 1938, two short of the major league record shared by Steve Carlton and Tom Seaver, and the most any pitcher ever had in a no-hit game. In the latter sense, Ryan's second no-hitter could be called the most overpowering ever pitched in the majors.

The eerie aspect of the 26-year-old soft-spoken Ryan's career is that most of his old friends in the National League and new friends in the AL simply assume he can pitch more. Nor do they place any limitations on the number.

"He can pitch a no-hitter any time he goes to the mound," says teammate Rudy May. "He has so much speed and stuff that he is virtually impossible to hit when he puts it all together."

"Just overpowering," comments Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, who ranks fourth on the all-time career home run list. "It's almost sinful for a pitcher to have his combination of speed and stuff."

Ryan, who struck out 329 batters in 284 innings last season, has fanned 220 in 189 innings this year. Ryan's 1972 strikeout total was the fourth highest in major league history and his 220 strikeouts so far this season are more than such great strikeout pitchers as Lefty Grove, Dizzy Dean and Cy Young ever achieved in full seasons.

The man whose overpowering stuff creates such awe in teammates and rivals is still essentially the same modest fellow who struggled through four fitful seasons with the New York Mets. Ryan had a composite 29-37 record for those four seasons and was traded to the Angels for infielder Jim Fregosi because the Mets thought he would never develop into a star.

"I have no hard feelings about what happened with the Mets," says Ryan. "They were trying for a pennant and I got lost in the shuffle as they searched for a consistency I didn't have. I got that consistency in 1972 when the Angels, who had a long-range view, left me in the rotation even when I wasn't going well."

The almost boyish-looking Ryan has none of the complicated pitching theories of Seaver, the challenging combativeness of Bob Gibson or the rugged spirit of 1776 of Mickey Lolich.

"It's nice to have my name linked with such great pitchers," he says. "But I'm just me. You throw it over the plate with enough stuff on it and not many hitters are going to hurt you."

Nolan, in fact, hasn't been at all satisfied with his overall performance this year. His won-lost record is 11-11 and he discounts the fact that his teammates haven't scored many runs for him.

"I have been inconsistent," he says. "I haven't pitched as consistently as a major league pitcher should."

Oddly, Ryan's evaluation of himself is shared to some degree by the same men who hold his talents in such awe. They don't regard him as a finished craftsman but rather as an enormously talented pitcher who has yet to reach his peak.

And they just shake their heads in wonder when asked what they think Nolan will be like when he does reach that peak.

Giant Graybeards Have Their Day

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Around San Francisco they call them the "young giants."

But after Sunday's 12-0 drubbing of the Pittsburgh Pirates, "Willie, Juan and the kids" wouldn't be a bad name either.

The victory over the Pirates wasn't an old man's show altogether with Garry Maddox and Ed Goodson contributing homers and Gary Matthews and Mike Phillips adding a pair of RBI singles. But for the most part the game belonged to Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal, the Giants' graybeards.

McCovey, now in his 35th year, hit his 16th and 17th homers for a 401 career total while Marichal, with only one other start since June 16 and admittedly a man who had lost his confidence, pitched a four-hit shutout.

"We've said right along," said Manager Charlie Fox, "that Willie and Juan have to show us the way. They sure did Sunday."

McCovey, who still is miffed at Fox for benching him for five days a week ago, said he was glad to get homer No. 400 "but it wasn't as big a thrill as it could have been. I don't like being put in the position of having to prove myself, and obviously from what has happened of late you'd have to say that's just where I am."

McCovey hit his 400th—off Pirates starter and loser Bob Moose—in the third and he added No. 401 off reliever Bob Johnson in the fifth. That put McCovey 15th on the all-time homer list, six behind the closest man to him—Duke Snider. the next two closest to him are Stan Musial with 475 and Lou Gehrig with 493.

The victory Sunday was a most rewarding one for Marichal, reduced of late to bullpen duty.

"Pitching a shutout over the Pirates," said the 34-year-old righthander, "showed me I can

First Place A's Open Homestand

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's, holding a 3 ½ game margin over second-place Kansas City in the American League West, return home tonight for a six-game homestand before the All-Star break.

Catfish Hunter will shoot for his 10th straight win tonight against the Baltimore Orioles in the first game of a three-game series. Hunter is 14-3.

The A's scored four runs in the ninth Sunday for a come-from-behind 8-5 win over the Milwaukee Brewers. Bill North's ninth-inning double drove in two runs and Reggie Jackson added a two-run homer in that stanza.

Milwaukee hurler Chris Short, in relief of starter Jerry Bell, retired 14 A's in order before Dick Green and Bert Campaneris singled with one out prior to North's double. Jackson hit his 20th homer with two out.

Rollie Fingers, who relieved John "Blue Moon" Odom in the third, held the Brewers scoreless the rest of the way to record his third victory against five defeats. Short took the loss, his second against three wins. Fingers' ERA of 1.41 is tops in the majors.

Jesse Jefferson, 3-1, will be on the mound for Baltimore tonight.

The Orioles, in hot pursuit of New York in the American League East, figure to throw such hurlers as Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar against the defending champs during the meeting.

The Orioles dropped three out of four to the A's when Oakland opened its 10-game road trip in Baltimore.

BRITISH OPEN CHAMP

Weiskopf Lauded

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — "I won't consider myself a great player until I've won a major tournament," said Tom Weiskopf.

Then, 24 hours later, he went and won the British Open Golf championship on Saturday.

Did that make him the greatest?

Weiskopf never said.

Instead, the 6-foot, 3-inch champion, whose $14,300 victory at Troon boosted his earnings in the past seven weeks to $131,445, thought only of his one regret—that his father, who died in March, was not alive to share the sweet taste of victory.

"He just lived for my golf—he was my biggest fan," Weiskopf said. "My one regret is that he's not here to see this. But I guess he knew it would happen one day."

But at Troon, on the wind and rain-savaged 7,064-yard seaside course where he equalled Arnold Palmer's 11-year-old British Open record, it was unnecessary for the new champion to proclaim his talents.

There were others, well qualified to do so, who gladly lauded his win and his golfing gifts.

Jack Nicklaus, the "Golden Bear" from Columbus, Ohio, who shot a seven-under-par fourth round 65 to shatter the Troon course record, dismissed his own achievement as of almost no importance.

"This has been Tom Weiskopf's tournament," said Nicklaus, whose last round brilliance pulled him into fourth spot at eight-under-par 280.

"Weiskopf has more natural talent, more shots, than anybody playing here," said Nicklaus.

Nicklaus's golden words were echoed by Lee Trevino, British Open champion in 1971 and 1972, whose bid for three-in-arow ended with a one-over-par 289—13 strokes behind Weiskopf.

The merry Trevino, whose quipping and merriment diminished after a disastrous first round of 75 showed his game would not match his pretourney confidence, said: "Tom Weiskopf is a very good player. He's just beginning to realize how good a player he is."

Johnny Miller—who tied for second place with veteran Briton Neil Coles after a great battle with Weiskopf, said: "Tom played well today."

No mean compliment from the man who won the U.S. Open title at Oakmont, Pa., last month with a stunning last round 63.

No wonder Tom Weiskopf says nothing. It's all being said for him.

Suyderhoud Wins First Masters Water Ski Title

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — Mike Suyderhoud didn't win a thing over the weekend in the Masters Water Ski Championships at Callaway Gardens, and yet he won everything.

Although he failed to win any of the individual events, the 23-year-old Petaluman accummulated enough points to capture the overall title for the first time, ending a drought which was water skiing's equivalent of Sam Snead never winning a U.S. Open or Ernie Banks never playing in a World Series.

Suyderhoud, a former San Anselmo resident, had captured virtually every other important title in the sport, including last year's U.S. Nationals.

In the Masters, he edged Robert Kempton of Tampa, Fla., by a slim 28 points, 2,867 to 2,839. Suyderhoud was second in tricks, fourth in slalom and fifth in the jump.

Event winners were Tony Kruga of Jackson, Mich., in tricks; Ricky McCormick, the 1970-71 Masters champion, in the jump; and Kris LaPoint of Castro Valley, Calif., in the slalom.

On the women's side, Liz Allen Shetter of Groveland, Fla., took the overall title for the sixth time in seven years and posted a perfect over-all score by putting together the best two-day performances in all three events of the three-day tournament.

Mrs. Shetter, 22, took the individual slalom and jump titles but lost the tricks to Barbara Cleveland, 32, of Hawthorne, Fla., by falling in the water during Sunday's run after leading for two days.

Raiders' Branch Starts Off Well

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Is Cliff Branch the man to make Oakland Raider fans forget about Warren Wells?

He's already proven he's faster than Bob Hayes, which isn't a bad way to start a second season.

Branch contributed little to the Raiders' fifth American Football Conference Western Division championship in six years last season, and had to watch another rookie, Mike Siani, hold down the wide receiver spot almost the entire year.

But this year may be different. Branch reported to the Raiders' rookie camp in Santa Rosa to work on his cuts and fakes. He's also been working on rookie defensive backs, much to the delight of team owner Al Davis.

"That's what I'm hoping for, to give the club what it had with Warren," Branch said between practice sessions.

"What it had with Warren" was a bullet-fast receiver who could go deep at any time and unnerve a defensive backfield.

Although this is just his third day in camp, "I can already feel the improvement," Branch said.

"Even with a little experience, you seem to know what it's all about."

Branch, who has been running the 100-yard dash in either 9.2 or 9.3 since he was in high school, beat Bob Hayes several weeks ago in a 40-yard race in Portland, Ore. It was the only defeat the Dallas Cowboy receiver and former Olympic gold medalist has suffered in 14 professional track and field events.

49ers' Thomas At Work

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The career of San Francisco 49er Jimmy Thomas has been a cross between an elevator and a ping pong ball. Up and down, back and forth.

With excellent speed, good pass-catching hands, and the ability to run in daylight, Thomas has played brilliantly one game but poorly the next. The 6-foot-4, 214-pounder ball carrier can break off on long sprints one play, then go down like a man half his size when hit on the next.

Since he came from the University of Texas-Arlington in 1969, Thomas has switched from wide receiver to fullback, back to wide receiver, and last year to halfback.

As a running back, his blocking has never struck terror in the hearts of blitzing linebackers, yet he caught fewer passes as a wide receiver with the 49ers than he did when he was a fullback.

"You don't have to tell me; I know I've had problems," Thomas said Sunday at the 49ers rookie camp here. He reported early at the coaching staff's request to work on his blocking and build up stamina.

Thomas didn't complete the 1¾-mile run Sunday in the 12 minutes or less required for backs. But he remains optimistic, saying his problems are "mental not physical."

"The only thing keeping me from being a real good ball player is my blocking," he said. "I've got to learn. As I said, it's mental. I have mental lapses and I've just got to end them."

BELVEDERE TENNIS

Louie Sisters Dominate

It was family time at the 84th annual Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championship over the weekend on the Belvedere Tennis Club courts.

The Louie sisters of San Francisco won four out of eight possible titles, with 18 year old Marna and 14-year-old Mareen taking two titles each.

Top-seeded Marna defeated fourth-seeded Leslie Airola of Tiburon, 6-3, 6-3, for her first title, and then combined with another Marinite, Bee Kilgore of Tiburon, to beat the Sacramento team of Debbie Cator and Carolyn Ishii, 6-3, 6-1, for the doubles crown.

Top-seeded Mareen vanquished sixth-seeded Sue Rasmussen of Sunnyvale, 6-1, 6-0, for the singles championship, and then got together with Miss Rasmussen to defeat the duo of Lisa Kearney and Cindy Payne of Alameda, 7-6, 6-2.

The middle sister, Marisa, just missed adding another title to the Louie's already overflowing cup with a 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, loss to eighth-seeded Tammy Mitchell of Palo Alto in Girls 16.

The Crozier brothers of Corpus Christi, Tex. dominated things in boys singles competition, taking two out of four titles.

Unseeded Brian pulled off the biggest upset of the day, coming from behind to conquer first-seeded Mike Shore of Mercer Island, Wash. in Boys 16, 4-6, 7-6, 6-4.

The only seeded Crozier, Paul, lived up to his top billing in Boys 12 with a 6-1, 6-2, victory over Perry Prdoe of Salt Lake City.

Eighteen-year-old Mark suffered the family's only singles loss, falling to third-seeded Mark Johnson of Reno, 6-4, 6-4.

Besides Miss Kilgore, the only Marinites to take a crown, much less be in the finals were the team of Diane DeMartini (Greenbrae) and Lisa Beritzhoff (Mill Valley). They beat the team of Miss Mitchell and Jill Toney of Diable for the Girls 16 doubles crown.

Two other titles was decided yesterday.

In Boys 16 doubles, Mark Cullers and Scott McCain of Woodland rallied to beat the top-seeded team of Shore and

HONOLULU — The Marin-based yacht Improbable remained second in the overall corrected time standings Sunday as the first, faster craft began reaching the finish line in the 27th Los Angeles-to-Honolulu Transpacific Yacht race.

Improbable, owned and skippered by David W. Allen of Belvedere and sailing out of the San Francisco Yacht Club there, lost its lead Friday and by the latest computation still trailed the Los Angeles yacht Ariana Sunday. Tinsley Light was third. All three craft were expected to finish today.

First boat to finish was Ragtime, the 62-foot sloop from the Long Beach Yacht Club, which glided past Diamond Head 40 seconds after midnight Sunday at the conclusion of the 2,225-nautical mile course which took it 10 days, 14 hours and 40 seconds to negotiate.

The 1971 winner and this year's favorite, Windward Passage from New York City, finished the race four minutes and 31 seconds later, within sight of the victor.

MUSIC REVIEW

Young Musicians Shine In Closer

By Martin Frick

Dominican College drew its largest audience for the last of three Forest Meadows concerts yesterday afternoon, a mini-marathon featuring young musicians from Marin County. It is a credit to the performers that such a large portion of the audience stuck it out for the full two and one half hours.

The reward for such endurance was well worth it. For the Brahms Sonata in D minor, Op. 108, at the end of the marathon, was given a superb performance by violinist Mark Jordan and pianist Julie Jordan. They approached the sonata with cool calculation, but not without sensitivity.

Tempo changes were comfortably executed most notably in the final movement where rushing agitated passages were perfectly contrasted with unrushed passages characterized by a bouncy lightness. The adagio movement was filled with expression and carried off once again by an acute sense of tempo and perfect ensemble playing.

Both performers had appeared earlier. Miss Jordan had demonstrated her sensitivity to contrast already in Chopin's scherzo in B minor, Op. 20. Here, she hushed the dreamy trio section between the virtuoso scherzo and its repeat which she skillfully thundered.

John Antes' trio in D minor, Op. 3, no. 2, had brought Jordan together with Laurel Elkjer on the flute, and Michelle Bergman on the cello, in a well-balanced performance that was appealingly understated. In the slow movement, Jordan and Miss Elkjer alternated with great clarity between melody and obbligato while Miss Bergman bowed sympathetically beneath them.

Jordan also assisted Rebecca Jones, the only singer on the program, in two songs by Handel and two by Vaughan Williams; the two performers bringing their most beautiful phrasing to Handel's "Quell' Amore." Miss Jones had earlier demonstrated some crystal clear coloratura passages with her light, young voice in arias by Rossini and Puccini, accompanied by pianist Judith Storss.

Sensitive phrasing also marked John Tomlinson's excellent performance of Bach's Sonata for Flute in B minor, No. 1, accompanied by Bronwen Spencer.

The potpourri of styles included the 20th Century as well. Pianist Richard Secrist opened the program with Alban Berg's Piano Sonata, Op. 1, vividly setting forth the seeds of Berg's later more atonal concern with linear movement through interval displacement.

Paul Denegri's shy stage manner belies the power and confidence he possesses at the keyboard. His control over the thick, percussiveness of Bartok's "Ostinato" and "Bulgarian Dances" as well as the second Prelude of Lee Hoiby, which could have been composed by Rachmaninov, demonstrated that, like all yesterday's performers, this 16-year-old pianist will be heard from again.

Fairfax To Try Working Out Budget

The Fairfax Town Council will attempt to resolve a pay dispute with town policemen and adopt a budget of $807,453 for 1973-74 when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Wages and fringe benefits for town safety personnel are the only major items left undecided in the proposed spending program, according to Town Administrator Robert E. Crowe.

The town has offered policemen a flat 5 per cent wage increase and about a 2.5 per cent increase in fringe benefits, Crowe said.

The Fairfax Police Officers Association has acdepted the fringe benefit offer, but has requested a 10 per cent increase in wages.

A committee of city councilmen last week told policemen it is unlikely the town will be able to afford the request for a 10 per cent wage increase.

Romney Favored For Senate Seat

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — George Romney, former secretary of housing and urban development, would be a favorite among Republican voters to replace retiring U.S. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, a newspaper poll published yesterday showed.

The Salt Lake City Tribune said if the election were held now, 53 per cent of Republicans would favor Romney.

Burton Calls Separation From Miss Taylor A 'Journalistic Joke'

MOSCOW (UPI) — That separation from Elizabeth Taylor, said Richard Burton, was a "journalistic joke" that will end Friday in Rome.

And as for published suggestions of a romance between his wife of nine years and actor Peter Lawford, nothing to it. "Good gracious me," Burton said yesterday. "He's just a very old friend."

Lawford has been photographed with Miss Taylor in Hollywood nightclubs several times since she announced July 3 that she and Burton had separated.

"It's just a journalistic joke," Burton said of the highly-publicized split when he arrived from Rome to attend the Moscow film festival. It was Burton's first visit to the Soviet Union.

"My wife and I will meet in Rome on Friday," he said. "She wanted to come here but her mother is very sick, very ill, and she had to stay with her mother (in California)."

Burton said he had spoken with Miss Taylor by telephone Sunday before leaving Rome and added that they have called each other "about three times a day" since Miss Taylor announced the separation.

"This is the longest separation we've ever had," Burton said. It will be 10 days."

He did not explain how he figured 10 days from July 3 to next Friday—July 20.

A spokesman for Miss Taylor said last week she would rejoin Burton in Rome at the end of this week. They are making two separate films in Italy.

Asked if the interest in the separation surprised him, Burton replied:

"My dear fellow, for 25 years I've had nothing but attention from the press. So has my wife. It's something that happens now and again. It will fall away, I suppose, in a couple of weeks."

Burton later changed into a black Mao suit and attended the festival's Sunday night premiere of the film "Massacre in Rome." He stars in it.

He said he and Italian producer Carlo Ponti, who accompanied him, will return to Rome tomorrow.

A Watery Search Begins For A Lost Continent

CADIZ, Spain (UPI) — A team of scuba divers set out today to search the floor of the Gulf of Cadiz for Atlantis, a continent that legend says sank under the sea thousands of years ago.

"We expect to find an entire city or at least evidence of ruined buildings," said Jacques Mayal, the team leader and a veteran seeker of Atlantis. "But our first task is photographing and surveying. We will not pull out any artifacts or fragments of buildings."

The divers are part of a 70-member expedition of U.S. students, teachers and adventurers who arrived a week ago to study the area off southwest Spain—and to search for what legend describes as the cradle of a supercivilization that once spanned the Atlantic Ocean.

Six divers planned to go down today in shoal areas 12 miles off Cadiz.

"It looks hopeful," said Phil Farrell, a diving instructor from California and one of the six divers going down today. "Diving off local beaches last week, we saw a Roman column and amphora. If we can find a 2,000-year old amphora close to shore, we can find many interesting remains out in the ocean."

Most archaeologists have dismissed previous reports of ruins off the Spanish coast. But Mrs. Maxine Asher, co-director of the project, said she believes she and other spiritualists have psychic proofs of Atlantis' existence.

"I simply know we will find it because I am psychic and the highly civilised people of Atlantis were very psychic," she said. "How strong the vibrations are these days!"

As evidence that Atlantis once existed, Mrs. Asher cited the dialogs of the Greek philosopher Plato, who in the fourth century before Christ described an idyllic civilization beyond what is now the straits of Gibraltar. It reputedly sank into the sea 13,000 years ago after a cataclysm of undetermined origin.

"Scholars have found proof of Inoan and Rojan civilizations that were once considered mythical," said Julius Bava, a professor of history at California State University. "The same Greek stories that refer to those civilizations also refer to Atlantis. So at face value, it is no less credible."

Another San Francisco Killing; Found By Novatan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police are investigating the death of a young redhaired woman found nude and apparentlty killed like three others here in the last six weeks.

Like the others, the unidentified victim was in her late teens or early 20s, homicide inspector John McKenna said. And like the third victim two weeks ago, she was found on a school campus.

McKenna said a woman attending a karate demonstration at George Washington High School, Janice Sawyer of Novato, discovered the body yesterday lying in an alcove between buildings.

Acting coroner Dr. Ervin Jindrich described the dead woman as 5 foot 6, 140 pounds with a gold earring in her right ear. He said she had been dead less than 24 hours.

It is the fourth such murder since May 29 when the body of Rosa Vasquez, 20, was found in shrubbery in Golden Gate Park. On June 10, Yvonne Quilantang, 15, was found dead in a vacant lot located in another part of the city. Then on July 3, 16-year-old Angela Thomas was found dead on a junior high school playground.

Noting similarities between the cases, McKenna said, "We have four females. They were all nude and all had apparently been suffocated or strangled. All of them were found in areas of public access, but we have nothing in their backgrounds to connect all the victims.

"The only way to connect this is if we have some kind of freak who travels the whole city," he said. "That could be, but it's all guessing."

McKenna said he didn't know whether the latest victim had been sexually assaulted, but only one of the other three apparently had engaged in sexual intercourse shortly before death.

Police said they have no suspects in any of the cases.

NO. 400, MEET NO. 234 — San Francisco Giants' Juan Marichal (hatless) gave slugger Willie McCovey an appreciative handshake after McCovey belted his 400th career home run in the third inning against Pittsburgh at Candlestick Park yesterday. McCovey's historic homer helped Marichal reach an historic plateau of his own — his 234th career victory, a 12-0, four-hit blanking of the Pirates, which made him the winningest active pitcher, one victory ahead of Bob Gibson of St. Louis. A Return To Form By Beman

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — Deane Beman, noted for his brain rather than his brawn in six years on the Professional Golfers Association tournament tour, says in winning the $125,000 Shrine-Robinson Golf Open he has completed his convalescence.

Beman, who underwent a delicate arm operation earlier in the year, said that he now feels as if he is playing solid golf again and "that feeling well is really more rewarding to me than winning a tournament."

The former amateur champion, who left a successful insurance business in Washington, D.C., to join the pros at the age of 29, flashed a closing 67 Sunday to take the $25,000 first prize by one stroke.

Beman totaled 271, 13 under par on the Crawford County Country Club course.

Bunky Henry, who went broke after winning only $455 at the Hawaiian Open earlier this year — his entire earnings for the season — and took a month off from the tour to find a sponsor, shared second place with Bob Dickson.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Ryan Says Angels Needed No-Hitter More Than He

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Nolan Ryan really wanted a no-hitter Sunday, but not for himself, for someone else.

Corny as it sounds, he wanted it for the California Angels, and they needed one more than Nolan Ryan did.

He had pitched a no-hitter against the Kansas City Royals on may 15 and when he duplicated the feat against the Detroit Tigers Sunday, Ryan became the first pitcher in 20 years to pitch two no-hitters in the same season.

Ryan, a firebulling 26-year-old righthander from Alvin, Tex., struck out 12 of the first 14 batters he retired as the Caifornia Angels blanked the Tigers, 6-0. Ryan finished with 17 strikeouts—the most ever in a no-hit game—before a Cap Day crowd of 41,411 in Detroit. Ryan walked four batters.

The victory broke a four-game California losing streak and snapped a winning string of five games for the Tigers. It marked the second time this season that a no-hitter has been thrown against Detroit.

"I really wanted it," said Ryan, who rarely talks about himself. "The club needed it and I needed it."

The Angels, in third place, are 4 1-2 games behind the Oakland A's in the American League's tight Western Division scramble.

"I haven't pitched that well recently," said Ryan, who places a high premium on the club's overall success and accepts personal achievements with modesty.

Ryan, who was the major league's strikeout leader last season, has had difficulty in getting batting support from his teammates this season. The victory improved Ryan's record to 11-11 but California Manager Bobby Winkles is banking heavily on Ryan in the second half of the season to lead the Angels into the playoffs.

"I think Nolie feels that for us to be a contender he has to have a good second half," Winkles said. "He's made up his mind he's going to have a good second half even if we don't get him any runs."

In other American League action, New York stopped Kansas City, 2-0, Oakland downed Milwaukee, 8-5, Minnesota edged Cleveland in 10 innings, 7-6, Baltimore edged Chicago, 3-2, and Boston beat Texas, 3-1, in a rain-shortened 5 1-2 inning game.

The Angels gave Ryan a breather at the end with a five-run eighth inning. Winston Llenas cracked a two-run single, Bob Oliver singled home a run and Al Gallagher singled home two more to close out the scoring.

Roy White singled home two runs in the eighth inning to back up the combined four-hit pitching of Sam McDowell and Sparky Lyle in New York's win over Kansas City. McDowell, 4-1, allowed three hits while walking seven and fanning seven. Lyle pitched the ninth to pick up his 24th save of the year.

Danny Thompson's one-out sacrifice fly in the 10th inning scored pinch-runner Mike Adams and gave Minnesota a victory over Cleveland.

Dwight Evans cracked a solo homer in the second inning to give Boston a victory over Texas. Evans snapped a 1-1 tie with his fifth homer of the year into the left field screen with one out in the second. Rain delayed the start of the game for 2 hours and 52 minutes and showers persisted throughout the contest before it finally was called.

Baltimore erupted for three runs on four hits in the top of the sixth inning to edge Chicago.

Marin Soccer Team In 1-1 Tie

SACRAMENTO — Inter-Marin Soccer Club played to a 1-1 tie with the Sacramento Senators here Saturday night in a NorCal Soccer League game at Hughes Stadium.

After a scoreless first half, Ray Parker-Rhodes put Inter-Marin on the scoreboard with a breakaway score 11 minutes into second half play. Frank Dale evened the score for the Senators with a goal five minutes later.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Possible Playoff Preview: Dodgers Demolish Cubs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The recently-completed three-game set between the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs may have been a preview to the National League's championship series this fall, but the Cubs certainly hope not.

The Dodgers completed a sweep by winning Sunday's game, 9-3, to maintain their lead in the West at seven games over San Francisco, which blanked Pittsburgh, 12-0. Chicago's lead in the East shrank to two games over St. Louis.

The Dodgers now have won five straight and eight of nine after starting July with six straight losses. Los Angeles has a .634 winning percentage and its longest lead since the world championship year of 1963.

Playing before a crowd of 42,975, which brought the three-game total to 145,903, the Dodgers came from behind to win for the 27th time this year. They trailed, 2-0, before one-time $100,000 bonus baby Willie Crawford slammed a three-run homer over the left field fence to cap a five-run rally in the third inning and break a 2-2 tie. Pitcher Claude Osteen went on to capture his 11th victory in 16 tries.

"I had a feeling I'd hit one out today," the Dodger outfielder said. "I hit one of his (Rick Reuschel's) hanging curve balls."

In other National League games, Atlanta topped Montreal 6-1, Houston blanked Philadelphia 2-0 in a rain-shortened game, and St. Louis edged San Diego in 15 innings, 5-4.

Ron Schueler scattered five hits in leading Atlanta to its 11th victory in 15 starts by beating the Expos. The Braves broke away with five runs on five hits and three walks in the third inning. The key hit was Johnny Oates' single that drove in Schueller and Ralph Garr.

Ross Grimsley picked up his ninth victory against five losses as the Reds topped New York. Grimsley had a perfect game until Jim Beauchamp beat out an infield single with one out in the fifth inning. He allowed only three other hits, one of them a leadoff Homer in the seventh inning by Willie Mays, his fourth of the season and the 658th of his career.

Dave Roberts blanked the Phillies in a rain-shortened 5½ inning game and the Astros used RBI singles by Doug Rader and Bob Watson to beat Philadelphia.

Bernie Carbo doubled with two out in the top of the 15th inning to drive in Ken Reitz from first base with the winning run as St. Louis outlasted the Padres.

GIANTS

still do the job. It restored my confidence although one game doesn't make a season. We'll just have to see if I can do it again.

"I'll say this, though: being in the bullpen didn't help me or the team. I didn't get to pitch much and besides you don't pay a man like me all that money (an estimated $140,000) to pitch in the bullpen. This game means a lot to me and the club, I think."

Fox said Marichal will rejoin the starting rotation and pitch against Chicago on Friday.

"That's about right for a man my age," said Marichal, referring to a four-day rest between turns, "although I wouldn't mind pitching with three days off."

Marichal now is 7-5 on the year and has two shutouts. The last one came way back on April 25 against the Cubs. He has 52 career shutouts and his overall career won-lost record stands at 234-130, best among active pitchers.

But Bob Gibson of the Cardinals, who pitches tonight against Jim Barr as the Giants start a five-game road trip leading up to the All-Star game, can tie Marichal by beating San Francisco.

Tom Bradley will pitch for the Giants Tuesday and Ron Bryant on Wednesday.

Belvedere Youth Wins Yacht Test

Fourteen-year-old Matthew Jones of Belvedere skippered Rambunctious to a victory in the Midnight-to-Moonlight yacht marathon over the weekend.

Jones piloted his Cal-20 boat, registered out of the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, in an 80-ship field which raced from Angel Island to the entrance of the Vallejo channel.

Koch In Narrow Trans-Miss Win

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Gary Koch played 34 holes before cracking a smile Sunday. And, as it turned out, the University of Florida golfer's expression of happiness was one hole too soon.

Playing Guy Cullins of Denton, Tex., in the finals of the Trans-Mississippi Amateur golf tournament, the 21-year-old Koch evened the match on the 33rd hole with a par after being 4-down with 11 to play.

On the 34th hole, both rifled irons within 15 feet of the flag on the 420-yard hole. Koch rapped in his birdie putt and broke into a smile as he left the green.

But Cullins was equal to the task, sinking his putt, too, and leaving the match even.

The par-5, 497-yard 17th hole at Prairie Dunes Country Club was playing easy because of an unusual north wind. Both players cranked big drives. Cullins' second shot hit in front of the green and kicked down an embankment. Koch drilled a 4-iron onto the green and 16 feet short of the hole.

Cullins chipped within two feet for a cinch birdie before Koch canned his eagle 3 putt. And, when both players parred the last hole, Koch was a 1-up victor.

"When he topped me at 16 (the 34th hole), I thought we might go 50 holes," said Koch, who was runnerup to Ben Crenshaw in the NCAA championships. "But I made the one I had to."

The 5-11, 165-pounder hopes the victory will enable him to win a spot on the Walker Cup team this year.

"I probably won't turn pro until sometime in 1975," said Koch, a public relations major from Temple Terrace, Fla. "I plan to go back to school next year, then play in all the amateur tournaments again next summer and finish school that fall."

Cullins' fondest wish, too, is to gain a spot on the Walker Cup team.

Ryan Joins Select Group With His Second No-Hitter

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nolan Ryan has done it again and most baseball experts think he's capable of doing it again...and again...and again.

Pitching a no-hitter has been a once-in-a-lifetime experience for all but a handful of pitchers. Sandy Koufax, who pitched four, and Larry Corcoran, Cy Young and Bob Feller, each of whom pitched three, are the only pitchers who have achieved more than two during their careers.

Then there is another select group of four pitchers—Johnny Vander Meer in 1938, Allie Reynolds in 1951, Virgil Trucks in 1952 and now Ryan—who have pitched two no-hitters in one season.

Ryan pitched his second nohitter in two months Sunday with an overpowering 17- strikeout performance which gave the California Angels a 6-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The 17 strikeouts were one short of Feller's American League record set in 1938, two short of the major league record shared by Steve Carlton and Tom Seaver, and the most any pitcher ever had in a no-hit game. In the latter sense, Ryan's second no-hitter could be called the most overpowering ever pitched in the majors.

The eerie aspect of the 26-year-old soft-spoken Ryan's career is that most of his old friends in the National League and new friends in the AL simply assume he can pitch more. Nor do they place any limitations on the number.

"He can pitch a no-hitter any time he goes to the mound," says teammate Rudy May. "He has so much speed and stuff that he is virtually impossible to hit when he puts it all together."

"Just overpowering," comments Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins, who ranks fourth on the all-time career home run list. "It's almost sinful for a pitcher to have his combination of speed and stuff."

Ryan, who struck out 329 batters in 284 innings last season, has fanned 220 in 189 innings this year. Ryan's 1972 strikeout total was the fourth highest in major league history and his 220 strikeouts so far this season are more than such great strikeout pitchers as Lefty Grove, Dizzy Dean and Cy Young ever achieved in full seasons.

The man whose overpowering stuff creates such awe in teammates and rivals is still essentially the same modest fellow who struggled through four fitful seasons with the New York Mets. Ryan had a composite 29-37 record for those four seasons and was traded to the Angels for infielder Jim Fregosi because the Mets thought he would never develop into a star.

"I have no hard feelings about what happened with the Mets," says Ryan. "They were trying for a pennant and I got lost in the shuffle as they searched for a consistency I didn't have. I got that consistency in 1972 when the Angels, who had a long-range view, left me in the rotation even when I wasn't going well."

The almost boyish-looking Ryan has none of the complicated pitching theories of Seaver, the challenging combativeness of Bob Gibson or the rugged spirit of 1776 of Mickey Lolich.

"It's nice to have my name linked with such great pitchers," he says. "But I'm just me. You throw it over the plate with enough stuff on it and not many hitters are going to hurt you."

Nolan, in fact, hasn't been at all satisfied with his overall performance this year. His won-lost record is 11-11 and he discounts the fact that his teammates haven't scored many runs for him.

"I have been inconsistent," he says. "I haven't pitched as consistently as a major league pitcher should."

Oddly, Ryan's evaluation of himself is shared to some degree by the same men who hold his talents in such awe. They don't regard him as a finished craftsman but rather as an enormously talented pitcher who has yet to reach his peak.

And they just shake their heads in wonder when asked what they think Nolan will be like when he does reach that peak.

Giant Graybeards Have Their Day

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Around San Francisco they call them the "young giants."

But after Sunday's 12-0 drubbing of the Pittsburgh Pirates, "Willie, Juan and the kids" wouldn't be a bad name either.

The victory over the Pirates wasn't an old man's show altogether with Garry Maddox and Ed Goodson contributing homers and Gary Matthews and Mike Phillips adding a pair of RBI singles. But for the most part the game belonged to Willie McCovey and Juan Marichal, the Giants' graybeards.

McCovey, now in his 35th year, hit his 16th and 17th homers for a 401 career total while Marichal, with only one other start since June 16 and admittedly a man who had lost his confidence, pitched a four-hit shutout.

"We've said right along," said Manager Charlie Fox, "that Willie and Juan have to show us the way. They sure did Sunday."

McCovey, who still is miffed at Fox for benching him for five days a week ago, said he was glad to get homer No. 400 "but it wasn't as big a thrill as it could have been. I don't like being put in the position of having to prove myself, and obviously from what has happened of late you'd have to say that's just where I am."

McCovey hit his 400th—off Pirates starter and loser Bob Moose—in the third and he added No. 401 off reliever Bob Johnson in the fifth. That put McCovey 15th on the all-time homer list, six behind the closest man to him—Duke Snider. the next two closest to him are Stan Musial with 475 and Lou Gehrig with 493.

The victory Sunday was a most rewarding one for Marichal, reduced of late to bullpen duty.

"Pitching a shutout over the Pirates," said the 34-year-old righthander, "showed me I can

First Place A's Open Homestand

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's, holding a 3 ½ game margin over second-place Kansas City in the American League West, return home tonight for a six-game homestand before the All-Star break.

Catfish Hunter will shoot for his 10th straight win tonight against the Baltimore Orioles in the first game of a three-game series. Hunter is 14-3.

The A's scored four runs in the ninth Sunday for a come-from-behind 8-5 win over the Milwaukee Brewers. Bill North's ninth-inning double drove in two runs and Reggie Jackson added a two-run homer in that stanza.

Milwaukee hurler Chris Short, in relief of starter Jerry Bell, retired 14 A's in order before Dick Green and Bert Campaneris singled with one out prior to North's double. Jackson hit his 20th homer with two out.

Rollie Fingers, who relieved John "Blue Moon" Odom in the third, held the Brewers scoreless the rest of the way to record his third victory against five defeats. Short took the loss, his second against three wins. Fingers' ERA of 1.41 is tops in the majors.

Jesse Jefferson, 3-1, will be on the mound for Baltimore tonight.

The Orioles, in hot pursuit of New York in the American League East, figure to throw such hurlers as Dave McNally, Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar against the defending champs during the meeting.

The Orioles dropped three out of four to the A's when Oakland opened its 10-game road trip in Baltimore.

BRITISH OPEN CHAMP

Weiskopf Lauded

TROON, Scotland (UPI) — "I won't consider myself a great player until I've won a major tournament," said Tom Weiskopf.

Then, 24 hours later, he went and won the British Open Golf championship on Saturday.

Did that make him the greatest?

Weiskopf never said.

Instead, the 6-foot, 3-inch champion, whose $14,300 victory at Troon boosted his earnings in the past seven weeks to $131,445, thought only of his one regret—that his father, who died in March, was not alive to share the sweet taste of victory.

"He just lived for my golf—he was my biggest fan," Weiskopf said. "My one regret is that he's not here to see this. But I guess he knew it would happen one day."

But at Troon, on the wind and rain-savaged 7,064-yard seaside course where he equalled Arnold Palmer's 11-year-old British Open record, it was unnecessary for the new champion to proclaim his talents.

There were others, well qualified to do so, who gladly lauded his win and his golfing gifts.

Jack Nicklaus, the "Golden Bear" from Columbus, Ohio, who shot a seven-under-par fourth round 65 to shatter the Troon course record, dismissed his own achievement as of almost no importance.

"This has been Tom Weiskopf's tournament," said Nicklaus, whose last round brilliance pulled him into fourth spot at eight-under-par 280.

"Weiskopf has more natural talent, more shots, than anybody playing here," said Nicklaus.

Nicklaus's golden words were echoed by Lee Trevino, British Open champion in 1971 and 1972, whose bid for three-in-arow ended with a one-over-par 289—13 strokes behind Weiskopf.

The merry Trevino, whose quipping and merriment diminished after a disastrous first round of 75 showed his game would not match his pretourney confidence, said: "Tom Weiskopf is a very good player. He's just beginning to realize how good a player he is."

Johnny Miller—who tied for second place with veteran Briton Neil Coles after a great battle with Weiskopf, said: "Tom played well today."

No mean compliment from the man who won the U.S. Open title at Oakmont, Pa., last month with a stunning last round 63.

No wonder Tom Weiskopf says nothing. It's all being said for him.

Suyderhoud Wins First Masters Water Ski Title

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. (UPI) — Mike Suyderhoud didn't win a thing over the weekend in the Masters Water Ski Championships at Callaway Gardens, and yet he won everything.

Although he failed to win any of the individual events, the 23-year-old Petaluman accummulated enough points to capture the overall title for the first time, ending a drought which was water skiing's equivalent of Sam Snead never winning a U.S. Open or Ernie Banks never playing in a World Series.

Suyderhoud, a former San Anselmo resident, had captured virtually every other important title in the sport, including last year's U.S. Nationals.

In the Masters, he edged Robert Kempton of Tampa, Fla., by a slim 28 points, 2,867 to 2,839. Suyderhoud was second in tricks, fourth in slalom and fifth in the jump.

Event winners were Tony Kruga of Jackson, Mich., in tricks; Ricky McCormick, the 1970-71 Masters champion, in the jump; and Kris LaPoint of Castro Valley, Calif., in the slalom.

On the women's side, Liz Allen Shetter of Groveland, Fla., took the overall title for the sixth time in seven years and posted a perfect over-all score by putting together the best two-day performances in all three events of the three-day tournament.

Mrs. Shetter, 22, took the individual slalom and jump titles but lost the tricks to Barbara Cleveland, 32, of Hawthorne, Fla., by falling in the water during Sunday's run after leading for two days.

BELVEDERE TENNIS

Louie Sisters Dominate

It was family time at the 84th annual Pacific Coast Junior Tennis Championship over the weekend on the Belvedere Tennis Club courts.

The Louie sisters of San Francisco won four out of eight possible titles, with 18 year old Marna and 14-year-old Mareen taking two titles each.

Top-seeded Marna defeated fourth-seeded Leslie Airola of Tiburon, 6-3, 6-3, for her first title, and then combined with another Marinite, Bee Kilgore of Tiburon, to beat the Sacramento team of Debbie Cator and Carolyn Ishii, 6-3, 6-1, for the doubles crown.

Top-seeded Mareen vanquished sixth-seeded Sue Rasmussen of Sunnyvale, 6-1, 6-0, for the singles championship, and then got together with Miss Rasmussen to defeat the duo of Lisa Kearney and Cindy Payne of Alameda, 7-6, 6-2.

The middle sister, Marisa, just missed adding another title to the Louie's already overflowing cup with a 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, loss to eighth-seeded Tammy Mitchell of Palo Alto in Girls 16.

The Crozier brothers of Corpus Christi, Tex. dominated things in boys singles competition, taking two out of four titles.

Unseeded Brian pulled off the biggest upset of the day, coming from behind to conquer first-seeded Mike Shore of Mercer Island, Wash. in Boys 16, 4-6, 7-6, 6-4.

The only seeded Crozier, Paul, lived up to his top billing in Boys 12 with a 6-1, 6-2, victory over Perry Prdoe of Salt Lake City.

Eighteen-year-old Mark suffered the family's only singles loss, falling to third-seeded Mark Johnson of Reno, 6-4, 6-4.

Besides Miss Kilgore, the only Marinites to take a crown, much less be in the finals were the team of Diane DeMartini (Greenbrae) and Lisa Beritzhoff (Mill Valley). They beat the team of Miss Mitchell and Jill Toney of Diable for the Girls 16 doubles crown.

Two other titles was decided yesterday.

In Boys 16 doubles, Mark Cullers and Scott McCain of Woodland rallied to beat the top-seeded team of Shore and

Raiders' Branch Starts Off Well

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Is Cliff Branch the man to make Oakland Raider fans forget about Warren Wells?

He's already proven he's faster than Bob Hayes, which isn't a bad way to start a second season.

Branch contributed little to the Raiders' fifth American Football Conference Western Division championship in six years last season, and had to watch another rookie, Mike Siani, hold down the wide receiver spot almost the entire year.

But this year may be different. Branch reported to the Raiders' rookie camp in Santa Rosa to work on his cuts and fakes. He's also been working on rookie defensive backs, much to the delight of team owner Al Davis.

"That's what I'm hoping for, to give the club what it had with Warren," Branch said between practice sessions.

"What it had with Warren" was a bullet-fast receiver who could go deep at any time and unnerve a defensive backfield.

Although this is just his third day in camp, "I can already feel the improvement," Branch said.

"Even with a little experience, you seem to know what it's all about."

Branch, who has been running the 100-yard dash in either 9.2 or 9.3 since he was in high school, beat Bob Hayes several weeks ago in a 40-yard race in Portland, Ore. It was the only defeat the Dallas Cowboy receiver and former Olympic gold medalist has suffered in 14 professional track and field events.

49ers' Thomas At Work

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — The career of San Francisco 49er Jimmy Thomas has been a cross between an elevator and a ping pong ball. Up and down, back and forth.

With excellent speed, good pass-catching hands, and the ability to run in daylight, Thomas has played brilliantly one game but poorly the next. The 6-foot-4, 214-pounder ball carrier can break off on long sprints one play, then go down like a man half his size when hit on the next.

Since he came from the University of Texas-Arlington in 1969, Thomas has switched from wide receiver to fullback, back to wide receiver, and last year to halfback.

As a running back, his blocking has never struck terror in the hearts of blitzing linebackers, yet he caught fewer passes as a wide receiver with the 49ers than he did when he was a fullback.

"You don't have to tell me; I know I've had problems," Thomas said Sunday at the 49ers rookie camp here. He reported early at the coaching staff's request to work on his blocking and build up stamina.

Thomas didn't complete the 1¾-mile run Sunday in the 12 minutes or less required for backs. But he remains optimistic, saying his problems are "mental not physical."

"The only thing keeping me from being a real good ball player is my blocking," he said. "I've got to learn. As I said, it's mental. I have mental lapses and I've just got to end them."

Ragtime Is First To Finish Transpac

Combined AP & UPI

HONOLULU — The Marin-based yacht Improbable remained second in the overall corrected time standings Sunday as the first, faster craft began reaching the finish line in the 27th Los Angeles-to-Honolulu Transpacific Yacht race.

Improbable, owned and skippered by David W. Allen of Belvedere and sailing out of the San Francisco Yacht Club there, lost its lead Friday and by the latest computation still trailed the Los Angeles yacht Ariana Sunday. Tinsley Light was third. All three craft were expected to finish today.

First boat to finish was Ragtime, the 62-foot sloop from the Long Beach Yacht Club, which glided past Diamond Head 40 seconds after midnight Sunday at the conclusion of the 2,225-nautical mile course which took it 10 days, 14 hours and 40 seconds to negotiate.

The 1971 winner and this year's favorite, Windward Passage from New York City, finished the race four minutes and 31 seconds later, within sight of the victor.

Mrs. Skala Gets Advice, Goes On To Golf Victory

Combined AP & UPI

HORSHAM, Pa. — Bothered by slicing the ball in the first two days of the George Washington Ladies Golf Classic, Carole Jo Skala sought some long-distance help to win her first tournament.

"I called my pro in Chicago, Ed Oldfield, and told him about a slice I was getting," said Mrs. Skala Sunday after she picked up a $4,500 check for winning the 54-hole event with a 78-68-70—214.

"He told me to keep my wrists square at the top of the swing and this worked real good Sunday," the Shingle Springs, Calif., woman said.

Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. — Veteran Stan Smith, an easy winner Sunday in the Swedish International Tennis Championships, will seek his second straight victory here this week as the $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships open at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Smith easily disposed of defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain, 6-4, 6-1, 7-6, in Baastad, Sweden, to win the Swedish title.

Gymnastics

MOSCOW — Soviet gymnast Olga Korbut, voted the Associated Press female athlete of the year for 1972, reacted strongly to reports that some of her spectacular routines may be banned, saying "If the decision is put into effect, then I simply do not see any place for myself in gymnastics."

The International Gymnastics Federation proposed to ban certain routines, including Olga's double backward somersault on the balance beam, as "liable to cause injury."

Auto Racing

SILVERSTONE, England — Peter Revson of Redondo Beach, Calif., won the British Grand Prix Formula 1 auto race driving a Yardley-McLaren.

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. — Roger McCluskey drove his Eagle to a convincing triumph in a 200-mile race for Indianapolis-type cars at Michigan International Speedway.

Baseball

MILWAUKEE — Bob Shaw, pitching coach of the Milwaukee Brewers, resigned Sunday because of what he called "restraints imposed on me" by general manager Jim Wilson. He declined to elaborate.

MACCABIAH GAMES

U.S. Continues To Lead In Medals

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The U.S. contingent went into the next-to-last day of competition in the ninth Maccabiah today with a four-medal lead over Israel in the overall team standings. But the Americans had won 10 more gold medals than their nearest competitors.

Eleven finals were scheduled for the evening in track and field as the quadrennial Jewish Olympic Games neared their conclusion after a week of competition in everything from cricket to fencing by more than 1,700 athletes from 27 countries.

With a total of 125 medals—55 gold, 40 silver and 30 bronze—the 283-strong American contingent led the race for the team championship, with Israel a close second with 121 medals—45 gold, 37 ½ silver and 38 ½ bronze.

The two dominant teams split the eight gold medals up for grabs in track and field at Ramat Gan Stadium Sunday night. The American winners, three of them record-breakers, were:

—Wayne Brownstein of Burbank, Calif., with a :21.72 clocking in the 200-meter dash. Leonard Bogatin of Australia was second and Emanuel Rosenberg of Valley Stream, N.Y., third.

—Milton Bresler of Birmingham, Ala., with a games record time of :52.66 in the 400-meter hurdles, followed by Donald Slevin of South Orange, N.J., and Michael Ritterman of Australia.

—Dov Djerassi of Brooklyn, N.Y., with a games record toss of 60.84 meters in the hammer throw, with Meir Yaacobi of Israel placing second and Joseph Gould of Queens, N.Y., third.

—Gary Wolf of San Francisco in the discus with a throw of 51.92 meters, another Maccabiah record, followed by Gould and Israel's Achikam Polonsky.

Israel's gold medal winners were Mike Solomon in the 1,500 meters, Ella Katzir in the women's 200-meter dash, Mmira Miraava in the women's shot put and Hadas Israeli in the women's 1,500 meters.

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Namath In Brief Stop At Jet Camp

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Namath stayed just long enough to get acquainted.

Namath, the New York Jets' quarterback, reported to the club's Hofstra University training site Sunday for a physical and a brief one-hour session with Ken Shipp, a new assistant coach in charge of the passing game, before leaving to fulfill some television commitments on the West Coast.

Namath, the American Conference All Star quarterback last season, weighed in at 205 pounds, his normal playing weight, and passed orthopedic examinations of his tender knees.

Most of the Jet squad reported Sunday and begin two-a-day workouts today. Namath, given time off to avoid extra strain on his knees, will report next Sunday and begin workouts on Monday.

The only serious holdout expected on the Jets is running back John Riggins. Riggins, who just missed the 1,000-yard mark last season despite missing more than three games, is asking for a $150,000 contract, nearly eight times his present salary, and has said he will quit football rather than play for less.

Elsewhere on the training camp scene, the Dallas Cowboys announced that quarterback Craig Morton, who walked out of camp after a salary dispute, would be fined daily if he doesn't report with the club's veterans by Monday night.

Morton arrived at camp early and then left, also saying he'll quit if he doesn't get his price.

Dave Manders, the Cowboys' starting center, also has not reported because of salary problems.

The World Champion Miami Dolphins held their first scrimmage Sunday and Bob Griese looked in mid-season form. The talented quarterback hit 5-of-5 passes for 44 yards. Rookie wide receiver Bo Rather of Michigan caught six passes and rookie quarterback Don Strock of Virginia Tech hit 7-of-11 passes for 85 yards and a touchdown.

The New England Patriots waived veteran tight end Tom Beer and rookies Dan Ruster, Luther Palmer, John Harrison and homer May and the Chicago Bears announced the retirement of three veterans, guard Jim Cadile, defensive end Steve DeLong and linebacker Ross Brupbacher.

The Pittsburgh Steelers opened camp missing five rookies and Coach Chuck Noll sent the club through a mile run and timed 40-yard dashes prior to two-a-day workouts today.

The Los Angeles Rams said that veteran safetyman Jerry Logan, obtained in the offseason from Baltimore, is retiring.

Knicks Walk Their Way To 7-6 Win

Jeff de Recat walked on a 3-2 count and Wally Campbell followed by drawing a free pass on four straight pitches yesterday afternoon to force in two ninth-inning runs and give the C. L. Moore Knickerbockers of Novato a 7-6 baseball victory over the Lincoln Tigers.

The triumph made the Knicks 2-10 in the Sacramento Rural League and 3-13-1 overall. They lost a non-league doubleheader to the Santa Rosa Rosebuds Saturday, 4-2 and 12-0.

Pitcher Tom Zechlin went the distance yesterday, striking out 14 and starting the winning rally with a single. Jim Thompson had a two-run double in the third inning for the Knicks.

Bill Busher was four for four in the first of the two losses to the Rosebuds. Novato was outscored in the doubleheader, 16-2, despite outhitting Santa Rosa, 15-14.

Italian Club Wins DiMag Game, 4-3

John Lister's one-out single in the ninth inning scored Mark Endriss with the winning run yesterday as the Italian Club took a 4-3 Joe DiMaggio League baseball victory over Villa Builders at Redwood High School.

Endriss opened the inning with a walk, stole second and was sacrificed to third before Lister hit his single. The victory went to Ed Anderson, pitching in relief of Mark Ruggles, who made his first appearance of the season following an arm ailment.

Daryl Edralin hit a two-run triple in the fourth to give Italian Club an early lead. Rob Long and Marty Frey had two hits for the winners, and Matt Womack two hits for the losers.

San Rafael Wins First Legion Game

A passed ball in the second inning gave San Rafael its first American Legion victory of the year yesterday, a 2-0 win over Novato at Novato High School.

In other American Legion action at Novato High yesterday, Novato split a doubleheader with Vacaville, bombing them 8-3 in the opener, but in turn getting blasted 7-3 in the night cap.

San Rafael scored the only run it needed in the second when Novato hurler Nick Mattos gave up four straight walks to load the bases. He then threw a pitch which got by catcher Jon Loberg, allowing Greg Watroba to score.

Novato got its win in the first game of the twinbill, as it pounded Vacaville for 13 hits. Jeff Pond was the big batter for Novato, belting a 360-foot three-run homer to left center in the second inning. He added two more hits.

Novato's loss in the second game was due to the ineffectiveness of pitcher Ray Stratford. He allowed just six hits, but gave up 11 walks to Vacaville batsmen.

U.S. Gal Captures Net Title

GSTAAD, Switzerland (UPI) — America's Julie Anthony of Los Angeles, Calif, and Romanian Ilie Nastase today won the womens and mens finals of the Swiss Open tennis championships.

Miss Anthony defeated Rachel Giscafre of Argentina, 6-4, 7-5 while Nastase took Australian Roy Emerson in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3-, 6-3.

The mens and womens finals were held over from Sunday when heavy rains caused the matches to be postponed. Officials said the men doubles finals could not be completed because several of the players involved had to leave Gstaad by Sunday.

Nastase took 90 minutes to beat Emerson, a five-time winner of the Swiss Open. Emerson seemed slow to move across the court and showed none of the form that characterized his matches last week.

In the womens singles final, America's Julia Anthony took the first set against Rachel Giscafre comfortably in 6-4, but the Argentinian girl made Miss Anthony work hard for eventual victory.

He beat Tim Arnstein of San Francisco, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Wottle Blasts English Track

LOUVAIN, Belgium (UPI) — Olympic 800-meter champion Dave Wottle of the U.S. Air Force Sunday called England a backward nation in track and field and said he would never run there again.

Reacting to criticism in England about the fact he did not run in London last week, Wottle told newsmen there never had been any commitment on his part to run in London, although organizers had invited him.

"I will never run in England again," he said. "England is a backward track nation."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Possible Playoff Preview: Dodgers Demolish Cubs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The recently-completed three-game set between the Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs may have been a preview to the National League's championship series this fall, but the Cubs certainly hope not.

The Dodgers completed a sweep by winning Sunday's game, 9-3, to maintain their lead in the West at seven games over San Francisco, which blanked Pittsburgh, 12-0. Chicago's lead in the East shrank to two games over St. Louis.

The Dodgers now have won five straight and eight of nine after starting July with six straight losses. Los Angeles has a .634 winning percentage and its longest lead since the world championship year of 1963.

Playing before a crowd of 42,975, which brought the three-game total to 145,903, the Dodgers came from behind to win for the 27th time this year. They trailed, 2-0, before one-time $100,000 bonus baby Willie Crawford slammed a three-run homer over the left field fence to cap a five-run rally in the third inning and break a 2-2 tie. Pitcher Claude Osteen went on to capture his 11th victory in 16 tries.

"I had a feeling I'd hit one out today," the Dodger outfielder said. "I hit one of his (Rick Reuschel's) hanging curve balls."

In other National League games, Atlanta topped Montreal 6-1, Houston blanked Philadelphia 2-0 in a rain-shortened game, and St. Louis edged San Diego in 15 innings, 5-4.

Ron Schueler scattered five hits in leading Atlanta to its 11th victory in 15 starts by beating the Expos. The Braves broke away with five runs on five hits and three walks in the third inning. The key hit was Johnny Oates' single that drove in Schueller and Ralph Garr.

Ross Grimsley picked up his ninth victory against five losses as the Reds topped New York. Grimsley had a perfect game until Jim Beauchamp beat out an infield single with one out in the fifth inning. He allowed only three other hits, one of them a leadoff Homer in the seventh inning by Willie Mays, his fourth of the season and the 658th of his career.

Dave Roberts blanked the Phillies in a rain-shortened 5½ inning game and the Astros used RBI singles by Doug Rader and Bob Watson to beat Philadelphia.

Bernie Carbo doubled with two out in the top of the 15th inning to drive in Ken Reitz from first base with the winning run as St. Louis outlasted the Padres.

Koch In Narrow Trans-Miss Win

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (UPI) — Gary Koch played 34 holes before cracking a smile Sunday. And, as it turned out, the University of Florida golfer's expression of happiness was one hole too soon.

Playmg Guy Cullins of Denton, Tex., in the finals of the Trans-Mississippi Amateur golf tournament, the 21-year-old Koch evened the match on the 33rd hole with a par after being 4-down with 11 to play.

On the 34th hole, both rifled irons within 15 feet of the flag on the 420-yard hole. Koch rapped in his birdie putt and broke into a smile as he left the green.

But Cullins was equal to the task, sinking his putt, too, and leaving the match even.

The par-5, 497-yard 17th hole at Prairie Dunes Country Club was playing easy because of an unusual north wind. Both players cranked big drives. Cullins' second shot hit in front of the green and kicked down an embankment. Koch drilled a 4-iron onto the green and 16 feet short of the hole.

Cullins chipped within two feet for a cinch birdie before Koch canned his eagle 3 putt. And, when both players parred the last hole, Koch was a 1-up victor.

"When he topped me at 16 (the 34th hole), I thought we might go 50 holes," said Koch, who was runnerup to Ben Crenshaw in the NCAA championships. "But I made the one I had to."

The 5-11, 165-pounder hopes the victory will enable him to win a spot on the Walker Cup team this year.

"I probably won't turn pro until sometime in 1975," said Koch, a public relations major from Temple Terrace, Fla. "I plan to go back to school next year, then play in all the amateur tournaments again next summer and finish school that fall."

Cullins' fondest wish, too, is to gain a spot on the Walker Cup team.

Belvedere Youth Wins Yacht Test

Fourteen-year-old Matthew Jones of Belvedere skippered Rambunctious to a victory in the Midnight-to-Moonlight yacht marathon over the weekend.

Jones piloted his Cal-20 boat, registered out of the San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere, in an 80-ship field which raced from Angel Island to the entrance of the Vallejo channel.

GIANTS

still do the job. It restored my confidence although one game doesn't make a season. We'll just have to see if I can do it again.

"I'll say this, though: being in the bullpen didn't help me or the team. I didn't get to pitch much and besides you don't pay a man like me all that money (an estimated $140,000) to pitch in the bullpen. This game means a lot to me and the club, I think."

Fox said Marichal will rejoin the starting rotation and pitch against Chicago on Friday.

"That's about right for a man my age," said Marichal, referring to a four-day rest between turns, "although I wouldn't mind pitching with three days off."

Marichal now is 7-5 on the year and has two shutouts. The last one came way back on April 25 against the Cubs. He has 52 career shutouts and his overall career won-lost record stands at 234-130, best among active pitchers.

But Bob Gibson of the Cardinals, who pitches tonight against Jim Barr as the Giants start a five-game road trip leading up to the All-Star game, can tie Marichal by beating San Francisco.

Tom Bradley will pitch for the Giants Tuesday and Ron Bryant on Wednesday.

A Return To Form By Beman

ROBINSON, Ill. (AP) — Deane Beman, noted for his brain rather than his brawn in six years on the Professional Golfers Association tournament tour, says in winning the $125,000 Shrine-Robinson Golf Open he has completed his convalescence.

Beman, who underwent a delicate arm operation earlier in the year, said that he now feels as if he is playing solid golf again and "that feeling well is really more rewarding to me than winning a tournament."

The former amateur champion, who left a successful insurance business in Washington, D.C., to join the pros at the age of 29, flashed a closing 67 Sunday to take the $25,000 first prize by one stroke.

Beman totaled 271, 13 under par on the Crawford County Country Club course.

Bunky Henry, who went broke after winning only $455 at the Hawaiian Open earlier this year — his entire earnings for the season — and took a month off from the tour to find a sponsor, shared second place with Bob Dickson.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Ryan Says Angels Needed No-Hitter More Than He

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Nolan Ryan really wanted a no-hitter Sunday, but not for himself, for someone else.

Corny as it sounds, he wanted it for the California Angels, and they needed one more than Nolan Ryan did.

He had pitched a no-hitter against the Kansas City Royals on may 15 and when he duplicated the feat against the Detroit Tigers Sunday, Ryan became the first pitcher in 20 years to pitch two no-hitters in the same season.

Ryan, a firebulling 26-year-old righthander from Alvin, Tex., struck out 12 of the first 14 batters he retired as the Caifornia Angels blanked the Tigers, 6-0. Ryan finished with 17 strikeouts—the most ever in a no-hit game—before a Cap Day crowd of 41,411 in Detroit. Ryan walked four batters.

The victory broke a four-game Caiifornia losing streak and snapped a winning string of five games for the Tigers. It marked the second time this season that a no-hitter has been thrown against Detroit.

"I really wanted it," said Ryan, who rarely talks about himself. "The club needed it and I needed it."

The Angels, in third place, are 4 1-2 games behind the Oakland A's in the American League's tight Western Division scramble.

"I haven't pitched that well recently," said Ryan, who places a high premium on the club's overall success and accepts personal achievements with modesty.

Ryan, who was the major league's strikeout leader last season, has had difficulty in getting batting support from his teammates this season. The victory improved Ryan's record to 11-11 but California Manager Bobby Winkles is banking heavily on Ryan in the second half of the season to lead the Angels into the playoffs.

"I think Nolie feels that for us to be a contender he has to have a good second half," Winkles said. "He's made up his mind he's going to have a good second half even if we don't get him any runs."

In other American League action, New York stopped Kansas City, 2-0, Oakland downed Milwaukee, 8-5, Minnesota edged Cleveland in 10 innings, 7-6, Baltimore edged Chicago, 3-2, and Boston beat Texas, 3-1, in a rain-shortened 5 1-2 inning game.

The Angels gave Ryan a breather at the end with a five-run eighth inning. Winston Llenas cracked a two-run single, Bob Oliver singled home a run and Al Gallagher singled home two more to close out the scoring.

Roy White singled home two runs in the eighth inning to back up the combined four-hit pitching of Sam McDowell and Sparky Lyle in New York's win over Kansas City. McDowell, 4-1, allowed three hits while walking seven and fanning seven. Lyle pitched the ninth to pick up his 24th save of the year.

Danny Thompson's one-out sacrifice fly in the 10th inning scored pinch-runner Mike Adams and gave Minnesota a victory over Cleveland.

Dwight Evans cracked a solo homer in the second inning to give Boston a victory over Texas. Evans snapped a 1-1 tie with his fifth homer of the year into the left field screen with one out in the second. Rain delayed the start of the game for 2 hours and 52 minutes and showers persisted throughout the contest before it finally was called.

Baltimore erupted for three runs on four hits in the top of the sixth inning to edge Chicago.

Marin Soccer Team In 1-1 Tie

SACRAMENTO — Inter-Marin Soccer Club played to a 1-1 tie with the Sacramento Senators here Saturday night in a NorCal Soccer League game at Hughes Stadium.

After a scoreless first half, Ray Parker-Rhodes put Inter-Marin on the scoreboard with a breakaway score 11 minutes into second half play. Frank Dale evened the score for the Senators with a goal five minutes later.

HORSHAM, Pa. — Bothered by slicing the ball in the first two days of the George Washington Ladies Golf Classic, Carole Jo Skala sought some long-distance help to win her first tournament.

"I called my pro in Chicago, Ed Oldfield, and told him about a slice I was getting," said Mrs. Skala Sunday after she picked up a $4,500 check for winning the 54-hole event with a 78-68-70—214.

"He told me to keep my wrists square at the top of the swing and this worked real good Sunday," the Shingle Springs, Calif., woman said.

More Golf

Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. — Veteran Stan Smith, an easy winner Sunday in the Swedish International Tennis Championships, will seek his second straight victory here this week as the $60,000 U.S. Pro Tennis Championships open at the Longwood Cricket Club.

Smith easily disposed of defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain, 6-4, 6-1, 7-6, in Baastad, Sweden, to win the Swedish title.

Gymnastics

MOSCOW — Soviet gymnast Olga Korbut, voted the Associated Press female athlete of the year for 1972, reacted strongly to reports that some of her spectacular routines may be banned, saying "If the decision is put into effect, then I simply do not see any place for myself in gymnastics."

The International Gymnastics Federation proposed to ban certain routines, including Olga's double backward somersault on the balance beam, as "liable to cause injury."

Auto Racing

SILVERSTONE, England — Peter Revson of Redondo Beach, Calif., won the British Grand Prix Formula 1 auto race driving a Yardley-McLaren.

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. — Roger McCluskey drove his Eagle to a convincing triumph in a 200-mile race for Indianapolis-type cars at Michigan International Speedway.

Baseball

MILWAUKEE — Bob Shaw, pitching coach of the Milwaukee Brewers, resigned Sunday because of what he called "restraints imposed on me" by general manager Jim Wilson. He declined to elaborate.

Boxing

GROSSINGER, N.Y. — Heavyweight Earnie Shavers suffered a broken jaw in a workout at the Grossinger Country Club Sunday and he will be unable to fulfill a scheduled date against Jerry Quarry on July 25.

U.S. Gal Captures Net Title

GSTAAD, Switzerland (UPI) — America's Julie Anthony of Los Angeles, Calif, and Romanian Ilie Nastase today won the womens and mens finals of the Swiss Open tennis champhionships.

Miss Anthony defeated Rachel Giscafre of Argentina, 6-4, 7-5 while Nastase took Australian Roy Emerson in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3-, 6-3.

The mens and womens finals were held over from Sunday when heavy rains caused the matches to be postponed. Officials said the men doubles finals could not be completed because several of the players involved had to leave Gstaad by Sunday.

Nastase took 90 minutes to beat Emerson, a five-time winner of the Swiss Open. Emerson seemed slow to move across the court and showed none of the form that characterized his matches last week.

In the womens singles final, America's Julia Anthony took the first set against Rachel Giscafre comfortably in 6-4, but the Argentinian girl made Miss Anthony work hard for eventual victory.

MACCABIAH GAMES

U.S. Continues To Lead In Medals

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The U.S. contingent went into the next-to-last day of competition in the ninth Maccabiah today with a four-medal lead over Israel in the overall team standings. But the Americans had won 10 more gold medals than their nearest competitors.

Eleven finals were scheduled for the evening in track and field as the quadrennial Jewish Olympic Games neared their conclusion after a week of competition in everything from cricket to fencing by more than 1,700 athletes from 27 countries.

With a total of 125 medals—55 gold, 40 silver and 30 bronze—the 283-strong American contingent led the race for the team championship, with Israel a close second with 121 medals—45 gold, 37 ½ silver and 38 ½ bronze.

The two dominant teams split the eight gold medals up for grabs in track and field at Ramat Gan Stadium Sunday night. The American winners, three of them record-breakers, were:

—Wayne Brownstein of Burbank, Calif., with a :21.72 clocking in the 200-meter dash. Leonard Bogatin of Australia was second and Emanuel Rosenberg of Valley Stream, N.Y., third.

—Milton Bresler of Birmingham, Ala., with a games record time of :52.66 in the 400-meter hurdles, followed by Donald Slevin of South Orange, N.J., and Michael Ritterman of Australia.

—Dov Djerassi of Brooklyn, N.Y., with a games record toss of 60.84 meters in the hammer throw, with Meir Yaacobi of Israel placing second and Joseph Gould of Queens, N.Y., third.

—Gary Wolf of San Francisco in the discus with a throw of 51.92 meters, another Maccabiah record, followed by Gould and Israel's Achikam Polonsky.

Israel's gold medal winners were Mike Solomon in the 1,500 meters, Ella Katzir in the women's 200-meter dash, Mmira Mirava in the women's shot put and Hadas Israeli in the women's 1,500 meters.

Wottle Blasts English Track

LOUVAIN, Belgium (UPI) — Olympic 800-meter champion Dave Wottle of the U.S. Air Force Sunday called England a backward nation in track and field and said he would never run there again.

Reacting to criticism in England about the fact he did not run in London last week, Wottle told newsmen there never had been any commitment on his part to run in London, although organizers had invited him.

"I will never run in England again," he said. "England is a backward track nation."

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Namath In Brief Stop At Jet Camp

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Joe Namath stayed just long enough to get acquainted.

Namath, the New York Jets' quarterback, reported to the club's Hofstra University training site Sunday for a physical and a brief one-hour session with Ken Shipp, a new assistant coach in charge of the passing game, before leaving to fulfill some television commitments on the West Coast.

Namath, the American Conference All Star quarterback last season, weighed in at 205 pounds, his normal playing weight, and passed orthopedic examinations of his tender knees.

Most of the Jet squad reported Sunday and begin two-a-day workouts today. Namath, given time off to avoid extra strain on his knees, will report next Sunday and begin workouts on Monday.

The only serious holdout expected on the Jets is running back John Riggins. Riggins, who just missed the 1,000-yard mark last season despite missing more than three games, is asking for a $150,000 contract, nearly eight times his present salary, and has said he will quit football rather than play for less.

Elsewhere on the training camp scene, the Dallas Cowboys announced that quarterback Craig Morton, who walked out of camp after a salary dispute, would be fined daily if he doesn't report with the club's veterans by Monday night.

Morton arrived at camp early and then left, also saying he'll quit if he doesn't get his price.

Dave Manders, the Cowboys' starting center, also has not reported because of salary problems.

The World Champion Miami Dolphins held their first scrimmage Sunday and Bob Griese looked in mid-season form. The talented quarterback hit 5-of-5 passes for 44 yards. Rookie wide receiver Bo Rather of Michigan caught six passes and rookie quarterback Don Strock of Virginia Tech hit 7-of-11 passes for 85 yards and a touchdown.

The New England Patriots waived veteran tight end Tom Beer and rookies Dan Ruster, Luther Palmer, John Harrison and homer May and the Chicago Bears announced the retirement of three veterans, guard Jim Cadile, defensive end Steve DeLong and linebacker Ross Brupbacher.

The Pittsburgh Steelers opened camp missing five rookies and Coach Chuck Noll sent the club through a mile run and timed 40-yard dashes prior to two-a-day workouts today.

The Los Angeles Rams said that veteran safetyman Jerry Logan, obtained in the offseason from Baltimore, is retiring.

Knicks Walk Their Way To 7-6 Win

Jeff de Recat walked on a 3-2 count and Wally Campbell followed by drawing a free pass on four straight pitches yesterday afternoon to force in two ninth-inning runs and give the C. L. Moore Knickerbockers of Novato a 7-6 baseball victory over the Lincoln Tigers.

The triumph made the Knicks 2-10 in the Sacramento Rural League and 3-13-1 overall. They lost a non-league doubleheader to the Santa Rosa Rosebuds Saturday, 4-2 and 12-0.

Pitcher Tom Zechlin went the distance yesterday, striking out 14 and starting the winning rally with a single. Jim Thompson had a two-run double in the third inning for the Knicks.

Bill Busher was four for four in the first of the two losses to the Rosebuds. Novato was outscored in the doubleheader, 16-2, despite outhitting Santa Rosa, 15-14.

Italian Club Wins DiMag Game, 4-3

John Lister's one-out single in the ninth inning scored Mark Endriss with the winning run yesterday as the Italian Club took a 4-3 Joe DiMaggio League baseball victory over Villa Builders at Redwood High School.

Endriss opened the inning with a walk, stole second and was sacrificed to third before Lister hit his single. The victory went to Ed Anderson, pitching in relief of Mark Ruggles, who made his first appearance of the season following an arm ailment.

Daryl Edralin hit a two-run triple in the fourth to give Italian Club an early lead. Rob Long and Marty Frey had two hits for the winners, and Matt Womack two hits for the losers.

San Rafael Wins First Legion Game

A passed ball in the second inning gave San Rafael its first American Legion victory of the year yesterday, a 2-0 win over Novato at Novato High School.

In other American Legion action at Novato High yesterday, Novato split a doubleheader with Vacaville, bombing them 8-3 in the opener, but in turn getting blasted 7-3 in the night cap.

San Rafael scored the only run it needed in the second when Novato hurler Nick Mattos gave up four straight walks to load the bases. He then threw a pitch which got by catcher Jon Loberg, allowing Greg Watroba to score.

Novato got its win in the first game of the twinbill, as it pounded Vacaville for 13 hits. Jeff Pond was the big batter for Novato, belting a 360-foot three-run homer to left center in the second inning. He added two more hits.

Novato's loss in the second game was due to the ineffectiveness of pitcher Ray Stratford. He allowed just six hits, but gave up 11 walks to Vacaville batsmen.

Public Notice

PROJECT NOS. 238, 239, 240, 241

MARIN COUNTY
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., July 23, 1973, for:

Slide Repairs-Dillon Beach Road at M.P. 3.68 & 3.81: Excavation, placing permeable material and underdrains, embankment, ditch regrading, pavement restoration and other related items of work.

Slide Repairs-Marshall-Petaluma Road at M.P. 6.82 & 8.36: Excavation, placing rock slope protection, embankment, ditch regrading with some asphalt lining, and other related items of work.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P. O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth in the general provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the Department of Public Works for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the Department has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done, to be as listed in the State of California Department of Public Works, Division of Highways publication entitled, "Equipment Rental Rates and General Prevailing Wage Rates," dated June, 1973.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING
FOR
MINOR WIDENING OF TOMALES-PETALUMA ROAD AND REPLACEMENT OF EXISTING BRIDGE AT KEYES CREEK, TOMALES

PROPOSAL:
This is to inform all interested persons that the County of Marin, Department of Public Works, proposes to replace an existing bridge over Keyes Creek and to widen a 0.42 mile section of Tomales-Petaluma Road from State Highway 1 to the intersection of Irvin Road as shown on the above map.

PURPOSE:
The proposed construction will replace an existing substandard bridge over Keyes Creek with a reinforced concrete box culvert. In addition, the roadway will be widened to provide two 12-foot undivided traffic lanes and an 8-foot wide paved shoulder on each side. Also, a left turn lane will be provided for eastbound traffic turning into Irvin Road.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT:
On June 27, 1973, a hearing was conducted by the Marin County Environmental Hearing Officer. There were no public objections expressed and it was determined that the above project will not have a significant effect upon the environment.

OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING:
Tentative plans for the proposed project may be reviewed in Room 304-A of the Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

A public hearing to discuss the basic design of the project may be requested by any interested agency or individual. Requests should be submitted in writing no later than August 7, 1973. If no requests are received in response to this notice within the time specified above the County will proceed with the design as planned. Requests should be sent to:

Island Really Isn't Overcrowded

Visitors Just Don't Wander

By FRED STREBEIGH

Angel Island may seem jammed from waterfront to mountain top to the yachtsmen and others passing by the teeming shores of Ayala Cove.

It must also seem jammed to the thousands of weekend visitors who treat the island as a picnic area at the other end of a ferry ride, congregating in one spot.

But that's not the case.

According to ranger Thomas R. Harrison, only "one person out of every hundred" ever quits the cove where the San Francisco and Tiburon ferries dock, leaving the rest of the spectacular 740-acre state park largely unpeopled.

Rangers on the island are exploring different ways to control overuse of the cove and to encourage visitors to visit the other beaches, historic sites, and wildlife areas of the island.

The cove's human density has been so high that rangers have set a maximum daily attendance quota of 3,500 a day.

Visitors arrive at the island in one of three ways — by private boat, the privately owned Angel Island State Park Ferry Service from Tiburon, and Harbor Tours ferries from San Francisco and Berkeley.

Harbor Tours, the largest of the three, has agreed not to deliver more than 2,000 people on any day. On July 4, for the first time, they turned away between 50 and 150 passengers at the dock in order to stay within the limit, according to ferry director Robert Van Amburg.

Although July 4 may have set an all-time visitor record, ranger Harrison said island attendance figures show no overall increase in the last four years, averaging between 25,000 and 30,000 people a month in the summer.

In order to reduce the chronic over-crowding in the cove, Harbor Tours is now experimenting with disembarking the 200 passengers aboard its weekend boat from Berkeley at the old naval dock at East Garrison.

The company spent $5,000 on a walkway and other safety improvements for the dock, according to Van Amburg. He said it should be possible by next summer to adopt a schedule on the larger San Francisco runs which would utilize both docks.

Construction of new slips in Ayala Cove will begin soon for the various pleasure craft, now anchored offshore, which lend the island a quality of Mediterranean luxury.

William Curry of the State Navigation and Ocean Development Commission said facilities to dock 34 boats should be ready by Sept. 15.

He added that plans for 50 offshore buoys in the East Garrison area had been discarded, primarily because the Coast Guard objected that they would be too close to commerical shipping channels.

Head Ranger Frank Herald said pleasure boat traffic has only a very small impact on the island because private boaters tend to spend little time ashore.

Plans are also underway to overhaul the old 19-building Civil War post at West Garrison, which will serve both as a monument to the period and a museum of the island's history, according to Homer W. Rail, area manager for the Department of Parks and Recreation.

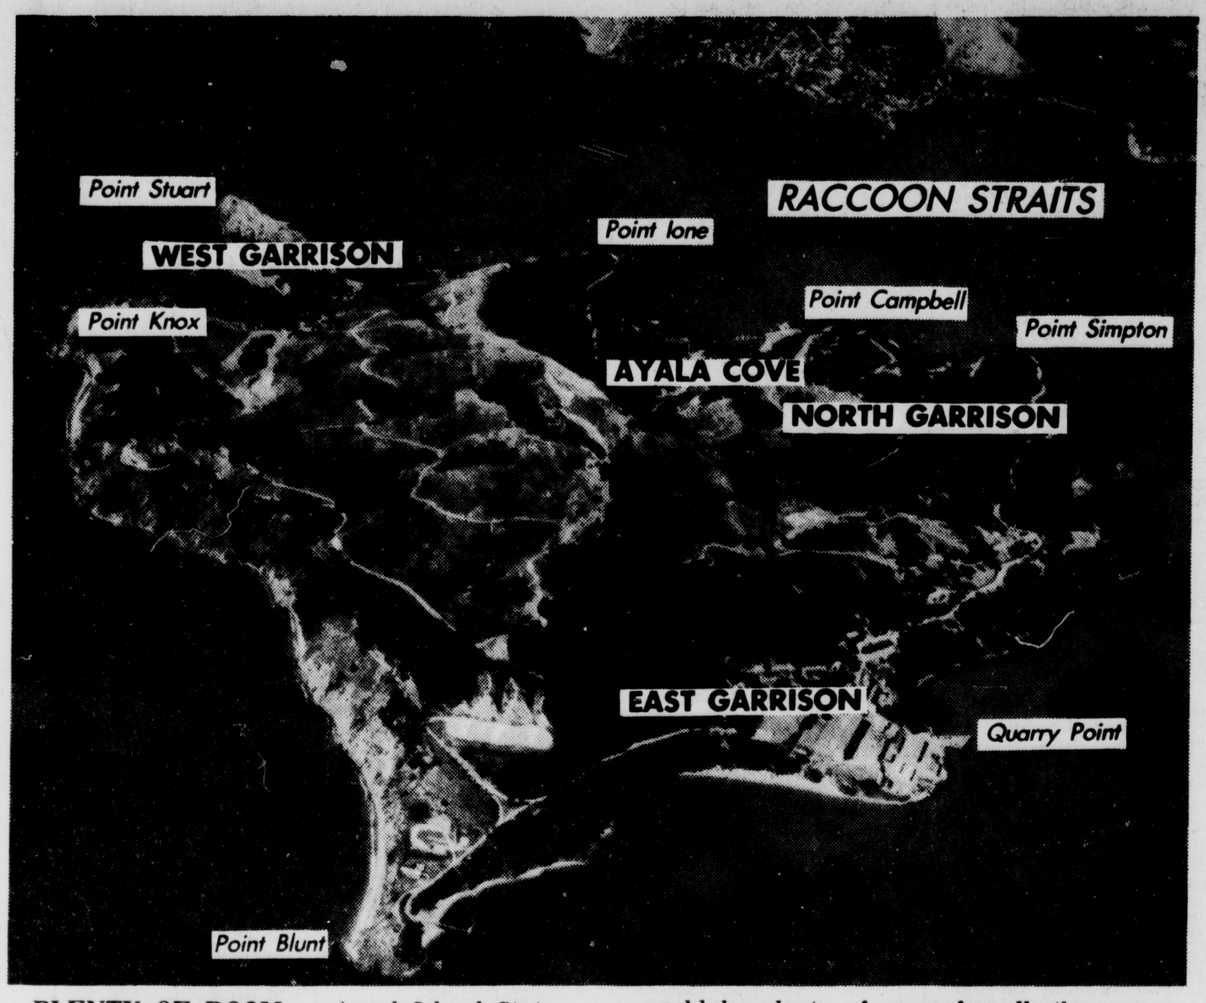
The $200,000 budgeted for the project will be used for restoration of the old post hospital, a quartermaster warehouse, the post's combined church and schoolhouse, and other facilities, he said.

But the problem of increasing use of the 700-odd acres which are never seen by most of the island's visitors will be solved not so much by new facilities as by showing people what has always been there.

The island's rolling hills, studded with woods of oak and madrone rise in the center to the summit of Mount Carolyn Livermore and the finest panoramic view in the Bay.

The island's wildlife include deer, raccoons, and a plethora of land and sea birds.

Ranger Harrison said the problem is that too many visitors are "city people who don't understand this is a wild place in many ways. A lot of people are indifferent to the park as a park; they don't really care about the wildlife."



PLENTY OF ROOM — Angel Island State Park, with popular Ayala Cove at the north, is not as crowded as it seems, officials say. If visitors would fan out from the cove to view other scenery and historic sites such as the Civil War post at West Garrison, there would be plenty of room for all, they say. Ayala Cove was termed "wall-to-wall people trying to throw Frisbees over each other" by one official, who decried the lack of use of the rest of the island park in Southern Marin.

Today is Monday, July 16, the 197th day of 1973 with 168 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. Tye morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, was born July 16, 1821.

On this day in history:

In 1790, Congress designated the District of Columbia as permanent seat of the United States government.

In 1862, by an act of Congress, David Farragut became the first American admiral.

In 1945, the first test of the atomic bomb was conducted in New Mexico.

In 1969, three American astronauts headed for the moon aboard Apollo 11.

A thought for the day: Christian Science pioneer Mary Baker Eddy said, "Divine love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Another Slaying At San Quentin

A San Quentin prisoner was stabbed to death this weekend and another suspected of killing him was put in solitary confinement. It was the prison's 30th assault this year, the second fatal one.

Velton Watkins, 58, serving a life sentence for murder, was stabbed once in the neck Saturday at 12:12 p.m.

The identity of the man thought to have killed him was withheld.

The weapon, a piece of flat steel, was found near the scene.

Watkins had been stabbed two weeks ago in an apparently unrelated attack, according to a prison spokesman. He suffered three minor puncture wounds.

Authorities said they did not know who Watkins' assailant had been in the earlier attack. They said they had not ascertained a motive for either stabbing.

It was the second fatal stabbing at San Quentin this year.

Flood, Wreck Cost Five Lives

BIRMINGPORT, Ala. (UPI) — A heavy weekend shower left a railroad track "just hanging in the air" 40 feet above a ravine and stream. Several hours later a five-engine, 65-car freight train plunged through the tracks, killing all five crewmen.

"It's the worst train wreck I've ever seen," said C.R. Blue, secretary-treasurer of the railroad. "The engines were pretty well piled on top of each other."

The wreck occured Saturday on an isolated section of track six miles from the nearest access road.

Family Doctors

Four San Rafael doctors have completed continuing education requirements to retain membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians. Drs. David L. Johnson, Robert A. Pedrin, Gwynn Thompson and Ralph W. Jacobs completed 150 hours of acredited continuing medical study to qualify, the association announced.

French A-Test Soon; Protests Increasing

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — All signs indicated today that France is ready to start its 1973 nuclear test series in the atmosphere over the South Pacific despite growing opposition at home and abroad.

French officials in Tahiti and Paris, however, did not indicate when the first blast might come at the Mururoa atoll test site 720 miles southeast of Papeete.

Australia, New Zealand, Japan and several other countries oppose the tests on grounds radioactive fallout may endanger their populations. Roman Catholic bishops in France also oppose the tests. France has ignored their protests.

French planes and helicopters have stepped up their activities in the Mururoa zone, according to newsmen aboard the New Zealand warship Otago, cruising near the test site in a protest gesture. Observers said the aircraft were practicing for recovery of radioactive waste samples.

At the same time, a KC135 jet, a long-range aircraft normally used to follow the radioactive cloud, arrived at Tahiti airport.

Some reports said the commander of the French testing center, Adm. Christian Claverie, returned to the Mururoa area after attending celebrations Saturday in Papeete marking the French national holiday, Bastille Day.

Over the weekend, the helicopter-carrier Orage, described as indispensable to the tests, docked in Tahiti.

The New Zealand frigate Otago and an American yacht out of Sausalito, Calif., the Fri, crisscrossed the 120- mile danger zone despite France's order last week to shipping to avoid the area. Aircraft also have been banned from the zone.

In Wellington, Prime Minister Norman Kirk of New Zealand said he received a cable from cabinet minister Fraser Coleman, who was chosen by lot to sail with the Otago.

"All well on ship. Morale and expectations high," Coleman said. "There will be general disappointment on board if Otago has to return before the big event takes place."

The bishops' opposition to the tests brought an angry reaction from the chief of staff of the French navy.

"For several months," said Adm. Marc de Joybert, "part of the French clergy has gotten involved in the affairs of the state, deciding what kinds of weapons it must have. Our role is to defend France and if you do not question this mission, give us the responsibility of choosing the best means to do it."

In Paris, Church leaders replied to Joybert's open letter.

Cardinal Jean Danielou, writing in the newspaper Le Figaro, said:

"While it will not intervene in problems of national defense, which are not its concern, the Church must serve the cause of peace and seek to find pacific solutions among nations in conflict.

"To fight against the rush toward armaments is to fight the battle for peace."

Bishop Olivier Marie Riobe of Orleans, whose original protests prompted Joybert's letter, said on television: "The bishops of France have published a document on problems of armaments. I refer Adm. Joybert to these studies."

He said this is "a debate of capital importance."

Hotel Arson Probe Pressed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fire investigators say burglary may have been the motive for the arson fires that drove guests from several floors of the plush old St. Francis Hotel over the weekend.

The hotel management said none of its guests reported anything stolen.

No one was injured by the fires Saturday night, but the hotel sustained an estimated $10,000 damage. Guests who were driven from their rooms were allowed to return after the smoke cleared.

Exact cause of the fires has not yet been determined, but investigator John Hopkins said yesterday the probe will continue.

"The fires were incendiary — someone started them," Hopkins said. "It might have been an attempt to foul up the hotel security" to cover for a burglary, he added.

Marin Firm Sued In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania officials filed suit Friday charging a California-based firm with operating an illegal pyramid distributorship program.

Sta-Power Industries, Inc., a member of the Holiday Magic empire created by the late William Penn Patrick in San Rafael, allegedly operates a pyramid or chain promotion scheme which involves luring persons to make money by either selling Sta-Power products, or inducing others to participate in the program, the state said.

The company manufactures certain engine oils and gasoline additive products.

Named as defendants are Eric Alexander, the president, and Patrick's estate.

Pyramid operations are illegal in Pennsylvaina.

The suit was filed in Montgomery County Common Court jointly by the Bureau of Consumer Protection and the Montgomery County Dist. Atty. Milton Moss.

Kennedy Tops Selection Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts the overwhelming choice of Democrats for their party's 1976 presidential nomination.

Kennedy was the first choice of 40 per cent of Democrats polled. His nearest competitor was Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, with 16 per cent.

The poll also shows Kennedy defeating two possible Republican candidates. The Massachusetts senator was given 51 per cent of the vote to 38 per cent over Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and 50 per cent to 36 per cent over former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Exercise Is Important, But Warm Up Gradually Before

Most of us look forward to summer despite the rainstorms, heat waves, insects, and food poisoning. It may be those lazy, hazy days that attract us most. Or, perhaps, it is bathing, golfing, boating, fishing, traveling, picnicking or vacationing. As a health editor, I should stress the hazards of summer, but these are well-known, and the most common are avoidable. It is far more pleasant to dwell on the various outdoor activities that will improve your appearance, performance, and sense of well-being.

Outdoor exercise is invigorating and helps take off weight and improve physical fitness. Fishing from a boat may sound like poor exercise, but during my annual jaunts — fishing for a week many years ago — I lost my pot belly. Casting a plug or fly hour after hour, rowing a mile or two, chopping wood for the fire, and pitching horseshoes in the evening did the trick. Not only did I lose weight, I returned home looking and feeling fit as a fiddle.

FISHING IS still fun, but nowadays golf and walking are more attractive. Winning is not the aim. Playing golf or walking in the city should be done to improve the condition of your heart and lungs. The heart is a pump made of muscle and becomes softer and less efficient when it does not get enough work to do. So do the biceps and muscles of the back and legs. Get a checkup first, and, if the heart is healthy, use it as nature intended.

Athletes always warm up before they perform. They also spend many hours a week in physical conditioning. Most of us do not have the time. However, if we did, I'm sure we'd do better. Using golf as an example, many of today's leading golfers are extremely powerful, even though they are not all big men. Through exercise, they build muscular strength that improves their game and it could do the same for you.

GOLFERS who play a respectable game need well-developed backs and very strong forearms, wrists, and hands. Leg conditioning also is important. Good exercises include squeezing a small ball, twisting a towel, lifting a weight, and swinging a golf club or broom. And — like the athlete — warm up before teeing off.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

PULSATION EATING

T. L. writes: What causes heavy pulsation around the body in a man of 62 after eating a fairly good dinner?

REPLY

Indigestion, if the pulsation is in the lower chest; or pressure on the large vessel (aorta) in the abdomen by a full stomach. An examination is advisable because of the possibility that the aorta is enlarged.

COURSE OF DIABETES

B. E. writes: If a man develops diabetes in his fifties, which is controlled by diet, will the disease worsen as he grows older?

REPLY

I'm no prophet, but the condition usually remains stable unless weight is gained, infection develops, surgery is done, or the diabetic goes off his diet.

ALCOHOL IRRITATES

B. A. writes: Can drinking cause prostate trouble?

REPLY

No, but it may irritate an infected prostate or cause congestion of the prostatic tissue.

Public Notice

PROJECT NOS. 238, 239, 240, 241

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 p.m., July 23, 1973, for:

Slide Repairs-Dillon Beach Road at M.P. 3.68 & 3.81: Excavation, placing permeable material and underdrains, embankment, ditch regrading, pavement restoration and other related items of work.

Slide Repairs-Marshall-Petaluma Road at M.P. 6.82 & 8.36: Excavation, placing rock slope protection, embankment, ditch regrading with some asphalt lining, and other related items of work.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P. O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

Minimum wage rates for this project as predetermined by the Secretary of Labor are set forth in the general provisions. If there is a difference between the minimum wage rates predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and the prevailing wage rates determined by the Department of Public Works for similar classifications of labor, the Contractor and his subcontractors shall pay not less than the higher wage rate.

Pursuant to Section 1770 of the Labor Code, the Department has ascertained the general prevailing rate of wages in the county in which the work is to be done, to be as listed in the State of California Department of Public Works, Division of Highways publication entitled, "Equipment Rental Rates and General Prevailing Wage Rates," dated June, 1973.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

No. 1067 July 9, 16, 1973

OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC HEARING
FOR

PROPOSAL:
This is to inform all interested persons that the County of Marin, Department of Public Works, proposes to replace an existing bridge over Keyes Creek and to widen a 0.42 mile section of Tomales-Petaluma Road from State Highway 1 to the intersection of Irvin Road as shown on the above map.

PURPOSE:
The proposed construction will replace an existing substandard bridge over Keyes Creek with a reinforced concrete box culvert. In addition, the roadway will be widened to provide two 12-foot undivided traffic lanes and an 8-foot wide paved shoulder on each side. Also, a left turn lane will be provided for eastbound traffic turning into Irvin Road.

ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT:
On June 27, 1973, a hearing was conducted by the Marin County Environmental Hearing Officer. There were no public objections expressed and it was determined that the above project will not have a significant effect upon the environment.

OPPORTUNITY FOR HEARING:
Tentative plans for the proposed project may be reviewed in Room 304-A of the Administration Building, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

A public hearing to discuss the basic design of the project may be requested by any interested agency or individual. Requests should be submitted in writing no later than August 7, 1973. If no requests are received in response to this notice within the time specified above the County will proceed with the design as planned. Requests should be sent to:

MR. RAY W. FOREAKER, JR.
Director of Public Works
COUNTY OF MARIN
P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.

If we're to keep up with the competition in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.

Island Really Isn't Overcrowded

Visitors Just Don't Wander

By FRED STREBEIGH

Angel Island may seem jammed from waterfront to mountain top to the yachtsmen and others passing by the teeming shores of Ayala Cove.

It must also seem jammed to the thousands of weekend visitors who treat the island as a picnic area at the other end of a ferry ride, congregating in one spot.

But that's not the case.

According to ranger Thomas R. Harrison, only "one person out of every hundred" ever quits the cove where the San Francisco and Tiburon ferries dock, leaving the rest of the spectacular 740-acre state park largely unpeopled.

Rangers on the island are exploring different ways to control overuse of the cove and to encourage visitors to visit the other beaches, historic sites, and wildlife areas of the island.

The cove's human density has been so high that rangers have set a maximum daily attendance quota of 3,500 a day.

Visitors arrive at the island in one of three ways — by private boat, the privately owned Angel Island State Park Ferry Service from Tiburon, and Harbor Tours ferries from San Francisco and Berkeley.

Harbor Tours, the largest of the three, has agreed not to deliver more than 2,000 people on any day. On July 4, for the first time, they turned away between 50 and 150 passengers at the dock in order to stay within the limit, according to ferry director Robert Van Amburg.

Although July 4 may have set an all-time visitor record, ranger Harrison said island attendance figures show no overall increase in the last four years, averaging between 25,000 and 30,000 people a month in the summer.

In order to reduce the chronic over-crowding in the cove, Harbor Tours is now experimenting with disembarking the 200 passengers aboard its weekend boat from Berkeley at the old naval dock at East Garrison.

The company spent $5,000 on a walkway and other safety improvements for the dock, according to Van Amburg. He said it should be possible by next summer to adopt a schedule on the larger San Francisco runs which would utilize both docks.

Construction of new slips in Ayala Cove will begin soon for the various pleasure craft, now anchored offshore, which lend the island a quality of Mediterranean luxury.

William Curry of the State Navigation and Ocean Development Commission said facilities to dock 34 boats should be ready by Sept. 15.

He added that plans for 50 offshore buoys in the East Garrison area had been discarded, primarily because the Coast Guard objected that they would be too close to commerical shipping channels.

Head Ranger Frank Herald said pleasure boat traffic has only a very small impact on the island because private boaters tend to spend little time ashore.

Plans are also underway to overhaul the old 19-building Civil War post at West Garrison, which will serve both as a monument to the period and a museum of the island's history, according to Homer W. Rail, area manager for the Department of Parks and Recreation.

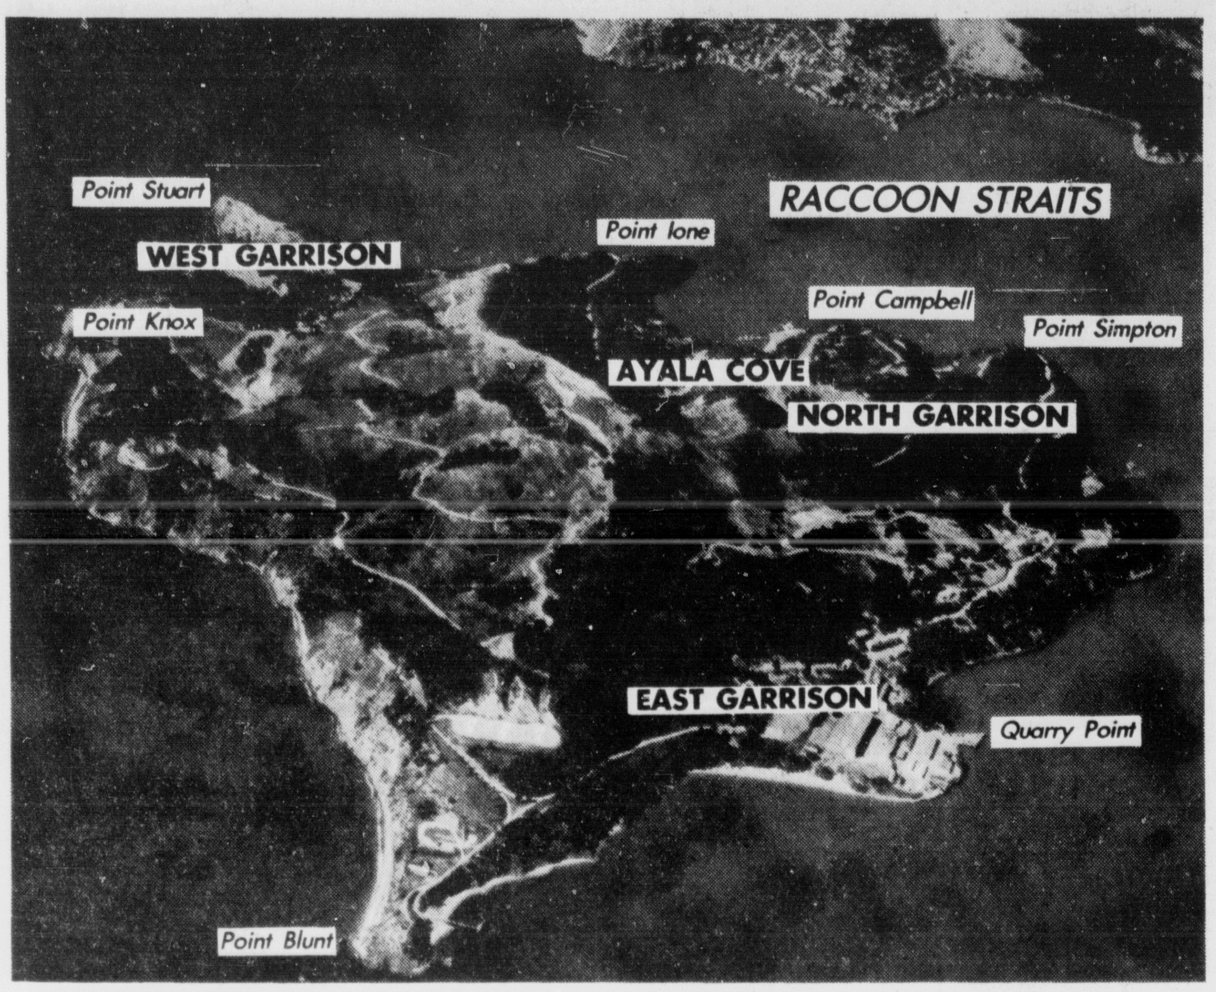
The $200,000 budgeted for the project will be used for restoration of the old post hospital, a quartermaster warehouse, the post's combined church and schoolhouse, and other facilities, he said.

But the problem of increasing use of the 700-odd acres which are never seen by most of the island's visitors will be solved not so much by new facilities as by showing people what has always been there.

The island's rolling hills, studded with woods of oak and madrone rise in the center to the summit of Mount Carolyn Livermore and the finest panoramic view in the Bay.

The island's wildlife include deer, raccoons, and a plethora of land and sea birds.

Ranger Harrison said the problem is that too many visitors are "city people who don't understand this is a wild place in many ways. A lot of people are indifferent to the park as a park; they don't really care about the wildlife."



PLENTY OF ROOM — Angel Island State Park, with popular Ayala Cove at the north, is not as crowded as it seems, officials say. If visitors would fan out from the cove to view other scenery and historic sites such as the Civil War post at West Garrison, there would be plenty of room for all, they say. Ayala Cove was termed "wall-to-wall people trying to throw Frisbees over each other" by one official, who decried the lack of use of the rest of the island park in Southern Marin.

Today is Monday, July 16, the 197th day of 1973 with 168 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. Tye morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, was born July 16, 1821.

On this day in history:

In 1790, Congress designated the District of Columbia as permanent seat of the United States government.

In 1862, by an act of Congress, David Farragut became the first American admiral.

In 1945, the first test of the atomic bomb was conducted in New Mexico.

In 1969, three American astronauts headed for the moon aboard Apollo 11.

A thought for the day: Christian Science pioneer Mary Baker Eddy said, "Divine love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Another Slaying At San Quentin

A San Quentin prisoner was stabbed to death this weekend and another suspected of killing him was put in solitary confinement. It was the prison's 30th assault this year, the second fatal one.

Velton Watkins, 58, serving a life sentence for murder, was stabbed once in the neck Saturday at 12:12 p.m.

The identity of the man thought to have killed him was withheld.

The weapon, a piece of flat steel, was found near the scene.

Watkins had been stabbed two weeks ago in an apparently unrelated attack, according to a prison spokesman. He suffered three minor puncture wounds.

Authorities said they did not know who Watkins' assailant had been in the earlier attack. They said they had not ascertained a motive for either stabbing.

It was the second fatal stabbing at San Quentin this year.

Flood, Wreck Cost Five Lives

BIRMINGPORT, Ala. (UPI) — A heavy weekend shower left a railroad track "just hanging in the air" 40 feet above a ravine and stream. Several hours later a five-engine, 65-car freight train plunged through the tracks, killing all five crewmen.

"It's the worst train wreck I've ever seen," said C.R. Blue, secretary-treasurer of the railroad. "The engines were pretty well piled on top of each other."

The wreck occured Saturday on an isolated section of track six miles from the nearest access road.

Family Doctors

Four San Rafael doctors have completed continuing education requirements to retain membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians. Drs. David L. Johnson, Robert A. Pedrin, Gwynn Thompson and Ralph W. Jacobs completed 150 hours of acredited continuing medical study to qualify, the association announced.

French A-Test Soon; Protests Increasing

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — All signs indicated today that France is ready to start its 1973 nuclear test series in the atmosphere over the South Pacific despite growing opposition at home and abroad.

French officials in Tahiti and Paris, however, did not indicate when the first blast might come at the Mururoa atoll test site 720 miles southeast of Papeete.

Australia, New Zealand, Japan and several other countries oppose the tests on grounds radioactive fallout may endanger their populations. Roman Catholic bishops in France also oppose the tests. France has ignored their protests.

French planes and helicopters have stepped up their activities in the Mururoa zone, according to newsmen aboard the New Zealand warship Otago, cruising near the test site in a protest gesture. Observers said the aircraft were practicing for recovery of radioactive waste samples.

At the same time, a KC135 jet, a long-range aircraft normally used to follow the radioactive cloud, arrived at Tahiti airport.

Some reports said the commander of the French testing center, Adm. Christian Claverie, returned to the Mururoa area after attending celebrations Saturday in Papeete marking the French national holiday, Bastille Day.

Over the weekend, the helicopter-carrier Orage, described as indispensable to the tests, docked in Tahiti.

The New Zealand frigate Otago and an American yacht out of Sausalito, Calif., the Fri, crisscrossed the 120- mile danger zone despite France's order last week to shipping to avoid the area. Aircraft also have been banned from the zone.

In Wellington, Prime Minister Norman Kirk of New Zealand said he received a cable from cabinet minister Fraser Coleman, who was chosen by lot to sail with the Otago.

"All well on ship. Morale and expectations high," Coleman said. "There will be general disappointment on board if Otago has to return before the big event takes place."

The bishops' opposition to the tests brought an angry reaction from the chief of staff of the French navy.

"For several months," said Adm. Marc de Joybert, "part of the French clergy has gotten involved in the affairs of the state, deciding what kinds of weapons it must have. Our role is to defend France and if you do not question this mission, give us the responsibility of choosing the best means to do it."

In Paris, Church leaders replied to Joybert's open letter.

Cardinal Jean Danielou, writing in the newspaper Le Figaro, said:

"While it will not intervene in problems of national defense, which are not its concern, the Church must serve the cause of peace and seek to find pacific solutions among nations in conflict.

"To fight against the rush toward armaments is to fight the battle for peace."

Bishop Olivier Marie Riobe of Orleans, whose original protests prompted Joybert's letter, said on television: "The bishops of France have published a document on problems of armaments. I refer Adm. Joybert to these studies."

He said this is "a debate of capital importance."

Hotel Arson Probe Pressed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fire investigators say burglary may have been the motive for the arson fires that drove guests from several floors of the plush old St. Francis Hotel over the weekend.

The hotel management said none of its guests reported anything stolen.

No one was injured by the fires Saturday night, but the hotel sustained an estimated $10,000 damage. Guests who were driven from their rooms were allowed to return after the smoke cleared.

Exact cause of the fires has not yet been determined, but investigator John Hopkins said yesterday the probe will continue.

"The fires were incendiary — someone started them," Hopkins said. "It might have been an attempt to foul up the hotel security" to cover for a burglary, he added.

Marin Firm Sued In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania officials filed suit Friday charging a California-based firm with operating an illegal pyramid distributorship program.

Sta-Power Industries, Inc., a member of the Holiday Magic empire created by the late William Penn Patrick in San Rafael, allegedly operates a pyramid or chain promotion scheme which involves luring persons to make money by either selling Sta-Power products, or inducing others to participate in the program, the state said.

The company manufactures certain engine oils and gasoline additive products.

Named as defendants are Eric Alexander, the president, and Patrick's estate.

Pyramid operations are illegal in Pennsylvaina.

The suit was filed in Montgomery County Common Court jointly by the Bureau of Consumer Protection and the Montgomery County Dist. Atty. Milton Moss.

Kennedy Tops Selection Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts the overwhelming choice of Democrats for their party's 1976 presidential nomination.

Kennedy was the first choice of 40 per cent of Democrats polled. His nearest competitor was Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, with 16 per cent.

The poll also shows Kennedy defeating two possible Republican candidates. The Massachusetts senator was given 51 per cent of the vote to 38 per cent over Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and 50 per cent to 36 per cent over former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Exercise Is Important, But Warm Up Gradually Before

Most of us look forward to summer despite the rainstorms, heat waves, insects, and food poisoning. It may be those lazy, hazy days that attract us most. Or, perhaps, it is bathing, golfing, boating, fishing, traveling, picnicking or vacationing. As a health editor, I should stress the hazards of summer, but these are well-known, and the most common are avoidable. It is far more pleasant to dwell on the various outdoor activities that will improve your appearance, performance, and sense of well-being.

Outdoor exercise is invigorating and helps take off weight and improve physical fitness. Fishing from a boat may sound like poor exercise, but during my annual jaunts — fishing for a week many years ago — I lost my pot belly. Casting a plug or fly hour after hour, rowing a mile or two, chopping wood for the fire, and pitching horseshoes in the evening did the trick. Not only did I lose weight, I returned home looking and feeling fit as a fiddle.

FISHING IS still fun, but nowadays golf and walking are more attractive. Winning is not the aim. Playing golf or walking in the city should be done to improve the condition of your heart and lungs. The heart is a pump made of muscle and becomes softer and less efficient when it does not get enough work to do. So do the biceps and muscles of the back and legs. Get a checkup first, and, if the heart is healthy, use it as nature intended.

Athletes always warm up before they perform. They also spend many hours a week in physical conditioning. Most of us do not have the time. However, if we did, I'm sure we'd do better. Using golf as an example, many of today's leading golfers are extremely powerful, even though they are not all big men. Through exercise, they build muscular strength that improves their game and it could do the same for you.

GOLFERS who play a respectable game need well-developed backs and very strong forearms, wrists, and hands. Leg conditioning also is important. Good exercises include squeezing a small ball, twisting a towel, lifting a weight, and swinging a golf club or broom. And — like the athlete — warm up before teeing off.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to Dr. Van Dellen, c/o the Independent-Journal, P.O. Box 330, San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

PULSATION EATING

T. L. writes: What causes heavy pulsation around the body in a man of 62 after eating a fairly good dinner?

REPLY

Indigestion, if the pulsation is in the lower chest; or pressure on the large vessel (aorta) in the abdomen by a full stomach. An examination is advisable because of the possibility that the aorta is enlarged.

COURSE OF DIABETES

B. E. writes: If a man develops diabetes in his fifties, which is controlled by diet, will the disease worsen as he grows older?

REPLY

I'm no prophet, but the condition usually remains stable unless weight is gained, infection develops, surgery is done, or the diabetic goes off his diet.

ALCOHOL IRRITATES

B. A. writes: Can drinking cause prostate trouble?

REPLY

No, but it may irritate an infected prostate or cause congestion of the prostatic tissue.

PROJECT NO. 259
SLURRY SEAL OF VARIOUS ROADS IN MARIN COUNTY
MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS INVITING SEALED PROPOSALS OR BIDS

Sealed Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Room 315, Marin County Civic Center, San Rafael, California, until 2:00 P.M., July 30, 1973, for:

Sealing of various roads or portions of roads in Bel Marin Keyes, Civic Center, Santa Venetia and Marin City, Marin County, California, with slurry seal and other related items of work.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be inspected at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Room 304, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, and may be purchased for $3.00 per set (non-refundable). Mailed requests shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, P.O. Box 4186, Civic Center, San Rafael, California, 94903. Checks should be made payable to the County of Marin.

Proposals will be opened and read at 2:00 p.m., in Room No. 304-B, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above.

The award of the contract, if it be awarded, will be to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the requirements prescribed. The award, if made, will be made within thirty (30) days after the opening of the proposals.

The Board of Supervisors has made a determination of the prevailing rate of hourly wages applicable to the work to be performed. Copies of this determination are on file in the office of the County Clerk, Civic Center, Room 315, San Rafael, California, and are available to any interested party upon request. Copies may be obtained from the Department of Public works, Room 304, Civic Center.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

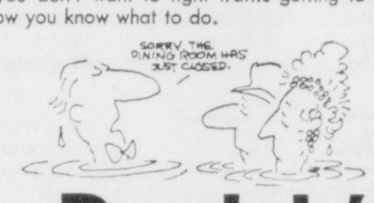
CHANNEL CHUCKLES

"Now, live from Hodgepodge Lodge — er, I mean, live from ..."

Avoid traffic. Swim to Dominic's.

If we're to keep up with the competition in the restaurant business these days, we have to offer an advantage of some kind besides just truly superior food and drink. One day someone noticed that our location on the San Rafael Yacht Harbor meant customers could swim directly to our private docks from almost any point in the Bay Area. We checked to see if any of our competitors were stressing this, and none were. So if you don't want to fight traffic getting to a fine restaurant, now you know what to do.



Dominic's
507 Francisco Blvd., San Rafael. 456-1383.
Only twelve or fifteen hours, by breaststroke, from most Bay Area communities.

CARPET & UPHOLSTERY CLEANERS
STEAMLINER
A REVOLUTIONARY NEW AGITATING STEAM CLEANING PROCESS
DIAGRAMED BELOW IS THE PATENTED POWER BRUSH HEAD INSTEAD OF JUST INJECTING STEAM AND EXTRACTING IT, STEAMLINER USES A REVOLVING NYLON BRUSH TO GENTLY MASSAGE THE SOIL, OIL-GRIT TO THE SURFACE OF THE CARPET FOR IMMEDIATE EXTRACTION.
WITH THIS ADDED AGITATION MORE SOIL CAN BE EXTRACTED THAN EVER BEFORE, YOU HAVE TO SEE IT TO BELIEVE IT.
1. THERMATICALLY HEATED WET STEAM INJECTED DEEP INTO CARPET
2 ADJUSTABLE BRUSH MASSAGES ALL SOIL TO THE SURFACE OF CARPET.
3. IMMEDIATE EXTRACTION OF SOIL.
